Administrative Office of the Illinois Courts

ROY O.GULLEY DIRECTOR SUPREME COURT BUILDING SPRINGFIELD 62706 217/782-7770

30 North Michigan Avenue Chicago 60602 312/793-3250

To the Honorable Chief Justice and Justices of the Supreme Court:

I tender herewith the Annual Report of the Administrative Office for calendar year 1981.

1981 represented a year of continued growth for the Illinois Judicial System. Some of the more important developments of 1981 that have contributed to a more efficient and orderly administration of justice in the Illinois courts include:

1). Adoption of Supreme Court Rule 10 which provides that all papers filed in the Illinois courts shall be $8\frac{1}{2}$ by 11 inches;

2). Amendments to Supreme Court Rules 501-556 governing trial court proceedings and bail schedules in traffic and conservation offenses, ordinance offenses, petty offenses and certain misdemeanors;

3). Amendment of Supreme Court Rule 281 which increases the small claims limit from $1,000 to $2,500;

4). Enactment of P.A. 82-662 providing for an increased number of "population formula" associate judgeships and expressly adding six more associate judgeships in Cook County.

1981 was also a year of growth for the Administrative Office. In 1981, the Supreme Court approved the addition of a Judicial Management Information Systems staff to the Administrative Office. Winifred M. Lyday, Ph.D., who served as project director for automated case processing while a staff member of the Supreme Court's Committee on Criminal Justice Programs, was named Assistant Director of the Administrative Office. The Judicial Management Information Systems staff is responsible for planning and coordinating the installation of an automated recordkeeping system in the reviewing courts and assisting the tiral courts in planning and installing automated recordkeeping systems in accordance with the Supreme Court's published Standards and Guidelines.

During 1981, Lester Bonaguro, Assistant Director, left the Administrative Office to become an Associate Judge of the Circuit Court of Cook County. J. Ellen Hicks, Esq. was hired to replace Judge Bonaguro. Both Mrs. Lyday and Miss Hicks are welcome additions to the staff of the Administrative Office.

Statistically 1981 witnessed some significant developments:

Supreme Court

In 1981, the number of cases disposed of was 1,777, compared with 1,423 in 1980, an increase of 25%.

Appellate Court

In 1981, the number of cases disposed of with full opinions was 2,116, compared with 2,523 in 1980, a decrease of 16%. The number of cases disposed of by Rule 23 orders was 2,523 in 1981, as compared with 1,810 in 1980, an increase of over 39%.

Circuit Court

There were 803,604 cases pending at the end of 1981, compared with 761,513 in 1980, a slight increase of 6%.

Detailed analyses of the statistics gathered by the Administrative Office are set forth within this report.

ACTIVITIES OF THE JUDICIARY

The Supreme Court

Jurisdiction

The Illinois Supreme Court is the highest court in the Illinois judicial system. It has original and exclusive jurisdiction in cases involving the redistricting of the General Assembly and in cases relating to the ability of the Governor to serve or resume office. It may exercise original jurisdiction in cases relating to revenue, mandamus, prohibition or habeas corpus and as may be necessary to the complete determination of any case on review. It has direct appellate jurisdiction in appeals from judgments of Circuit Courts imposing a sentence of death and as the Court may provide by rule in other cases. Appeals from the Appellate Court to the Supreme Court are a matter of right if a question under the Constitution of the United States or of this State arises for the first time in and as a result of the action of the Appellate Court, or if a division of the Appellate Court certifies that a case decided by it involves a question of such importance that the case should be decided by the Supreme Court. The Supreme Court may also provide by rule for appeals from the Appellate Court in other cases. (III. Const., Art. VI, Secs. 4 and 9).

Organization

The Supreme Court consists of seven Justices. Three are elected from the First Judicial District (Cook County) and one from each of the other four judicial districts. Four Justices constitute a quorum and the concurrence of four is necessary for a decision. One of the Justices is selected as Chief Justice for a term of three years. Pursuant to Supreme Court Rule 31, seniority among the Justices is determined by length of continuous service. Supreme Court Justices are elected for terms of 10 years. (Art. VI, Secs. 2, 3, 4 and 10).

The Court holds five terms each year during the months of January, March, May, September and November. At each term, the Court issues opinions, holds conferences, hears oral arguments, rules on motions, considers modifications to Supreme Court rules and meets with the Administrative Director to consider administrative and budgetary matters.

When in session, the Justices reside in the Supreme Court Building in Springfield. In addition, the Court meets regularly in its Chicago quarters in the Richard J. Daley Center.

Administrative and Supervisory Authority

General administrative and supervisory authority over the entire, unified Illinois judicial system is vested in the Supreme Court. This authority is exercised by the Chief Justice in accordance with the Court's rules. An Administrative Director and staff, appointed by the Supreme Court, are provided to assist the Chief Justice in his duties (Art. VI, Sec. 16). This unique, constitutional grant of administrative authority has served as the basis for transforming the Illinois judicial system from an unstructured and undisciplined system into an efficient mechanism for the administration of justice.

The administrative authority of the Supreme Court over the Illinois judicial system is unrestricted. However, in addition to conferring general administrative authority upon the Court, the Constitution identifies specific areas of judicial administration the Court shall or may act upon. These areas include:

- Prescribing the number of Appellate Divisions in each Judicial District;
- (2) Assignment of judges to Appellate Divisions;
- (3) Prescribing the time and place for Appellate Divisions to sit;
- (4) Providing for the manner of appointing Associate Judges;
- (5) Providing for matters assignable to Associate Judges;
- (6) In the absence of a law, filling judicial vancancies by appointment;
- (7) Prescribing rules of conduct for judges;
- (8) Assignment of retired judges to judicial service;
- (9) Appointment of an Administrative Director and staff;
- (10) Temporary assignment of judges;
- (11) Providing for an annual Judicial Conference and reporting thereon annually in writing to the General Assembly;
- (12) Appointment of the Supreme Court Clerk and other non-judicial officers of the Court.

In addition, the Court has a number of other administative functions pursuant to statute or which are inherent in the operation of the Court.

The Court approves, after preparation by the Administrative Director, the annual judicial budget; employs two law clerks for each Justice to assist in researching the law and preparing memoranda; selects a Marshal who attends each term of the Court and performs such other duties, at the direction of the Court, which are usually performed by the sheriff in trial courts; and it appoints the Supreme Court Librarian who is in charge of keeping the library up-to-date and preserving all books and documents in the library. Also, the Court appoints the State Appellate Defender and two persons to the Appellate Defender Commission; a member of the Board of Commissioners of the Illinois Defender Project (the Court has designated William M. Madden, Deputy Director of the Administrative Office as its appointee); and judicial members of the Board of Trustees of the Judges' Retirement System. Also, from time to time, the Court appoints committees, as the need arises, to study and suggest amendments in substantive and procedural law, Supreme Court rules, and other matters affecting the administration of justice.

1981 Supreme Court Caseload Summary

During the 1981 terms, the Supreme Court sat for a total of 72 days. The seven Justices handed down 208 full opinions and 17 supervisory orders; ruled on 66 petitions for rehearing; and ruled on 1,380 petitions for leave to appeal. Of the 1,380 petitions for leave of appeal, 143 or 10%, were allowed.

The Court received 1,644 new filings in 1981, compared to 1,461 in 1980, an increase of 13%.

In addition, the court admitted 2,481 new lawyers to the practice of law in Illinois.

Justice Howard C. Ryan Selected as Chief Justice

During the November 1981 Term, the Justices of the Illinois Supreme Court selected Justice Howard C. Ryan as Chief Justice for a three year term, commencing January 1, 1982. Justice Ryan succeeds Justice Joseph H. Goldenhersh who served as Chief Justice since January 1978.

Born in Tonica, Illinois, Chief Justice Ryan graduated from the University of Illinois and its College of Law and was admitted to the Illinois Bar in 1942. He practiced law for many years in LaSalle County and was active in many charitable organizations. He serves on many legal, fraternal and civic associations.

Immediately before his election to the Supreme Court in 1970, Chief Justice Ryan was a member of the 3rd District Illinois Appellate Court (1968–1970). He began his judicial career in 1954 when he was elected county judge of LaSalle County where he served until 1957. He was then elected a circuit judge of the 13th Judicial Circuit and served there as chief judge from 1964 to 1968. He also had served as a LaSalle County Assistant State's Attorney from 1952–1954.

During 1981, Chief Justice Ryan chaired the Illinois

Courts Commission and was the Court's liaison to the Conference of Chief Judges.

Clerk of the Supreme Court

Art. VI, Sec. 18(a) of the Illinois Constitution of 1970 provides:

"The Supreme Court and the Appellate Court Judges of each Judicial District, respectively, shall appoint a clerk and other non-judicial officers for their Court or District."

Pursuant to this provision, the Supreme Court, on November 26, 1974, appointed Mr. Clell L. Woods as Clerk of the Supreme Court effective January 13, 1975.

The duties of the Clerk, in general, include the receipt of filings and the maintenance of dockets, records, files and statistics on the activities of the Supreme Court. The offices of the Clerk are located in the Supreme Court Building in Springfield. During 1981, the staff of the Clerk's office consisted of 12 employees.

(Death of Clell L. Woods)

Clell L. Woods, Clerk of the Illinois Supreme Court, died December 19, 1981. Mr. Woods was named clerk of the state's high court in 1975. He had worked in the Clerk's office as a deputy from 1946 to 1960. In 1961, he was elected justice of the peace in Sangamon County and in 1965, appointed magistrate for the 7th Judicial Circuit. He resigned the post the following July to take the chief deputy clerk's post with the Supreme Court.

Shortly after the death of Clell Woods, the Supreme Court appointed Robert Gillespy to serve as interim clerk.

Supreme Court Marshal

Since February 8, 1976, the Supreme Court's Marshal has been Mr. Louie F. Dean. Mr. Dean is a former special agent for the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

The Marshal attends each term of the Court and performs such other duties, at the direction of the Court, which are usually performed by the county sheriff for the Circuit Courts.

Reporter of Decisions

Since January 1, 1976, the Reporter of Decisions of the Supreme and Appellate Courts has been Stephen D. Porter, Esq. Located in Bloomington, the Reporter of Decisions is responsible for publication of the official reports of Supreme and Appellate Court opinions.

During 1981, the Reporter of Decisions began to make significant changes in the method of preparing opinions for printing. With the acquisition of word processing and computer photo-composition equipment, the Reporter expects to realize a savings in time and costs incurred in the preparation of opinions. Photo-composition of Appellate Court opinions, as well as Supreme Court opinions, is gradually being undertaken by the Reporter's Office and is expected to be fully completed by 1983.

Significant 1981 Illinois Supreme Court Opinions

By the very nature of the type of litigation which the Supreme Court hears, many of its opinions deal with issues which are particularly germane to Illinois; however, since Illinois is one of the major and leading jurisdictions in the United States, it is not uncommon that sister states and the federal courts cite the Illinois Supreme Court opinions as authority in their jurisdictions. Some of the Court's most significant opinions in 1981 follow.

- In re Marriage of Komnick, 84 III. 2d 89, holding appreciation, caused solely by inflation, in the value of nonmarital property is also nonmarital property.
- Wilson v. Clark, 84 III. 2d 186, adopting Fed. Rules of Evid. 703 and 705 dealing with expert opinion testimony.
- Nolan v. Johns-Manville Asbestos, 85 Ill. 2d 161, concerning the statute of limitations in products liability actions.
- People v. Housby, 84 Ill. 2d 415, clarifying the use of the permissive inference of exclusive possession of stolen property to infer possession by burglary.
- Alvis v. Ribar, 85 Ill. 2d 1, the most significant decision during 1981, adopting the doctrine of comparative negligence in its pure form and thereby discarding the doctrine of contributory negligence.
- Palmateer v. International Harvester Co., 85 III. 2d 124, creating a cause of action for the tort of retaliatory discharge.
- In re Marriage of Rogers, 85 Ill. 2d 217, deciding that a jointly held marital home, consideration for which was supplied out of nonmarital funds, is presumed to be marital property.
- People v. McCarty, 86 III. 2d 247, affirming the classification of cocaine as a narcotic for penalty purposes.

- In re Marriage of Smith, 86 III. 2d 518, holding commingling of nonmarital property with marital property creates a rebuttable presumption that the commingled property is marital property.
- Miner v. Gillette Co., 87 III. 2d 7, allowing an Illinois plaintiff representing other Illinois plaintiffs and plaintiffs in other States to maintain a class action in Illinois.
- People v. Baynes, 88 Ill. 2d 225, reaffirming the prohibition against admissibility of polygraph examination results in criminal trials.
- -- In re G.B., 88 III. 2d 36, upholding the use of the contempt power in juvenile matters.

Supreme Court Rules Committee

The Supreme Court has a standing committee on rules of the Supreme Court. This committee was first organized in 1963 in anticipation of the increased responsibility of the Supreme Court in the area of rulemaking. During 1981 the committee consisted of:

Prof. Jo Desha Lucas, University of Chicago School of Law, Chairman Murray R. Conzelman, Esq., Waukegan Richard T. Franch, Esq., Chicago Lawrence Gunnels, Esq., Chicago Hon. Allen Hartman, Judge of the Appellate Court, 1st District, Chicago Hon. Harold L. Jensen, Judge of the Circuit Court, 6th Circuit, Urbana Watts C. Johnson, Esq., Princeton Sidney Z. Karasik, Esq., Chicago Fred Lambrushi, Esq., Chicago Carl W. Lee, Esq., Belleville Hon. Richard Mills, Judge of the Appellate Court, 4th District, Virginia Hon. Dom Rizzi, Judge of the Appellate Court, 1st District, Chicago Peter M. Sfikas, Esq., Chicago Robert L. Stern, Esg., Chicago Hon. John E. Sype, Judge of the Circuit Court, 17th Circuit, Rockford Justice Thomas J. Moran of the Supreme Court acted as liaison to the Committee and William M. Madden, Esq., Administrative Office of the Illinois Courts, acted as secretary to the Committee. Except when extraordinary matters must be considered, the Supreme Court Rules Committee meets in Chicago on the last Friday of February, April, June, October and December. These staggered meeting dates are intended to facilitate attendance by the Supreme Court liaison justice. During 1981, the Supreme Court Rules Committee considered and forwarded recommendations concerning many proposed rule changes to the Supreme Court. The rule changes adopted by the Supreme Court are dealt with in the next section of this report.

New or Amended Rules Adopted by the Supreme Court

In the exercise of its inherent power to adopt rules governing practice and procedure, supplemented by constitutional directives to exercise that authority in specific areas (Art. VI, Secs. 5, 6, 8, 13, 16, and 17), the Supreme Court, during 1981, added or amended the following rules:

Effective January 1, 1982, Rule 10 (Size of Papers Filed in the Illinois Courts) was added.

Effective February 1, 1981, Rule 201 (General Discovery Provisions), Rule 206 (Method of Taking Depositions on Oral Examination), Rule 207 (Signing and Filing Depositions), Rule 281 (Definition of a Small Claim in a Civil Action), Rule 305 (Stay of Judgments Pending Appeal), Rule 309 (Dismissal Of Appeals by the Trial Court), Rule 323 (Report of Proceedings), Rule 341 (Briefs), Rule 344 (Number of Copies, Service, and Form and Method of Reproduction of Briefs and Abstracts), Rule 361 (Motions in Reviewing Court), Rule 372 (Removing Records from Reviewing Court), Rule 373 (Constructive Date of Filing Papers in Reviewing Court, Certificate or Affidavit of Mailing), Rule 381 (Original Actions in the Supreme Court Pursuant to Article VI, Section 4(a) of the Constitution), and Rule 402 (Pleas of Guilty) were amended.

Effective February 1, 1981, Rule 289 (Service of Process in Proceedings to Confirm a Judgment by Confession or to Collect a Judgment for $2,500 or less) was added.

Effective January 15, 1982, Article V, Rules on Trial Court Proceedings in Traffic and Ordinance Offenses, Municipal Ordinance Offenses and Certain Misdemeanors — Bail Schedules, were amended.

The amendment or addition of Rules 10 (Size of Papers Filed in the Illinois Courts), 281 (Definition of a Small Claim in a Civil Action), 289 (Service of Process), and 402 (Pleas of Guilty) are of particular significance and are summarized below:

Rule 10. Size of Papers Filed in The Illinois Courts (Effective January 1, 1982). Pursuant to this rule, all papers filed in all courts of this State shall be $8\frac{1}{2}$ inches by 11 inches.

Rule 281. Definition of a Small Claim in a Civil Action (Effective February 1, 1981). This rule is amended by raising the small claim limit from $1,000 to $2,500.

Rule 289. Service of Process in Proceedings to Confirm a Judgment by Confession or to Collect a Judgment for $2,500 or less (Effective February 1, 1981). This new rule provides that service of process shall be provided as in Rule 284 in proceedings to confirm judgment by confession or to collect a money judgment where the judgment is $2,500 or less.

Rule 402. Pleas of Guilty (Effective February 1, 1981). This rule is amended by deleting the requirement that proceedings in guilty pleas in felony cases be transcribed and instead provides for transcription "upon order of the trial court."

JUDICIAL APPOINTMENTS BY THE SUPREME COURT

The Illinois Constitution, Art. VI, Sec. 12, provides that, in the absence of a law providing for the filling of vacancies in the office of the Supreme, Appellate or Circuit Judge, such vacancies may be filled by appointment by the Supreme Court. Exercising this authority, the Supreme Court, during 1981, made the following appointments of attorneys and sitting judges (an asterik (*) after a judge's name indicates that he was a sitting judge who was elevated to higher judicial office):

> John T. Beynon*, 17th Circuit Effective March 19, 1981

William H. Ellsworth*, 16th Circuit Effective February 20, 1981

James T. Londrigan*, (App. Ct., 4th Dist.) Effective June 1,1981 - December 6, 1982

SUPREME COURT ASSIGNMENT OF RETIRED JUDGES TO ACTIVE JUDICIAL SERVICE

The Illinois Constitution, Art. VI, Sec. 15(a) provides in pertinent part: ". . . Any retired judge or Associate Judge, with his consent, may be assigned by the Supreme Court to judicial service for which he shall receive the applicable compensation in lieu of retirement benefits. A retired Associate Judge may be assigned only as an Associate Judge."

During 1981, the following retired judges were assigned to judicial service:

1981 ANNUAL REPORT OF THE SUPREME COURT TO THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY

The Illinois Constitution, Art. VI, Sec. 17, provides:

"The Supreme Court shall provide by rule for an annual judicial conference to consider the work of the courts and to suggest improvements in the administration of justice and shall report thereon annually in writing to the General Assembly not later than January 31."

THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY SHOULD IMPLEMENT THE CONSTITUTIONAL GUARANTEE TO A PROMPT PRELIMINARY HEARING IN CRIMINAL CASES

"No person shall be held to answer for a crime punishable by death or by imprisonment in the penitentiary unless either the initial charge has been brought by an indictment of a grand jury or the person has been given a prompt preliminary hearing to establish probable cause." III. Const. art. 1, sec. 7.

Under this constitutional provision an accused held on a criminal charge punishable by imprisonment in the penitentiary must be afforded a prompt hearing to determine the existence of probable cause. Violations of the right to a prompt preliminary hearing has been complained of in several cases presented to this Court since the effective date of our new Constitution. See People v. Howell (1975), 60 Ill. 2d 117. Similarly, cases alleging violation of this right have been presented to the Appellate Court. See, e.g., People v. Torres (1981), 93 Ill. App. 3d 718; People v. Anderson (1981), 92 Ill. App. 3d 849; People v. Rush (1980), 91 III. App. 3d 366; People v. Farrell (1980), 89 III. App. 3d 262; People v. Meredith (1980), 86 III. App. 3d 1136; People v. Eisele (1979), 77 III. App. 3d 766, and cases collected there; and People v. Grant (1979), 66 Ill. App. 3d 940.

In 1978 our Appellate Court was confronted with a serious violation of the constitutional right to a prompt preliminary hearing - a 176 day delay after date of arrest. In People v. Kirkley (1978), 60 Ill. App. 3d 746, the Appellate Court reversed defendants' convictions. In the principal opinion, Justice Scott observed that courts are always reluctant to usurp a legislative prerogative by judicial determination; however, in the absence of legislative guidelines or sanctions for violations of this basic constitutional right, the courts must provide a remedy and in this case the only sanction or remedy was reversal of defendants' convictions. He further stated: "We are hopeful that our General Assembly will soon implement the constitutional provision ." 60 Ill. App. 3d 746, 750. In a specially concurring opinion, Presiding Justice Stengel noted that our Court has called upon the General Assembly to provide sanctions and that "the delay in giving an accused a prompt preliminary hearing is a serious depreivation of his constitutional right." Kirkley at 751-52. Justice Barry in his specially concurring opinion observed that our Court urged a legislative response to the problem not only in Howell, infra, "but very explicitly in the 1975, 1976 and 1977 Annual Reports of the Supreme Court to the General Assembly ." Kirkley at 753.

In Rush, supra, the defendant did not receive a probable cause hearing during the seven weeks following his arrest, though part of the delay was attributable to defendant. Ultimately, defendant was indicted by the grand jury, and the Appellate Court found "no constitutional error in failing to give the defendant a prompt preliminary hearing where he was indicted by the grand jury prior to the time for that hearing." 91 Ill. App. 3d 366, 370. In his specially concurring opinion, Justice Stouder commented that even "where the prosecution is not initiated by grand jury indictment and a preliminary hearing is required, where there are deliberate efforts by the prosecution to postpone and delay such preliminary hearing in order that a grand jury proceeding may be initiated to determine probable cause, there seems to be no appropriate way under present procedures of fully implementing the constitutional right which is disregarded by such procedure." Rush at 371. Justice Barry's specially concurring opinion recommended that "legislative action is necessary to eliminate the advantage that exists to the State in circumventing a constitutional mandate through manipulation of the grand jury process." Rush at 372-73.

In Eisele, supra, the Appellate Court was faced with a 86 day delay after defendant's arrest during which a preliminary hearing was not held. Under the circumstances presented in the case, the court ruled defendant waived the issue that his right to a prompt preliminary hearing was violated; however, the court observed that the delay in affording defendant a preliminary hearing "may well have presented a section 7 [of article I of the Illinois Constitution] violation ." 77 III. App. 3d 766, 770. In Grant, supra, the Appellate Court pointed out that while some measures have been taken by the circuit court of Cook County to promote the prompt commencement of preliminary hearings, recourse is still lacking for violations of the constitutional right. The court noted: "The supreme court again brought the need for implementing legislation to the attention of the General Assembly in their 1977 annual report. [Citation.] However, such legislation has yet to be enacted into law." 69 III. App. 3d 940, 944. To the same effect are the recent decisions in People v. Farrell (1980), 89 Ill. App. 3d 262, where the court stated at page 264 that "it is the legislature's objection to fashion a remedy for the abridgement of the constitutional right [to a prompt preliminary hearing]," and in People v. Meredith (1980), 86 Ill. App. 3d 1136, 1137, where the court, while holding the defendant had waived the issue that a 204 day delay violated his right to a prompt preliminary hearing, observed that in Howell, infra, our Court expressed deep concern with violation of a defendant's right to such a hearing and had "requested the General Assembly to take appropriate legislative action to implement the constitutional provision." See also People v. Anderson (1981), 92 Ill. App. 3d 849, where the court specifically referred to this Court's report to the legislature dated January 31, 1980 in which it was again urged that the General Assembly act to implement section 7 of article I.

Considering the frequency of the violations and the possibility of future abuse, the time has arrived, if not passed, to fashion sanctions to assure and protect the right to a prompt preliminary hearing guaranteed by section 7 of article I.

In People v. Howell (1975), 60 Ill. 2d 117, 123, this Court concluded:

"We consider the delays in giving an accused a prompt preliminary hearing to be a serious deprivation of his constitutional rights and we are deeply concerned about the number of cases in which an accused has not had a prompt probable-cause determination. We consider this a subject for appropriate legislative action and we strongly urge the General Assembly to consider the prompt implementation of this constitutional provision."

Each year, commencing with our Annual Report to the General Assembly, dated January 31, 1976, this Court has recommended in its annual Reports that the General Assembly implement the constitutional provision. We are aware that the General Assembly in the past has considered measures to implement the constitutional provision, e.g., H.B. 3420, 79th G.A., vetoed by the Governor; H.B. 1686, 80th G.A., failed in committee; H.B. 946, 81st G.A., died in Senate committee; and most recently H.B. 996 (82nd G.A.) which was vetoed by the Governor and failed in the override vote in the House of Representatives. But the importance of this matter once again causes this Court to recommend appropriate legislative action to implement the constitutional guarantee of a prompt preliminary hearing to establish probable cause in every case in which a person is charged with an offense punishable by death or imprisonment in the penitentiary.

MANDATORY CONDITIONS OF PROBATION AND CONDITIONAL DISCHARGE SHOULD BE EXPANDED

The General Assembly took a major step towards the improvement of probation services when it enacted "An Act in relation to subsidy for probation officers" (III. Rev. Stat. 1979, ch. 37, par. 706-7 and ch. 38, pars. 204-6, 204-7). Pursuant to the Act, the Administrative Office of the Illinois Courts has established: (1) a means for verifying compliance with the conditions for probation officer salary reimbursement; (2) a system for collecting uniform statistical information on probation services; and (3) a system for training to improve the quality of probation services throughout the State. Pursuant to its mandate to seek the cooperation of local and State government and private agencies to improve the quality of probation services, the staff of the Administrative Office has conducted various studies of county and circuitwide probation departments, developed close communication with circuit court judges and actively participated in efforts at the State and local level to improve probation services. In this capacity, the Administrative Office has identified some apparent deficiencies in some probation procedures and statutes affecting probation services. Among these deficiencies is the absence of mandatory conditions prohibiting a person on probation or conditional discharge from leaving the State without the consent of the court, and not requiring such person to be visited by the probation officer at the person's home or elsewhere to the extent necessary for the officer to discharge his duties.

Regarding the former, prior law (III. Rev. Stat. 1971, ch. 38, par. 117-2) did require the consent of the court for a probationer who wished to leave the State. This provision was not carried over into section 5-6-3 of the Unified Code of Corrections (Code). (III. Rev. State. 1979, ch. 38, par. 1005-6-3.) The comments of the Council on the Diagnosis and Evaluation of Criminal Defendants (S.H.A. ch. 38, par. 1005-6-3), which drafted the section in question, suggest no reason for the deletion of the court-consent requirement. The practical problems which arise when persons on probation or conditional discharge may leave the State without court approval are apparent. Regular supervision, enforcement of conditions and difficulty in locating the person are examples.

In reference to the probation officer visiting the probationer at his home or elsewhere as a condition of probation and conditional discharge, section 5-6-3(b)(7) of the Code does provide that the sentencing court in its discretion may require the probationer to "permit the probation officer to visit him at his home or elsewhere to the extent necessary to discharge his duties." (III. Rev. Stat. 1979, ch. 38, par. 1005-6-3(b)(7).) However, observations of probation practices lead to the conclusion that probationers and the public would be more effectively served by making that discretionary condition a mandatory one.

The Court recommends that the General Assembly consider reinstating the court-consent requirement as a mandatory condition of probation and conditional discharge, and making subparagraph (7) of section 5-6-3(b) a mandatory rather than a discretionary condition of probation and conditional discharge.

CHIEF PROBATION OFFICERS SHOULD BE APPOINTED BY THE CHIEF CIRCUIT JUDGE

The appointment of probation and chief probation officers is provided for in section 9 of "An Act providing for a system of probation " (III. Rev. Stat. 1979, ch. 38, par. 204-1). This section was originally enacted in 1911 and its essential provisions have remained largely unchanged since that time. In pertinent part, section 9 provides that the "circuit court" may appoint probation and chief probation officers. The provisions became outmoded with the creation of the Illinois unified court system by the Judicial Article of 1962 and the Constitution of 1970 which vests general administrative authority over a circuit in the chief judge of the circuit. The Constitution in article VI, section 7(c) provides: " Subject to the authority of the Supreme Court, the Chief Judge shall have general administrative authority over his court, including authority to provide for divisions, general or specialized, and for appropriate times and places of holding court."

The provision that probation personnel be appointed by the "circuit court" is ambiguous and is inconsistent with the constitutional grant of administrative authority to the chief judge and with other statutes which give appointing power to the chief circuit judge. See, e.g., County Shelter Care and Detention Home Act (III. Rev. Stat. 1979, ch. 23, par. 2683) and Juvenile Court Act (III. Rev. Stat. 1979, ch. 37, pars. 706-4(2), 706-5(1)).

The Court recommends that the General Assembly consider amending section 9 to provide that the chief judge of the circuit, or judge designated by him, shall appoint the chief probation officer who may be authorized to appoint other probation personnel.

THE RELATIONSHIP BETWEEN THE WORKERS' COMPENSATION ACT'S LIEN PROVISION AND THE WRONGFUL DEATH ACT SHOULD BE EXAMINED

Recently our Appellate Court decided whether the legislature intended under section 5(b) of the Workers' Compensation Act that an employer's subrogated workers' compensation insurer should have a lien on proceeds paid to the surviving spouse and next of kin in settlement of a wrongful death action against a third-party wrongdoer. Esin v. Liberty Mutual Insurance Co. (1981), 99 Ill. App. 3d 75. Section 5(b) of the Workers' Compensation Act provides in pertinent part that legal proceedings may be brought by an injured employee or his personal representative against a person, not the employer, who is liable for damages caused to the employee, notwithstanding the employer's liability to pay workers' compensation benefits, and then section 5(b) states: "In such a case, however, if the action against such other person is brought by the injured employee or his personal representative and judgment is obtained and paid, or settlement is made , then from the amount received by such employee or personal representative there shall be paid to the employer the amount of compensation paid or to be paid by him to such employee or personal representative ." (III. Rev. Stat. 1979, ch. 48, par. 138.5(b).) Section 2 of the Wrongful Death Act provides in relevant part the amounts recovered in actions under the act "shall be for the exclusive benefit of the surviving spouse and next of kin" of the decedent. (Ill. Rev. Stat. 1979, ch. 70, par. 2.)

The Appellate Court in Esin, supra, determined that because the original enactment of the Workers' Compensation Act in 1911 (section 5(b) having been passed in 1913) was subsequent to the enactment of the original Wrongful Death Act in 1853, the legislature must have been cognizant of the provisions, particularly the "exclusive benefit" language, of section 2 of the Wrongful Death Act at the time section 5(b) of the Workers' Compensation Act was enacted. Given the chronology of the two acts and considering the broad language of section 5(b) - "the amount received by such employee or personal representative" — the Esin court believed there was "some indication that the legislature may have intended" to permit a section 5(b) lien to be placed upon proceeds "of all third-party actions, including a wrongful death suit" (Esin at 79). Accordingly, the court ruled the section 5(b) lien took precedence. However, the court stated also its concern that the public policy considerations behind section 5(b) of the Workers' Compensation Act and section 2 of the Wrongful Death Act were closely balanced. (Esin at 78-80.)

The Supreme Court suggests to the General Assembly for whatever action it deems necessary the relationship between section 5(b) of the Workers' Compensation Act (III. Rev. Stat. 1979, ch. 48, par. 138.5(b)) and section 2 of the Wrongful Death Act(III. Rev. Stat. 1979, ch. 70, par. 2), in light of the Esin decision.

LACK OF GUIDELINES FOR COURT TRANSFER HEARINGS FOR JUVENILES COMMITTED TO THE DEPARTMENT OF CORRECTIONS

The Unified Code of Corrections (Code) provides that a juvenile offender sentenced to a term of imprisonment shall be committed to the Department of Corrections, Juvenile Division, but, upon reaching his 17th birthday, he could be transferred to the Department's Adult Division. The statutory transfer procedure, however, is deficient in its mechanism because of inconsistency and lack of guidelines.

Two sections of the Code are involved. Section 3-10-7(a) states in relevant part that the Department of Corrections "shall," within 30 days of the 17th birthday of a juvenile, who is committed to the Juvenile Division under section 5-8-6 of the Code, notify the sentencing court of the juvenile's 17th birthday, and within 90 days the court "shall conduct a hearing to determine whether or not the juvenile" should be transferred to the Department's Adult Division. (III. Rev. Stat. 1979, ch. 38, par. 1003-10-7(a).) Section 5-8-6(c), on the other hand, provides in part that the court, "upon request" of the Juvenile Division and after the juvenile in that division's custody reaches the age of 17 years, "may conduct a hearing  and order" the juvenile transferred to the Adult Division. (III. Rev. Stat. 1979, ch. 38, pař. 1005-8-6(c).)

The Appellate Court was recently confronted with a case involving these two sections, and aptly stated the issue: "Sections 3-10-7(a) and 5-8-6(c) are conflicting principally in that the former directs the Department of Corrections to send the notice of the inmate's pending 17th birthday to the circuit court and indicates that courts must hold a hearing, while the latter indicates that the procedure is initiated by a 'request' of the juvenile division and states that the court 'may' hold a hearing." (People v. Lewis (1981), 97 III. App. 3d 880, 883.) The court concluded that section 3-10-7(a) controlled, and, therefore, a hearing was required. However, the court went on that "[n]either section sets forth guidelines for determining whether the transfer should be ordered" (Lewis at 883; see also People v. Murphy (1981), 102 III. App. 3d 448, 452, where it was held that the lack of guidelines did not render either section unconstitutionally vague), and then concluded that retention of a juvenile over 17 years of age in the Juvenile Division should be the exception, in order to protect other juveniles in the Juvenile Division from "being preyed on" by older inmates. See People v. Taylor (1979), 76 III. 2d 289, 310.

The Supreme Court recommends that the General Assembly consider corrective legislation to bring into harmony sections 3-10-7(a) and 5-8-6(c) of the Unified Code of Corrections (III. Rev. Stat. 1979, ch. 38, pars. 1003-10-7(a), 1005-8-6(c)) and to establish standards to guide trial judges in their determination of whether or not the juvenile offender should be transferred from the Juvenile Division to the Adult Division of the Department of Corrections.

A VOLUNTARY, UNINCORPORATED ASSOCIATION SHOULD BE ABLE TO SUE AND TO BE SUED IN ITS OWN NAME

"Thus, the common law rule was that a voluntary unincorporated association could not sue or be sued in its own name. If an action was to be brought by or against the association it was necessary that all members be joined as parties. [Citations.] This has been the generally accepted rule in Illinois. [Citations.]" American Fed. of Tech. Eng., Local 144 v. La Jeunesse (1976), 63 Ill. 2d 263, 266.

By a divided vote our Court in La Jeunesse upheld the long-standing Illinois rule that a voluntary unincorporated association generally cannot sue or be sued in its own name, and we noted only two exceptions to the rule: By court decision a representative suit "in equity" may be brought in the names of a portion of the association members suing for themselves and in behalf of all other association members, and by statute certain unincorporated associations may sue and by sued in their own name in actions concerning their real estate (III. Rev. Stat. 1973, ch. 30, par. 185). This Court then observed that changes in the rule in other jurisdictions have usually been through legislation, and the Court concluded: "If there are to be  changes in the rule it should come through legislative action." 63 Ill. 2d 263, 266. (See, Fields Cadillac, Inc. v. New Car Dealers Committee (1980), 88 Ill. App. 3d 682, 689, where the court said if "a change is to be adopted in Illinois , it must be done by the legislature.")

Our Court believes the demise of the archaic legal fiction that an unincorporated association has no separate legal existence independent of the members who compose it and therefore cannot sue or be sued in its own name is long overdue. The rule unfairly and effectively deprives aggrieved persons and voluntary unincorporated associations of a legal remedy in the courts of Illinois. See dissenting opinion in La Jueunesse, supra, and specially concurring opinion in Mulligan v. Teamsters Union, Local No. 971 (1978), 59 III. App. 3d 587, 589.

The Supreme Court recommends, as we did in our Annual Report to the General Assembly, dated January 31, 1981, that the General Assembly modify the common law rule in Illinois that a voluntary unincorporated association cannot sue or be sued in its own name.

STATUTORY GUIDANCE TO COURTS IS NEEDED IN ADJUDICATING PUBLIC AID LIENS

The Illinois Public Aid Code (Ill. Rev. Stat. 1979, ch. 23, par. 11-22)(Code) provides in relevant part that the Illinois Department of Public Aid (Department) "shall have a charge [lien] upon all claims, demands and causes of action for injuries to an applicant for or recipient of financial aid under Articles III, IV, V and VII [III. Rev. Stat. 1979, ch. 23, pars. 3-1 et seq., 4-1 et seq., 5-1 et seq. and 7-1 et seq.] for the total amount of medical assistance ." Section 11-22 of the Code also allows a lien in the Department's favor where aid is provided to the injured applicant or recipient who "was employable." The Code further provides that on petition filed by the Department, the court may adjudicate the rights of the parties and enforce the lien, and the court may approve "the settlement of any claim, demand or cause of action ." (III. Rev. Stat. 1979, ch. 23, par. 11-22.) Section 11-22 of the Code then states: "The court may determine what portion of the recovery shall be paid to the injured person and what portion shall be paid to the Illinois Department  having a charge [lien] against the recovery." In determining the apportionment of the lien where the Department contests a lien reduction, the court conducts an evidentiary hearing "to inquire into the proposed grounds for reduction where the basis for the lien reduction is contested by the Department and does not appear clearly on the face of the record." (Jackson v. Thatcher (1980), 80 III. App. 3d 876, 880.) It is the type of evidence to be considered by the trial judge in the exercise of his discretion in these hearings for lien reduction which our Court believes requires legislative attention.

In Jackson v. Thatcher (1980), 80 III. App. 3d 876, our Appellate Court pinpointed the problem. The court said at page 882:

"In the absence of explicit statutory guidance, we can only speculate as to the type of evidence the legislature anticipated would influence the adjudication of Department [liens]. We are also concerned that without more definitive guidance, the adjudications may be too harsh or too lenient and may not reflect the intent of the legislature. Although evidentiary factors which have been held relevant to other adjudications may be pieced together from the limited case law on Department liens, we would prefer express statutory guidance."

The Supreme Court agrees with the Appellate Court's stated concerns about evidentiary factors the trial judge should consider in adjudicating Department of Public Aid liens under section 11-22 of The Illinois Public Aid Code (III. Rev. Stat. 1979, ch. 23, par. 11-22), and the Court urges the General Assembly to consider providing statutory guidance in this matter.

GENERAL ASSEMBLY SHOULD REVIEW PROCEDURES FOR NOMINATION OF JUDICIAL CANDIDATES

It has been argued in our Court that section 7-61 of The Election Code (III. Rev. Stat. 1977, ch. 46, par. 7-61) (Code), as it pertains to filling vacancies in the nomination of judicial candidates at a primary election, is contrary to section 12(a) of article VI of the 1970 Constitution. Thurston v. State Board of Elections (1979), 76 Ill. 2d 385. The Constitution in pertinent part provides in section 12(a) of article VI that "Supreme, Appellate and Circuit Judges shall be nominated at primary elections or by petition," and section 7-61 of the Code, applicable to nominations of judicial candidates by section 7-1 (III. Rev. Stat. 1977, ch. 46, par. 7-1), states in part that vacancies in nomination "shall be filed by the managing committee  of the respective political party for the territorial area in which such vacancy occurs." Ill. Rev. Stat. 1977, ch. 46, par. 7-61.

In Thurston, supra, one of the political parties failed to nominate at the primary election a candidate for the office of resident circuit judge, and the party's managing committee — the party's county central committee, filled the vacancy by nominating a candidate. That candidate was subsequently elected in the general election, but the validity of his nomination was contested. Our Court deemed it unnecessary to decide the constitutional issue and held that the doctrine of laches barred the challenge to the nomination of the successful candidate. 76 III. 2d 385, 388.

Nevertheless, we believe it important to note that the official publication of the proposed 1970 Constitution stated in reference to Separate Question No. 2A, which is now section 12 of article VI of the 1970 Constitution, that "candidates for judge will continue to be elected, but the method of nomination will be changed. The existing 'party convention' method for the nomination of judges will be replaced by primary elections or by the method of petition." 7 Record of Proceedings, Sixth Constitutional Convention 2761. In commenting on the rationale for changing the party convention method of nominating judges, the counsel to the Committee on Judiciary of the Constitutional Convention has stated:

"Although the 1962 judicial amendment [to the 1870 Constitution] provided for the nomination of all judges by 'party convention or primary,' [footnote omitted] the legislature opted for nomination by party convention. Dissatisfaction with this method was widespread . So pervasive had professional and public criticism of convention choice become that even the minority recommendations of the Committee on Judiciary of the Constitutional Convention  proposed the elimination of the convention method of nomination and the substitution of the party primary [footnote omitted].

"The important factors to be noted in respect to the proposals of the committee majority and minority, as amended and as they applied to the adversary elective process, are (1) the consensus on the abolition of the mandated convention method of nomination, (2) the use of unqualified term 'primary election,' the effect of which would permit nonpartisan as well as partisan primaries and elections, and (3) the introduction of the concept of nomination by petition." Cohn, The Illinois Judicial Department — Changes Effected By Constitution Of 1970, 1971 U. III. L.F. 355, 394-95.

See also 3 Record of Proceedings, Sixth Constitutional Convention 2373-74.

The Supreme Court is cognizant of the General Assembly's most recent amendment to section 7-61 concerning the filling of "a vacancy in nomination" (1980 Laws of Illinois, vol. I, pp. 1376-77); however, our Court invites, as we have done in the past, a review of section 7-61 of The Election Code (III. Rev. Stat. 1980 Supp., ch. 46, par. 7-61) as it applies to judicial candidates.

THE TIME FOR COMMENCING POST-CONVICTION HEARINGS SHOULD BE REDUCED

Effective February 1, 1981, this Court amended its Rule 402(e) to eliminate the requirement that all plea of guilty proceedings automatically be transcribed and filed as part of the common law record in all cases in which a defendant is charged with a crime punishable by imprisonment in the penitentiary. Transcripts in such cases will hereafter be prepared only upon order of the trial court. This action was taken to eliminate the substantial costs involved in preparing such transcripts in all cases and to relieve court reporters from performing unnecessary work when their time could be better spent taking cases in court and transcribing cases on appeal. The Court anticipates that the trial court will order the preparation of a transcript in every case in which there is any reasonable basis to believe that the defendant will either appeal the conviction or sentence or file a postconviction proceeding, despite the fact he pleaded guilty.

In a rare case in which the trial judge might have failed to order the plea proceeding transcribed, and the defendant files a post-conviction proceeding long after the imposition of sentence, without having previously appealed it might be difficult to obtain a transcript if the court reporter has died, retired, etc. It would be substantially less likely that a problem would arise, if the limitation for filing a post-conviction proceeding was reduced from 20 years to 5 years.

Section 122-1 of the Code of Criminal Procedure of 1963 (III. Rev. Stat. 1979, ch. 38, par. 122-1) provides that no petition to commence a post-conviction hearing may be filed more than 20 years after rendition of final judgment, unless the petitioner alleges facts showing that the delay was not due to his culpable negligence. The Supreme Court recommends that section 122-1 be amended to provide that no such proceeding may be commenced more than 5 years after the rendition of final judgment, unless the petitioner alleges facts showing that the delay was not due to his culpable negligence.

ADMINISTRATIVE AGENCY OR PERSON, NOT CIRCUIT JUDGE SHOULD ASSESS INHERITANCE TAX

Section 11 of the Inheritance and Transfer Tax Law (III. Rev. Stat. 1979, ch. 120, par. 385) provides that a circuit judge, designated and assigned by the chief judge of the circuit, shall ascertain whether any transfer of any property is subject to an inheritance tax, and if it be subject to the tax, the circuit judge shall assess and fix the cash value of the estates and the tax due. Section 11 further provides that any person dissatsified with the circuit judge's appraisement, assessment, allowance of fees and expenses, etc. may appeal the circuit judge's ruling to the circuit court. Our Court recently had occasion to decide whether section 11 violated the doctrine of separation of powers and the appellate rulemaking authority of the Supreme Court as contained in article II, section 1 and article VI, sections 6, 16 of the 1970 Constitution. In re Estate of Barker (1976), 63 Ill. 2d 113.

A majority of our Court determined that section 11 was constitutional and that while the assessment of taxes by the circuit judge is a non-judicial function, section 4(d) of the Transition Schedule of our Constitution allowed the circuit courts to exercise certain non-judicial functions vested by law in the county courts as of December 31, 1963. We further determined that the "appeal" from the circuit judge's assessment order to the circuit court was not an appeal as used in article VI of the Constitution but rather a judicial review of administrative action. We concluded:

"However, that there should be a review of an order of the 'circuit judge' by the 'circuit court' is an anomaly which often results, as was the case here, in a judge incongruously reviewing the correctness of his own order. We consider the legislature should provide for the assessment to be made by an administrative body or person and for a right of review in the circuit court." 63 III. 2d 113, 120.

In prior Annual Reports to the General Assembly, the Supreme Court has recommended legislation to remedy this anomaly. The Court again commends this matter to the General Assembly for its consideration.

JUDICIAL SALARIES MUST BE INCREASED

There can be little doubt that when a successful lawyer becomes a judge in Illinois, he does so despite the fact that he knows that he and his family will thereby suffer a financial loss. A competent lawyer in Illinois can anticipate a substantially higher annual income and substantially greater income tax advantages than he would receive as an Illinois judge. The Illinois Constitution and the rules of the Supreme Court severely limit, and rightly so, the sources of a judge's income. He must devote full time to his judicial duties and cannot practice law (III. Const. art. VI, sec. 13(b)); he cannot assume an active role in the management of any business nor serve as an officer or director of any for-profit corporation (III. Rev. Stat. 1979, ch. 110A, par. 63); and he cannot accept compensation of any kind for service performed except his judicial salary, although he may accept reasonable compensation for lecturing, teaching, writing or similar activities (III. Rev. Stat. 1979, ch. 110A, par. 65). The consequence of these restrictions is that most judges - unlike other public officials and those with personal wealth must support their families solely from the salary provided by law.

The lack of fair and adequate compensation for judges is a grave concern for the Illinois judiciary, and it touches some of the most important aspects of the judicial department's function in society. A recent comment illustrates this point:

"An able and independent judiciary is at the heart of the democratic process. Recognizing this, Americans today are, and quite properly so, expecting more from their judges — in performance standards and workload. But at the same time that judges are being asked to meet increasingly high levels of public expectation, they are being asked to do so while maintaining themselves and their families on salaries that sometimes do not come close to keeping pace with inflation." On Fair And Adequate Compensation For Judges, 64 Judicature 152 (October, 1980).

The effect of inadequate judicial salaries at the federal level was recently described by the distinguished Illinois lawyer and federal jurist, Philip W. Tone, retired judge of the U.S. Court of Appeals for the Seventh Circuit. In testimony before the federal Commission on Executive, Legislative and Judicial Salaries, Judge Tone on November 6, 1980, said:

" Unlike more than 50 million Americans [who] have all or part of their income indexed [to the consumer price index], and countless others who have economic or political means of keeping up with the cost of living, federal judges are helpless against the ravages of inflation. They've had to watch the reduction of their real incomes to the level that requires, absent outside means, a reduced standard of living, changes in plans for children's higher education, and other sacrifices.

"Most of them  could earn several times the amount of their judicial salary if they returned to private practice. This state of affairs is neither just to the judges nor wise for our society. The failure to provide adequate compensation to federal judges in recent years has seriously undermined the morale of judges and their families. It has been a contributing cause to the substantial increase in resignations from the federal bench. And it has caused many judges still on the bench to give serious thought to resignation.

"Some will leave. Most will no doubt stay. But they will do so with a bitter sense that they are being unjustly treated. None of this is healthy for the judicial system or for the society whose quality is, in large measure, dependent upon the performance of the judicial system. In addition, the inadequacy of judicial compensation has deterred many of the ablest prospects for federal judicial office from accepting appointments.

" Appointments to the federal bench is not nearly as attractive a prospect for a lawyer as it used to be. No one, judges included, expects the compensation of federal judges to equal that of a private practitioner of equal competence and experience. Federal judges cannot and do not expect to become rich from their earnings, but they do have a right to expect  that a judge be provided with an income that, first, will enable him to maintain a standard of living reasonably commensurate with his station in life, and, second, although not approaching the amounts earned by able lawyers of comparable experience in private practice, will not be absurdly disproportionate even to the amounts earned by lawyers of substantially less experience."

We quote at length from Judge Tone's testimony because his eloquent yet candid remarks are equally applicable to the Illinois judiciary, and this Court fully subscribes to them.

Too, the news media generally have echoed the very serious concerns voiced by Judge Tone and have supported judicial salary increases. In an editorial comment about the compensation review board legislation (S.B. 269, 82nd G.A., vetoed by the Governor), it was observed that salary levels for judges "have lagged so far behind those available in private practice that capable judges have been deserting the Illinois bench in droves." (Chicago Tribune, August 1, 1981, editorial page.) In a later editorial urging the legislature to "swiftly  enact a judicial pay increase," a recent study by the Illinois State and Chicago Bar Associations supporting salary increases was referred to, and the editorial continued that while a lawyer who becomes a judge knows the financial sacrifice involved, "it is unfair to the judges and harmful to the state to let the buying power of their salaries continue to sag. The state will lose its best judges if it does." (Chicago Tribune, October 15, 1981, editorial page.) The editorial concluded, "In law, as in everything else, you can only expect to get quality if you are ready to pay for it."

The General Assembly last favorably considered judicial salaries in November of 1978 (Pub. Act 80-1470, effective November 29, 1978). (III. Rev. Stat. 1979, ch. 53, pars. 3, 3.1, 3.2, 3.3.) While that Act raised most judges' salaries by approximately 18.8%, that increase and much more has been obliterated by inflation. The U.S. Department of Labor reports, for example, that the consumer price index nationally has risen 181.5% during the period January 1, 1967 to January 1, 1982. While most judges' salaries increased about 99%, the consumer price index has risen over 181%. More recently, comparing the consumer price index (as calculated within the city of Chicago by the Department of Labor) as of December 1, 1978 with the index as it stood on January 1, 1982, the index rose over 38%. The result on judicial salaries is plainly apparent — not only has the 18.8% increase in judicial salaries been wiped out but, equally important, inflation has severely cut into judges' salaries as they existed before the November 1978 increase.

Always difficult but necessary is the setting of fair and adequate compensation for elected and appointed public officials. Yet it must be done. The General Assembly's responsibility in determining compensation for judges, as well as for others, is a heavy one. The Supreme Court, speaking on behalf of the judicial department, has a responsibility, too — to bring to the attention of the legislature matters which only it can address. The Supreme Court recommends that the General Assembly increase judicial compensation to a level that is fair, just and adequate and that will more closely reflect a judge's responsibilities, both judicial and familial, and will maintain judicial salaries at a level which will attract qualified lawyers to the bench and enable the judicial system to retain the most qualified members of the present judiciary.

JUDGES SHOULD NOT SERVE ON ELECTORAL BOARDS

This Court has recommended in the past that the General Assembly take whatever action is necessary to remove judges from various electoral boards and to remove the requirement that the chief circuit judges are to designate the judges who are to serve on electoral boards. Under section 10-9 of The Election Code (III. Rev. Stat. 1979, ch. 46, par. 10-9), the chief judges are required to name a resident judge to serve as a member of both the State division electoral boards and the county officers electoral boards. Further, in the event any other designated member is unable to serve, because he is a candidate for the office with relation to which the objection was filed, the statute provides that a judge will be called upon to serve in the other member's stead. The statute should be amended to provide that someone other than a judge be the alternate, and that the alternates be designated by someone other than the chief circuit judge.

Service on electoral boards is not a judicial function. It tends to involve judges in political matters in which they ought not to be involved, and it can prove to be a source of confusion to the public and embarrassment to the court system when a circuit judge reviews the orders of a fellow circuit judge who had been sitting as an administrative hearing officer on an electoral board.

Since the establishment of the consolidated schedule of elections (III. Rev. Stat. 1979, ch. 46, pars. 2A-1.1, 2A-1.2), the amount of time circuit judges have been reguired to devote to service on various electoral boards during that period has adversely affected the administration of justice in some counties. Very recently, for example, objections to the nomination of a candidate for judge of the Appellate Court were filed. The judicial district for that district of the Appellate Court is comprised of 30 counties, and pursuant to the statute (III. Rev. Stat. 1979, ch. 46, par. 10-9) the State division electoral board had to be convened to hear and pass upon the objections. Because that electoral board is composed "of one resident judge for each county," as designated by the appropriate chief judges, 30 judges had to be contacted and brought together. (The judicial district in question stretches from the Illinois-Indiana border to the Mississippi River.) It is plainly apparent that busy court schedules were disrupted and valuable court-time was lost.

The Supreme Court once again recommends that the General Assembly take whatever action (see e.g., S.B. 825, pending in Senate committee) is necessary to remove judges from electoral boards as well as to abolish the requirement that chief judges designate judges to serve on such boards.

At a minimum, in view of the practical problems faced by the circuit courts in convening a State division electoral board to hear and pass upon objections to the nominations of candidates for the office of reviewing court judge, the Supreme Court recommends that immediate measures be taken to provide that such objections be heard by the State Board of Elections.

STATUTORY PROVISIONS RELATING TO THE SELECTION OF JURORS SHOULD BE UNIFORM

As a result of this Court's decision in People v. Jackson (1977), 69 III. 2d 252, the General Assembly amended section 115-4(f) of the Code of Criminal Procedures of 1963 (Code). That section now reads: "After examination by the court the jurors may be examined, passed upon, accepted and tendered by opposing counsel as provided by Supreme Court rules." (III. Rev. Stat. 1979, ch. 38, par. 115-4(f).) The Supreme Court has adopted, effective April 1, 1982, Rule 434 which provides: "In criminal cases the parties shall pass upon and accept the jury in panels of four, commencing with the State, unless the court, in its discretion, directs otherwise."

However, similar and related sections in "an Act concerning jurors " (Ill. Rev. Stat. 1979, ch. 78, pars. 21, 23) were not amended and, accordingly, do not appear to be in complete harmony with section 115-4(f) of the Code and Supreme Court Rule 434. Section 21 of the "Jurors Act" provides for the examination of prospective jurors and for their selection in panels of four. Section 23 makes the provisions of section 21 applicable to "both civil and criminal cases." Thus, there appears to exist a conflict between sections 21 and 23 of the "Jurors Act" and section 115-4(f) of the Code.

In addition, the procedure for jury selection in criminal cases, as provided in section 115-4(f) and Rule 434, is sound and consideration should be given to adopting that procedure in civil cases.

The Court recommends that the General Assembly consider amending sections 21 and 23 of the "Jurors Act" to conform with section 115-4(f) of the Code of Criminal Procedure and to make the jury selection procedure in civil cases "as provided by Supreme Court rules."

PROVISIONS RELATING TO ESCAPE FROM CORRECTIONAL FACILITIES SHOULD BE RE-EXAMINED

In People v. Simmons (1981), 88 Ill. 2d 270, this Court held that the defendant, who had been convicted of felony offenses and committed to the Department of Corrections to serve a term of imprisonment, could properly be prosecuted for escape from the Department's correctional facility under section 31-6 of the Criminal Code of 1961 (III. Rev. Stat. 1977, ch. 38, par. 31-6), even though he could have alternatively been prosecuted under section 3-6-4(a) of the Unified Code of Corrections (III. Rev. Stat. 1977, ch. 38, par. 1003-6-4(a)). Under the facts of the case, if the defendant had been prosecuted and convicted for "failure to return" to the correctional facility under section 3-6-4(a) of the Unified Code of Corrections, then he would have been guilty of a Class 3 felony; instead, he was prosecuted and convicted for escape, a Class 2 felony, under section 31-6(a) of the Criminal Code.

The Court decided the two sections in question were not inconsistent but simply expressed different legislative concerns. (People v. Simmons (1981), 88 III. 2d 270, 275.) However, the Court did not observe in relation to the discussion of the two escape provisions that "[p]erhaps in passing and amending the [Unified Code of Corrections], the legislature may not have had the Criminal Code consciously in mind" (Simmons at 276). Judging by the committee comments to section 31-6 (S.H.A. ch. 38, par. 31-6) and the commentary to section 3-6-4 (S.H.A. ch. 38, par. 1003-6-4), prepared by the Council on the Diagnosis and Evaluation of Criminal Defendants which drafted the Unified Code of Corrections, the legislature's objective in enacting each section was to bring together in a "logical sequence, with appropriate penalties" the various "scattered sections dealing with escape, riot, and other acts of violence by incarcerated persons."

Considering the desirable objective to be achieved, the Supreme Court invites the General Assembly to reexamine the escape provisions codified in section 31-6 of the Criminal Code (III. Rev. Stat. 1979, ch. 38, par. 31-6) and section 3-6-4 of the Unified Code of Corrections (III. Rev. Stat. 1979, ch. 38, par. 1003-6-4).

COORDINATING SIZE OF JURIES WITH MODERN CASE CLASSIFICATIONS

Section 64(2) of the Civil Practice Act (III. Rev. Stat. 1979, ch. 110, par. 64(2)) provides, in pertinent part, that "[a]ll jury cases where the claim for damages does not exceed $10,000 shall be tried by a jury of 6, unless either party demands a jury of 12." When this provision was adopted in 1967, civil proceedings were assignable to magistrates of the circuit courts only "[w]hen the amount of money or damages or the value of personal property claimed does not exceed $10,000." (III. Rev. Stat. 1967, ch. 37, par. 622(a).) At that time the allocation of civil trial work between the Law Division of the Circuit Court of Cook County (which was staffed by circuit judges) and the Municipal Department of that Court (which was staffed primarily by magistrates) was as follows: cases involving $10,000 or more - Law Division; cases involving less than $10,000 — Municipal Department. Other circuit courts were similarly staffed, and their clerks' offices, like Cook County's, paralleled the court's organization.

It is clear that the statutory scheme to determine which civil cases should be tried by a jury of 6 and which by a jury of 12 was linked to the statistical categorization of such cases as "LM" (Law/Magistrate — less than $10,000) and "L" (Law — $10,000 or more).

All of these things have changed since 1967. The judicial officers then known as "magistrates," are now "associate judges," and they may hear any civil case, without restriction. (Supreme Court Rule 295, III. Rev. Stat. 1979, ch. 110A, par. 295.) The Municipal Department now hears civil jury cases up to $15,000 and the "LM" statistical category currently includes cases having an ad damnum up to $15,000.

For the sake of statistical and accounting uniformity and regularity, it would be helpful if the breaking point for 6 person juries would be amended to occur at the $15,000 level, rather than the $10,000 level.

THE COMMON LAW DISTINCTION AMONG ENTRANTS UPON LAND TO DETERMINE THE DEGREE OF CARE OWED THEM BY THE OCCUPIER OF THE PREMISE SHOULD BE STUDIED

The long-standing rule in Illinois is that the application of the categories of trespasser, licensee and invitee determines the liability of a landowner for injuries to persons who have entered upon the land. This rule derives from the English common law which accorded special privileges and immunities to the occupier of land because of the social and economic importance that land ownership held in England, but it was not until the 19th century that English and American courts categorized entrants upon land as trespassers, licensees and invitees to determine the duty owed them by the land occupier. These distinctions given to entrants upon land are grounded in feudalistic notions of the importance of land ownership and have caused confusion and complexity when applied by courts to our modern industrial society. (But see Pashinian v. Haritonoff (1980), 81 III. 2d 377, 381.)

About one-half of the jurisdictions in the United States have abolished or modified the common law rule. Illinois, however, still retains the categories of trespasser, licensee and invitee to determine the liability of the landowner for injuries to entrants upon his land, and Illinois courts are constantly faced with the problems of attempting to do justice within this ancient legal framework by carving out exceptions to the common law classifications. See Appel, Premises Liability, 67 III. B.J. 96 (1978); see also dissenting opinion of Justice Ward in Pashinian v. Haritonoff (1980), 81 Ill. 2d 377, 382, and dissenting opinion of the late Justice Dooley in Washington v. Atlantic Richfield Co. (1977), 66 Ill. 2d 103, 110.

It has been suggested that the legislature should update the concept of landowner's liability (Walton v. Norphlett (1977), 56 III. App. 3d 4, 5, specially concurring opinion of Justice Linn); but very recently a majority of our Court declined to modify the common law rule, believing "[i]n the absence of evidence to the contrary,  [it is] reasonable to assume that the distinctions drawn between invitee, licensee and trespasser provide valuable guidance to the finder of fact ." (Pashinian v. Haritonoff (1980), 81 III. 2d 377, 381.) Implicit in the majority opinion, however, is the legislature's prerogative to address the continuing viability of the common law rule. Pashinian at 381. Some legal writers have suggested that the labels of licensee and invitee should be modified if not abolished and that the duty of the occupier of land to entrants upon his property should be that of reasonable care under the circumstances, with foreseeability and measure of liability. See, e.g., Appel, Premises Liability, supra.

The Supreme Court again brings (see our Annual Report to the General Assembly, dated January 31, 1981) this matter to the attention of the General Assembly for its consideration.

CHILD CUSTODY DIRECTIVES SHOULD BE ADDED TO THE PATERNITY ACT

It is axiomatic courts in resolving child custody disputes accord primacy to the principle that the child's best interest must be served. (Nye v. Nye (1952), 411 III. 408.) The best interest of the child standard becomes of even greater concern in the resolution of such disputes where the child is born an illegitimate and the parent having actual custody of the child becomes unavailable.

Our court recently confronted an unusual factual situation involving the custody of an illegitimate child whose mother, the actual custodian, was sentenced to the penitentiary for murder. During and after the criminal proceedings against the mother, the child's adult halfsister, the mother's daughter, had actual custody of the child. The illegitimate child's natural father instituted an action in the circuit court, seeking custody of the child. Because that action was not incident to a proceeding under the Marriage and Dissolution of Marriage Act (III. Rev. Stat. 1979, ch. 40, par. 110 et seq.) or the Adoption Act (III. Rev. Stat. 1979, ch. 40, par. 1501 et seq.), nor was the Juvenile Court Act applicable (Ill. Rev. Stat. 1979, ch. 37, par. 701-1 et seq.), our Court looked to decisional law and section 11-7 of the Probate Act of 1975 (III. Rev. Stat. 1979, ch. $110\frac{1}{2}$, par. 11-7) for guidance, and the Court reasoned that in such cases there is a "superior-right" presumption in the natural father's favor as against the third-party having actual custody of the illegitimate child. In re Custody of Townsend (1981), 86 Ill. 2d 502. However, as indicated by Justice Simon in his separate opinion, there is "a deficiency in the statutes" (Townsend at 517) in that the statutes are silent as to the procedure and standard which is to apply in such cases. The suggestion was then made that the General Assembly consider adding custody directives to the Paternity Act (III. Rev. Stat. 1979, ch. 40, par. 1351 et seq.). (Townsend at 518.)

The Court commends this matter to the General Assembly for whatever action it deems necessary.

FINANCIAL RESOURCES SHOULD BE PROVIDED FOR THE OPERATION OF PRETRIAL SERVICE AGENCIES AT THE CIRCUIT COURT LEVEL

In 1976 the Illinois Judicial Conference undertook a comprehensive evaluation of the administration of bail in Illinois with the express purpose of developing recommendations for the improvement of our pretrial release system. The Study Committee on Bail Procedures comprised of judges from throughout the State was created in the fall of 1976. After personal visits to other jurisdictions to examine their bail projects and numerous regional hearings around Illinois the study committee two years later submitted the Report of the Study Committee on Bail Procedures (1978). The report set forth detailed recommendations for court rules and legislative action. We have previously forwarded some of those recommendations to the General Assembly (see, Annual Report of the Supreme Court to the General Assembly (Goldenhersh, C.J., January, 1979, reprinted in Annual Report of the Administrative Office of the Illinois Courts (1978), at 17-18)) and the General Assembly has responded favorably (see Pub. Act 82-470, effective January 1, 1982).

A major recommendation of the study committee was the creation of effective pretrial services. With the authorization to develop standards for pretrial service agencies, the study committee prepared in December of 1980 Performance Standards for Illinois Pretrial Services Agencies. The report recommends specific guidelines for each judicial circuit to provide informational and supervisory assistance to the court in determining the appropriate conditions for pretrial release.

We are all acutely aware of the importance of a well informed determination of the basis for pretrial release. There must be a meaningful balancing of the rights of the accused and the security of society. Many today would agree with the observation made fifty-five years ago:

"the present system, in too many instances, neither guarantees security to society nor safeguards the rights of the accused. The system is lax with those with whom it should be stringent and stringent with those with whom it could safely be less severe." Beeley, The Bail System in Chicago (1927; reprinted 1966), 160. (Cited in Performance Standards for Illinois Pretrial Services Agencies, p. 5.)

Though the judiciary has the responsibility to decide pretrial release issues, reliable and timely resource information upon which to base a knowledgeable decision is often lacking. The study committee recommendations suggest the creation on a circuit level of an agency that can interview the defendants in advance of trial, verify the information gathered, and supply additional information as a result of record checks and other sources which will assist the judge in arriving at informed conditions for pretrial release. After release the agency will monitor the defendant's compliance with the release conditions and provide the court with notice of any violations.

Though funding requirements for pretrial services agencies may be substantial, the benefits to the citizens of this State and the administration of justice are obvious. We have perhaps slowly come to realize that the period between arrest and trial is every bit as important to the accused and the general public in assuring informed judicial determinations as is the setting of a sentence following trial. Judges would be unable to properly perform their sentencing responsibilities in serious cases without the verified information made available to them by probation departments in the presentence investigation report. We should similarly provide the judge with verified information upon which to rely in determining the conditions of release of a defendant into the community prior to trial.

We commend to your attention the need for pretrial services agencies and the basis for funding such operations.

RESPONSIBILITY FOR INDEPENDENT PHYSICAL AND MENTAL EXAMINATIONS UNDER THE MENTAL HEALTH AND DEVELOPMENTAL DISABILITIES CODE SHOULD BE ADMINISTERED BY THE EXECUTIVE BRANCH OF STATE GOVERNMENT

Section 3-804 of the Mental Health and Developmental Disabilities Code (Code) (III. Rev. Stat. 1979, ch. 91¹/₂, par. 3-804) entitles a respondent to secure an independent examination by a physician, qualified examiner, clinical psychologist or other expert of his choice. The statute further provides that "[i]f the respondent is unable to obtain an examination, he may request that the court order an examination to be made by an impartial medical expert pursuant to Supreme Court Rules or by a qualified examiner, clinical psychologist or other expert." The statute also provides that "[d]etermination of the compensation of the physician, qualified examiner, clinical psychologist or other expert and its payment shall be governed by Supreme Court Rule."

Apparently, the sponsors of the Code anticipated that the examinations contemplated by section 3-804 would be processed under Supreme Court Rule 215(d) Impartial Medical Examinations, or some modified version of that rule. However, the sole purpose for examinations under Rule 215(d) is to clarify, refute or put into proper perspective conflicting medical testimony offered by the parties. It is not intended as a means to allow medical examinations of litigants or others involved in litigation when the parties are unable or unwilling to bear the cost of such examinations. Nor is it intended to be a means by which the trial judge may obtain advisory medical opinions. We have instructed our Administrative Office to accept reguests for Impartial Medical Examinations only in cases in which the judge expressly finds that the parties have, will or most probably will present conflicting medical testimony concerning the physical or mental condition of one or more persons involved in the case.

When such findings are made, an Impartial Medical Examination by a physician in the appropriate specialty is appropriate whether the proceeding has been brought under the Mental Health and Developmental Disabilities Code, another code or the common law.

But the more expansive provisions of section 3-804 are beyond the conceptual boundaries of our rule regarding Impartial Medical Examinations. The administration of a program to implement the provisions of section 3-804 should properly be entrusted to an agency in the executive branch of State government.

THE SUMMONS AND NOTICE REQUIREMENTS OF THE JUVENILE COURT ACT SHOULD BE REVIEWED

Sections 4-1(2) and 4-3(3) of the Juvenile Court Act require that "parents" of a juvenile (as recently re-defined in Pub. Act 82-516, effective January 1, 1982) against whom a petition of delinquency is filed be named as respondents in the petition and that they be issued a summons by the clerk of the court requiring them to appear and answer the petition on the date set for the adjudicatory hearing. (III. Rev. Stat. 1979, ch. 37, pars. 704-1(2) and 704-3(3).)

Questions have arisen concerning the type of notice required to be given an absent parent whose whereabouts are unknown. (See In re J.W. (1980), 89 III. App. 3d 150, rev'd on other grounds (1981), 87 III. 2d 56; In re C.G. (1979), 69 III. App. 3d 56.) Public Act 82-516, effective January 1, 1982, amending section 1-14 of the Juvenile Court Act, alleviates the problem somewhat by redefining the word "parent" as follows:

"the father or mother of a legitimate child, or the mother of an illegitimate child, and includes any adoptive parent. It also includes the father of an illegitimate child whose paternity has been established in a court of law or who has been acknowledged by the mother and the community as the father. It does not include a parent whose rights in respect of the minor have been terminated in any manner provided by law. (Words italicized were added to the section.)

That amendment appears to solve the problem this Court had to deal with in In re Chatman, consolidated under the short title In re J.W. (1981), 87 Ill. 2d 56, but the remaining question is what type of notice, if any, is to be given to a parent, as that word is now defined in section 1-14, whose whereabouts are unknown and cannot reasonably be determined. Because the Juvenile Court Act in section 4-2 (III. Rev. Stat. 1979, ch. 37, par. 704-2) reguires that, in the case of a minor held in detention, the adjudicatory hearing must be set within 10 judicial days of the order directing detention, or for good cause shown, may be extended up to 20 judicial days, it is virtually impossible, as a practical matter, to complete the 3-step process - summons, certified mail and publication within the 10 or 20 day period. The minor has a right to a timely adjudicatory hearing, and, where it is established that one parent's whereabouts are unknown, that parent's absence should not prevent the adjudication because of a time consuming attempt to locate him.

The Supreme Court recommends that the General Assembly consider amending the Juvenile Court Act to provide for an expedited procedure for giving notice to the absent parent where it is established that the parent's whereabouts are unknown and cannot reasonably be determined within the time period provided in section 4-2.

REPORT OF COMMITTEE TO STUDY SUPREME COURT RULES OF JUDICIAL CONDUCT

Effective September 10, 1979, the Supreme Court established a committee to study Supreme Court Rules 61 through 71. The Court directed the committee to make recommendations for the modification of the rules governing judicial conduct, as may appear appropriate. The committee membership is as follows: Appellate Judge John J. Stamos (1st Dist.) and Appellate Judge John M. Karnes, Jr. (5th Dist.), Co-chairmen; Circuit Judge Walter P. Dahl (Cook County); Circuit Judge John F. Hechinger (Cook County); Circuit Judge John A. Krause (16th Circuit); Circuit Judge Irving R. Norman (Cook County); Circuit Judge Wayne C. Townley, Jr. (11th Circuit); Associate Judge Rosemary Duschene La Porta (Cook County); and Associate Judge Frederick P. Patton (14th Circuit). The Administrative Office serves as secretary to this committee. Prof. Richard A. Michael of Loyola University School of Law is the committee's reporter.

After nearly two years of study and deliberation, the committee submitted its report of recommendations to the Supreme Court. In its August 13, 1981 letter to the Court, the committee summed up its report: "In essence this [report] proposes the adoption of the American Bar Association Code of Judicial Conduct with those changes deemed necessary in light of superseding Illinois constitutional and statutory enactments and those circumstances unique in [Illinois].

The proposed Illinois Code of Judicial Conduct incorporates ABA Canons 1, 2, and 4 with minor modifications. ABA Canon 3 is principally modified in three aspects: (a) subsection A(4) deletes the ABA provision permitting ex parte communications, upon notice to the parties, between a judge and "a disinterested expert on the law;" (b) subsection A(7) adopts Supreme Court Rule 61(c)(24); and (c) subsection C is amended by adding a paragraph concerning disqualification where the judge was associated with or represented by a law firm or lawyer. ABA Canon 5 is modified by substituting Supreme Court Rule 64 for ABA subsection B(2).

ABA Canon 6 is modified by substituting for subsection C Supreme Court Rule 68. ABA Canon 7 is principally amended by permitting judges seeking retention in office to engage in the same political and election activities as candidates for election to judicial office.

The Supreme Court has not acted on the committee's recommendations. However, the Court in 1981 published notice inviting "interested persons and associations to comment" on the proposed Illinois Code of Judicial Conduct before February 26, 1982.

The Appellate Court

Jurisdiction

The Appellate Court is the intermediate court of review in the Illinois judicial system. Appeals from final judgments of a Circuit Court may be taken as a matter of right to the Appellate Court, except in cases appealable directly to the Supreme Court. There is no appeal from a judgment of acquittal in a criminal case. The Appellate Court may exercise original jurisdiction when necessary to the complete determination of any case on review, and it may also review administrative actions, as may be provided by law, (Art. VI, Sec. 6). Pursuant to the constitutional provision concerning review of administrative actions, the legislature has enacted two such statutes: (1) the Environmental Protection Act, Ill. Rev. Stat., ch. 111-1/2, § 1041, effective July 1, 1970, provides that "final orders or determinations" of the Pollution Control Board may be appealed directly to the Appellate Court; and (2) the Election Code, Ill. Rev. Stat., ch. 46, § 9-22, effective October 1, 1974, provides that "judgments" of the State Board of Elections concerning disclosure of campaign contributions and expenditures may be appealed directly to the Appellate Court.

In general, Articles III and VI of the Supreme Court Rules govern the mechanics of appellate procedure in civil and criminal cases. Of particular note, is Rule 335 which controls direct appeals from administrative actions to the Appellate Court.

It is interesting to observe that Illinois is one of a few states that provides for appeal as a matter of constitutional right in the intermediate court of review. Furthermore, the Constitution in Article VI, Section 16 directs that the Supreme Court implement the right of appeal by promulgating rules "for expeditious and inexpensive appeals" to the Supreme and Appellate Courts. Thus, it may be fairly stated that an aggrieved litigant, who disagrees with the decision of the Circuit Court, can appeal the judgment to the Appellate Court. This right of appeal applies equally to the defendant who is adjudged guilty of violating a traffic ordinance, as well as to the party who has lost a $1,000,000 personal injury lawsuit. In addition, a litigant has a right to appeal from a decision of the Appellate Court to the Supreme Court if the Appellate Court issues a certificate of importance or a question arises under the Federal or State Constitution for the first time as a result of the action of the Appellate Court.

Organization

The Constitution, Art. VI, Sec. 5, provides: (1) the number of Appellate Judges to be selected from each judicial district shall be provided by law; (2) the Supreme Court shall prescribe by rule the number of appellate divisions in each judicial district; (3) each appellate division shall have at least three judges; (4) assignments of judges to divisions shall be made by the Supreme Court; (5) a majority of a division constitutes a quorum and the concurrence of a majority of the division is necessary for a decision; (6) there shall be at least one division in each judicial district; and (7) each division shall sit at times and places prescribed by rules of the Supreme Court. Appellate Court judges, like Supreme Court judges, are elected for 10 year terms. (Art. VI, Sec. 10).

The General Assembly has provided for the election of 18 Appellate Judges from the First District and 4 from each of the other four districts. The fourth judgeship in each of the four downstate appellate districts was established effective October 1, 1973 (III. Rev. Stat., ch. 37, §25). These new judgeships were filled at the November, 1974 general election.

Pursuant to Section 5 of Article VI, the Supreme Court has adopted Rule 22 which establishes the organization of the Appellate Court. The rule (as amended effective October 15, 1979), provides as follows:

"Rule 22. Appellate Court Organization

(a) Divisions – Appellate Districts. Each district of the Appellate Court shall consist of one division unless the Supreme Court provides otherwise by order. The First District shall sit in the city of Chicago. The Second District shall sit in the city of Elgin. The Third District shall sit in the city of Springfield. The Fifth District shall sit in the city of Mount Vernon. With the approval of the Chief Justice of the Supreme Court, a division may sit at any place in the State. The Appellate Court in each district shall be in session throughout the year, and each division shall sit periodically as its judicial business requires. Each division shall sit in panels of three judges as hereinafter provided.

(b) Assignment to Divisions – Designation of Panels. The Supreme Court shall assign judges to the various divisions. The presiding judge of a division shall designate judges serving in that division to sit in panels of three. Such a three-judge panel shall constitute the division for purposes of rendering a decision in a case. The Executive Committee of the First District, upon request of a division of that district, may designate any Appellate Court judge of that district to sit in the place of a judge of the requesting division for such case or cases as may be designated in the request.

(c) Decisions. Three judges must participate in the decision of every case and the concurrence of two shall be necessary to a decision. Motions of course may be decided by one judge.

(d) Divisions – Presiding Judge. The judges of each division shall select one of their number to serve as presiding judge of that division for a term of one year.

(e) Executive Committee of the Appellate Court of Illinois. The presiding judges of the Second, Third, Fourth, and Fifth Districts and the members of the Executive Committee of the First District shall constitute the Executive Committee of the Appellate Court of Illinois. Meetings of the Executive Committee may be called by any three of its members, and meetings of the Appellate Court may be called by the Executive Committee.

(f) Executive Committee of the Appellate Court in the First Appellate District. There shall be an Executive Committee of the First District composed of one member of each division, which committee shall exercise general administrative authority. The Executive Committee shall select one of its members as chairman."

SUPREME COURT ASSIGNMENT OF JUDGES TO THE APPELLATE COURT

The Constitution, Art. VI, Sec. 16 gives the Supreme Court the authority to assign Supreme, Appellate and Circuit Judges temporarily to any court and an Associate Judge to any Circuit Court. Also, Art. VI, Sec. 15 gives the Supreme Court the authority to assign a retired judge, with his consent, to judicial service (a retired Associate judge may only be assigned as an Associate judge).

During 1981, six Circuit Judges served in the Appellate Court by assignment. In addition, two retired Appellate Court Judges and one retired Circuit Court Judge were assigned to the Appellate Court.

Assignments (other than to hear specific cases) were as follows:

- First District -Hon. Mayer Goldberg, retired appellate judge, (all year) Hon. Mel R. Jiganti, Cook County Circuit Judge (all year) Hon. John M. O'Connor, retired, (December 1, 1980 until further order of the Illinois supreme Court) assigned as retired appellate judge Second District -Hon. William V. Hopf, 18th Circuit Judge (February 1, 1981 until December 1, 1982 or until further order of the Supreme Court) Hon. William R. Nash, 17th Circuit Judge (all year) Hon. Lloyd A. VanDeusen, retired, 19th Circuit Judge (December 1, 1981 until December 1, 1982 or until further order of the Supreme Court) assigned as retired circuit judge
- Third District Hon. Albert Scott, 9th Circuit Judge (all year)

Fourth District —	Hon. Albert G. Webber, III, retired, 6th Circuit Judge (all year) (assigned as a circuit
	judge until November 1981;
	thereafter assigned as a retired circuit judge)
Fifth District —	Hon. George W. Kasserman, Jr., 4th Circuit Judge (all year)

APPELLATE COURT CLERKS

The Constitution, Art. VI, Sec. 18(a), provides:

"(a) The Supreme Court and the Appellate Court Judges of each Judicial District, respectively, shall appoint a clerk and other non-judicial officers for their Court or District."

As of December 31, 1981, the appointed Appellate Court Clerks were: First District, Gilbert S. Marchman; Second District, Loren J. Strotz; Third District, Joseph Fennessey; Fourth District, Juleann Hornyak; Fifth District, Walter T. Simmons.

APPELLATE COURT RESEARCH DEPARTMENTS

Supreme Court Rule 24, adopted effective October 15, 1979, establishes a research department in each Appellate Court district. The rule provides that each department will be staffed by a director of research and such number of staff attorneys as the Supreme Court may from time to time determine. The research departments shall perform such duties, as may be assigned to them by the Presiding Judge of the district or, in the First District, by the Executive Committee. They are to coordinate their activities, exchange information and publish and maintain a manual of procedures for the research staff. The Supreme Court has assigned an assistant to coordinate the activities of the research departments. All research staff attorneys must be graduates of law schools approved by the American Bar Association.

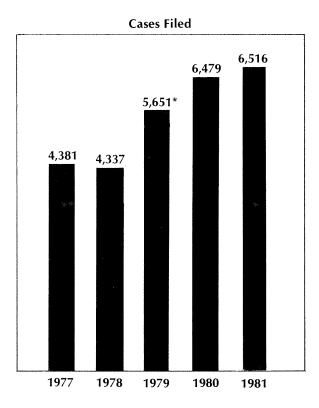

Rule 24 is based on the successful operation of various research projects, in the Appellate Court districts, over the past several years. They are now given official standing, under the rule, and are included in the Supreme Court's annual appropriation request to the General Assembly.

1981 APPELLATE COURT CASELOAD SUMMARY

There were 6,516 new filings in 1981, compared with 6,479 in 1980, an increase of less than 1%. Amended Supreme Court Rules 303 and 606, effective October 15, 1979, now require the docketing of a case, in the reviewing court, upon receipt of a copy of the notice of appeal. It is anticipated that, in a number of these cases, the appeal will not actually be pursued beyond the filing of the notice of appeal and will be dismissed.

Circuit Courts

Jurisdiction

The court of general jurisdiction or trial level court, in Illinois, is known as the Circuit Court. It has original jurisdiction of all justiciable matters, except: (1) in matters relating to redistricting of the General Assembly and to the ability of the Governor to serve or resume office; (2) where the Supreme Court exercises its discretionary original jurisdiction in cases relating to revenue, mandamus, prohibition or habeas corpus; and (3) by statute, the review of orders of the Pollution Control Board and certain orders of the State Board of Elections. There are no courts of special or limited jurisdiction in Illinois. (III. Const. Art. VI, Sec. 9.)

Organization

The State is divided into 21 judicial circuits by statute (III. Rev. Stat., ch. 37, § 72.1). Two circuits, Čook County and the 18th Circuit, consist of a single county. The other 19 judicial circuits are composed of two or more contiguous counties as provided by law. Each judicial circuit has but one, unified Circuit Court.

There are two categories of judges in the Circuit Courts: (1) Circuit Judges, and (2) Associate Judges. Both categories of judges have the full constitutional jurisdiction of the Circuit Court; however, pursuant to Art. VI, Section 8, the Supreme Court provides by rule for the matters to be assigned to Associate Judges. Until May 28, 1975 Supreme Court Rule 295 provided that the Chief Judge of a circuit could assign Associate Judges to hear any matters except the trial of criminal cases in which the defendant was charged with an offense punishable by imprisonment for more than one year. Effective May 28, 1975, Rule 295 was amended to provide:

"Upon a showing of need presented to the Supreme Court by the chief judge of a circuit, the Supreme Court may authorize the chief judge to make temporary assignments of individual associate judges to conduct trials of criminal cases in which the defendant is charged with an offense punishable by imprisonment for more than one year."

Circuit Judges are initially elected, either on a circuitwide basis or from the county where they reside (III. Rev. Stat., ch. 37, §§ 72.2; 72.42-1). In the Cook County Circuit, Circuit Judges are elected from the City of Chicago, from the entire county or from the area outside of Chicago (III. Rev. Stat., ch. 37, § 72.42).

Associate Judges are appointed on a merit basis by the Circuit Judges in their respective circuits. Supreme Court Rule 39 establishes the procedure for nominating and appointing attorneys who have applied for the position of Associate Judge.

Circuit Judges are elected for six-year terms and Associate Judges are appointed for four-year terms (Art. VI, Sec. 10). All judges must be licensed attorneys (Art. VI, Sec. 11).

The Circuit Judges in each Circuit select by secret ballot a Chief Judge from their number to serve at their pleasure. Subject to the authority of the Supreme Court the Chief Judge has general administrative authority over his court, including authority to provide for divisions, general or specialized, and for appropriate times and places of holding court (Art. VI, Sec. 7).

Appeals from the Circuit Court are to the Appellate Court or to the Supreme Court, depending upon the nature of the case (Art. VI, Secs. 4 and 5). No judge of the Circuit Court has the power to review the decision of another and there are no trials de novo. Appeals are based on the trial court record, except where the reviewing court may exercise its original jurisdiction as may be necessary for the complete determination of the case on review (Art. VI, Secs. 4 and 5).

1981 Circuit Court Caseload Summary

The number of cases filed in the Circuit Courts of Illinois during 1981 was 4,292,027, compared with 4,130,100 in 1980, an increase of 4%. This figure represents the highest number of cases filed in the Circuit Courts of Illinois in any given year.

The number of cases disposed of in the circuit courts was 4,104,424 in 1981, compared with 4,077,683 in 1980, a slight increase of 1%. These numbers do not include the Circuit Court of Cook County, First Municipal District, "hang-on" tickets.

There were 803,604 cases pending at the end of 1981, compared with 761,513 in 1980, a slight increase of 6%. At the end of 1980 only 42% were over 12 months old, whereas at the end of 1981, 49% were over 12 months old.

CIRCUIT COURT OF COOK COUNTY CASELOAD SUMMARY 1971-1981

The number of filings, reinstatements, and cases disposed of, beginning with the year 1971, are set forth below.

The increase in filings and reinstatements in 1981, over 1980, was 122,530 and the increase in dispositions was 21,969.

Note: These figures do not include "hang-ons", parking tickets filed in the 1st District.

Administration of the Circuit Courts

Conference of Chief Circuit Judges

Pursuant to Supreme Court Rule 42, a Conference of the Chief Circuit Judges meets regularly to consider problems relating to the administration of the circuit courts and such other matters as may, from time to time, be referred to the Conference by the Supreme Court. As of December 31, 1981 the chief circuit judges were:

1st Circuit - Hon. Robert H. Chase 2nd Circuit - Hon. Robert S. Hill 3rd Circuit — Hon. Joseph J. Barr 4th Circuit - Hon. Paul M. Hickman 5th Circuit - Hon. Ralph S. Pearman 6th Circuit - Hon. Rodney A. Scott 7th Circuit – Hon. Benjamin K. Miller 8th Circuit - Hon. Edward B. Dittmeyer 9th Circuit — Hon. Max B. Stewart 10th Circuit — Hon. Richard E. Eagleton 11th Circuit — Hon. John T. McCullough 12th Circuit – Hon. Michael A. Orenic 13th Circuit — Hon. Frank X. Yackley 14th Circuit - Hon. David DeDoncker 15th Circuit - Hon. James E. Bales 16th Circuit - Hon. Marvin D. Dunn 17th Circuit - Hon. John E. Sype 18th Circuit — Hon. Bruce R. Fawell 19th Circuit - Hon. Robert K. McQueen 20th Circuit — Hon. Joseph F. Cunningham Cook County - Hon. Harry G. Comerford

Justice Howard C. Ryan was liaison to the Conference on Chief Circuit Judges.

In accordance with Supreme Court Rule 42, the Administrative Office of the Illinois Courts is the secretary of the Conference of Chief Circuit Judges.

The Conference met nine times during 1981: January, February, March, April, May, June, September, October and December. Among the matters dealt with by the chief judges during 1981 were the following.

- 1) The Conference concluded that the Supreme Court in People v. Youngbey, 82 III. 2d 556 (1980), did not intend to imply that a pre-sentence investigation report was required in those cases in which both parties had agreed to the imposition of a specific sentence so long as there was a finding made for the record as to the defendant's history of delinquency or criminality.
- 2) Expressed its concern, as a Conference, concerning a proposed standard of judicial conduct which would prohibit a judge from hearing a case in which one of the attorneys representing the parties had previously represented the judge or a member of his immediate family within the preceding five years. It was noted that this could cause a serious problem in administering a small circuit in which there are very few lawyers.

- 3) The Conference considered the impact on administration of the Supreme Court's adoption of Rule 10 which requires all papers filed in all courts to be $8\frac{1}{2}$ " x 11". It was generally agreed, with some exceptions, that while there would be a general uproar among the members of the bar, eventually the practicing attorney would get used to the idea of using the $8\frac{1}{2}$ " x 11" paper, and the consequent economies and benefits of uniformity would help to improve the administration of the trial courts.
- 4) The Conference once again considered the necessity of assigning official court reporters to take certain portions of certain types of hearings such as preliminary hearings in criminal cases, voir dire in both criminal and civil cases, small claims, traffic, etc.
- 5) The Conference dealt with the continuing problem of what to do with a case in which a defendant has failed to sign the ex parte judgment block on the uniform traffic ticket and then fails to appear on the date of the hearing. Certain members noted that an implied consent procedure is the only answer to the defendant's refusal to sign that waiver. This matter, together with many others, was referred to the Conference's ad ho'c committee on traffic rules. In December, the Supreme Court adopted revised Rule 556(b) which creates an implied consent to judgment in a traffic or conservation case if the defendant fails to appear for trial.
- 6) The Conference passed a resolution opposing a proposal to eliminate the statutory basis for the expungement of criminal records. Many of the chief judges expressed the opinion that expungement is a very valuable procedure in criminal cases, particularly where charges are wrongfully brought against an innocent defendant.
- 7) The Conference looked into the possibility of creating, at the circuit court level, a dormant calendar for old, insolvent probate cases.
- 8) The Conference considered the problem which apparently has been caused by the state police issuing notice to appear to out-of-state drivers rather than citations and complaints when the outof-state driver does not have the cash available to make bail on the citation. It appeared that out-ofstate drivers were ignoring the notices to appear and failing to show up at the time, date and place indicated in the notice to appear. This problem, together with others relating to the administration of traffic laws, was referred to an ad hoc committee on traffic rules.
- 9) The Conference once again went on record recommending to the General Assembly that the Unified Code of Corrections be amended to eliminate the requirement that sentencing hearings be automatically transcribed and made part of the common law record.

- 10) The Conference considered a report by the office of the Secretary of State and the Motor Vehicle Laws Commission concerning the possibility of Illinois adopting the non-resident violator's compact as an alternative to arrest and bail in traffic cases. This matter, together with others, was forwarded to an ad hoc committee on traffic rules.
- 11) The Conference approved a uniform juvenile social history report format devised by a subcommittee appointed by the Conference.
- 12) The Conference conducted a survey of the circuits to determine whether there was any extensive use of "notices of violation" in lieu of citations and complaints. The opinion in the case of Mundelein v. Ollivier, 93 III. App. 3d 324 (1981), approved the use of "notices of violation" in lieu of citations and complaints. It was felt that some communities might try to avoid the traditional method of issuing citations and demanding bail by issuing notices of violation instead. The survey showed that most communities use notices of violation only in parking violations, vehicle sticker violations and other similar violations. Only in Quincy (8th Circuit) is the procedure of issuing notices of violation being used in other types of cases, such as animal licensing and control violations.
- 13) The Conference unanimously approved the short form pre-sentence investigation report format which was approved for distribution to the circuits.
- 14) The Conference considered the impact of the Illinois Supreme Court's opinion in Alvis v. Ribar, 85 Ill. 2d 1 (1981), in such matters as the effective date of the comparative negligence rule in Illinois, the appropriate instructions to be given at the conclusion of the trial, etc.
- 15) Lawrence X. Pusateri, Esq., formerly judge of the appellate court of the First District, attended the May meeting in Springfield as a representative of the Department of Corrections to discuss with the Conference of Chief Circuit Judges problems that the chief judges had raised concerning the early administrative release from the penitentiary of people who, in the opinion of some judges, are not entitled to administrative release.
- 16) The Conference recommended that the Supreme Court increase the marriage fund fee from $10 to $20 for the performance of a marriage by a judge.
- 17) The Conference considered the possibility that a recommendation should be made to the Supreme Court that the rules of criminal discovery (Rules 412 and 413) be made self-actuating rather than require the filing of a motion by the parties to actuate the discovery procedures.

- 18) Judge McCullough (11th Circuit) submitted a recommended chart to be used in determining whether a statute, rule or other authority requires that a verbatim report of proceedings be made of certain court proceedings, whether a transcript was required to be produced and if the State would reimburse the reporter for the transcript which is produced.
- 19) The conference considered the possibility that a deferred prosecution program could be transferred from the office of the state's attorney to the probation department. It was concluded by the chief judges that it would be inappropriate for the probation department to administer a deferred prosecution program. This was clearly a state's attorneys' project and not one that the probation department should be involved in.
- 20) The Conference considered the possibility of creating a statutory or rule formula for defaulting bail in civil process to the judgement creditor rather than defaulting it to the county upon the judgment debtor's failure to appear.
- 21) The Conference appointed an ad hoc committee to review Article V of the Supreme Court rules, particularly with regard to fines, fees, costs, bail amounts and alternatives to cash bail. That committee met in November, adopted a report which was approved by the Conference in December, and the Supreme Court adopted the revised Article V rules effective January 15, 1982.
- 22) Mrs. Winifred M. Lyday, assistant director of the Administrative Office of the Illinois Courts, who is assigned responsibility in the area of judicial information systems, addressed the Conference of Chief Circuit Judges at their December meeting. She reminded the judges of their responsibilities under the Supreme Court Standards and Guidelines affecting judicial information systems and advised them of what they could expect from the staff of the Administrative Office over the coming months. Dr. Lyday indicated to the chief judges that it was important for them to keep tabs on developments in their counties in the area of judicial information systems; to make sure they, and other people in their circuit, follow the Standards and Guidelines promulgated by the Supreme Court; to involve themselves and their staff in the workings of the Judicial Management Advisory Committee and attempt to facilitate open communication among the important members of the judicial information team in each circuit. Foremost, the representatives appointed to the Judicial Management Advisory Committee should be representing the interests of each of the circuits. The representatives should be keeping chief judges apprised of developments on that committee.

Age of Pending Cases Reports

In early 1979 the Supreme Court, through the Administrative Office, instituted an age of pending cases reporting procedure.

Effective June 30, 1979, the Chief Circuit Judges, individual trial judges and the circuit clerks are required to submit the following reports, semi-annually:

Chief Judges - Summary age of pending cases report for each county, which includes: (1) number of untried felony cases pending; (2) number of untried felony cases more than 180 days old (over 5 years old in Cook County); (3) steps taken or to be taken to insure the prompt disposition of such cases; (4) number of cases dismissed under the "speedy trial statute," III. Rev. Stat., ch. 38, § 103-5; (5) number of untried law jury cases (over $15,000) pending; (6) number of untried law jury cases (over $15,000) more than 2 years old (over 7 years old in Cook County); (7) a report on any category of cases in which there is unusual delay noted; and (8) number of complaints from attorneys or citizens concerning delay in processing cases.

Trial Judges - (1) Individual reports on untried felony cases pending over 180 days (over 5 years old in Cook County); and (2) Individual reports on untried law jury cases (over $15,000) pending over 2 years (over 7 years old in Cook County).

Clerks - Composite age of pending cases report for the following categories:

Law Jury (over $15,000) Law Jury ($15,000 and under) Chancery Miscellaneous Remedy Eminent Domain Tax Municipal Corporations Mental Health Divorce Family Juvenile Felony Misdemeanor Small Claims Probate

Assignments

During 1981, the Administrative Director, on behalf of the Supreme Court, assigned 273 circuit judges and associate judges, temporarily, to the Circuit Court of Cook County for a total of 484 judge weeks. In the downstate circuits, the Director assigned 36 circuit judges and 8 associate judges, temporarily, to circuits other than their own home circuit.

In addition, 9 retired circuit judges were recalled and assigned to judicial service in the 12th and Cook County Circuits for a total of 45 months of service. No retired associate judges were recalled.

Rule 295 Assignments

Art. VI, Sec. 8, of the Constitution of 1970 provides for the establishment of the Office of Associate Judge. Among other things, Sec. 8 states:

"The Supreme Court shall provide by rule for matters to be assigned to Associate Judges."

Pursuant to this provision, the Supreme Court provided in Rule 295, that Associate Judges could be assigned to hear any matter except the trial of criminal cases punishable by imprisonment for more than one year. On May 28, 1975, Rule 295 was amended to provide that, upon a showing of need presented to the Supreme Court by the Chief Judge of a Circuit, the Court shall authorize the Chief Judge to make temporary assignments of individual Associate Judges to conduct such trials.

The number of Associate Judges so authorized and their respective circuits, during 1981, are set forth below. In some instances the same Associate Judge was assigned more than once.

Cook County - 137 Associate Judges (each assigned for six months)

Downstate

- 1st Circuit 8 Associate Judges (each assigned for six months)
- 2nd Circuit -3 Associate Judges (each assigned for six months)

Increase in the Number of Associate Judgeships

The number of Circuit and Associate judgeships is provided by law (III. Rev. Stat., ch. 37, §72.2 and §160.2, respectively).

During 1981, the 82nd Session of the General Assembly increased the number of "population formula" associate judgeships by providing that the number of associate judges in circuits of less than 200,000 population (was 500,000) to be reduced by the number of resident circuit judges in excess of one per county. P.A. 82-662 also deletes the provision of ch. 37,§160.2, which states that in circuits having 500,000 or more population, the number of associate judges is reduced by the number of resident circuit judges in excess of 31. The new Act also expressly provides for the addition of six more associate judgeships in Cook County.

CIRCUIT COURT OF COOK COUNTY

CREATION OF CHILD SUPPORT ENFORCEMENT DIVISION WITHIN THE CIRCUIT COURT OF COOK COUNTY

Public Act 81-1474, effective January 1, 1982, amended the "Illinois Marriage and Dissolution of Marriage Act" to provide for the payment of court-ordered child support payments to the Clerk of the Court who will disburse the payments to the person or persons entitled thereto. (Ill. Rev. Stat. 1980 Supp., ch 40 § 709-712). The Act requires the Clerk of the Court to bring to the attention of the Court and the State's Attorney payments that are delinquent.

Public Act 81-1474 would have created a Division of Child Support Enforcement within the Administrative Office of the Illinois Courts to supervise the child support enforcement programs created by the new Act. However, Public Act 82-447, effective January 1, 1982, amended the mandatory child support program (Ill. Rev. Stat. 1980 Supp., ch. 40 § 709-712) by transferring the statutory supervisory duties from the Administrative Office to the Department of Public Aid.

The provisions of Sections 709-712 of Chapter 40 are applicable to any county with a population of two million or more and to any county which notifies the Administrative Office of its desire to be included within the coverage of these sections and is certified by the Administrative Office pursuant to Supreme Court Rule.

As a result of this legislation, the Hon. Harry G. Comerford, Chief Judge of the Circuit Court of Cook County, created a new division within the County Department of the Circuit Court which coordinates the efforts of the Circuit Clerk's Office, the Sheriff's Department, the State's Attorney's Office, and the Court itself to see that child support money gets to the custodial parent everytime and on time. (Effective January 1, 1982.) Called the Child Support Enforcement Division, this new branch is the first major realignment within the Circuit Court since 1964. The new division is believed to be the first of its kind in the United States.

REPORT OF COMMITTEE TO STUDY CASEFLOW MANAGEMENT IN THE LAW DIVISION CIRCUIT COURT OF COOK COUNTY

Over the last several years, the Law Division of the Circuit Court of Cook County has been experiencing an everincreasing inventory of cases, which unfortunately has been taking an increasing amount of time from the date of filing to ultimate disposition. At the end of 1976, there were 49,647 jury and non-jury cases remaining on the Law Division docket. By the end of 1977, this number increased to 55,763 cases, by the end of 1978 to 60,609 cases and by the end of 1979 to 62,962 cases. By December 1981, there was a total of 71,359 jury and non-jury cases remaining on the docket. The average time to bring all law jury cases to disposition, subsequent to filing, was 35.5 months. This average included those cases which were settled, dismissed for want of prosecution, defaulted and tried to verdict. The average time from the filing of a complaint to a verdict was 51.3 months.

Ą

In light of these statistics, the Honorable Harry G. Comerford, Chief Judge of the Circuit Court of Cook County, established a committee (consisting of judges, lawyers, and civic leaders) to study the caseflow management of the Law Division in an attempt to develop a plan which would reduce not only the costs of litigation, but also the delay encountered between the filing of the case in that Division and its ultimate disposition, by verdict, or other means. The Co-Chairmen of the Committee to Study Caseflow Management in the Law Division were Thomas F. Bridgman and Philip H. Corboy.

The Committee sought a solution to the problem of any unreasonable delay in the handling and disposition of personal injury, wrongful death, and other tort cases, all of which constitute approximately 90% of the cases filed in the Law Division. The Committee, as a result of its analysis and discussions, concluded that approximately 85% of all cases filed within the Law Division do not involve complex issues, have less than a substantial monetary exposure, and should, therefore, be disposed of more quickly.

In order to discharge the mandate given to the Committee, six separate sub-committees examined six different aspects of the operation of the Circuit Court, including potential remedies for the reduction of delay in the disposition of cases within the Law Division, prejudgment interest, arbitration, discovery practices and procedures, an analysis of judicial manpower and the inauguration of a computer system for case control and case management within the Division.

Based on sub-committee reports prepared and submitted to the full Committee, several suggestions and recommendations were compiled. The Committee concluded that the ultimate responsibility for the substantial delay encountered in case disposition rests with the trial bar. Attorneys practicing within the Law Division have become accustomed to a certain "pace of litigation", which, the Committee concluded, is more a result of the "local legal culture" than court structure, court procedures, case load statistics or accumulated backlog of cases. The "pace of litigation" is affected by a number of "local legal culture" factors, including the established expectations, practices, and informal rules of behavior shared by judges and attorneys. To successfully deal with these factors, the Committee concluded that the court should exercise early and continuous judicial control and adopt the principle of short-scheduling. The Committee's alternate conclusion was that only by the assertion of judicial control over the caseflow can the "local legal culture" be altered, with a resulting decrease in the average time for disposing of a case.

To better effect the main objective of reducing the overall case processing time, the Committee's principal recommendation is the implementation of a "fasttrack/slow track" system for monitoring and expediting caseflow in the Law Division. It is anticipated that such a system will be in operation by July 1, 1982. The elements of this system include:

1). A "progress" call six months after the filing of a lawsuit to ensure that summons has been served, that the defendant has filed a responsive pleading, that discovery is underway, and that the case contains, or has met, the potential of a monetary judgment in excess of the jurisdictional amount of the Law Division, $15,000;

2) Mailing a notice of the date for a pre-trial conference 22 months after suit is filed;

3). Filing by the parties of a pre-trial memorandum with the court 23 months after the suit is filed;

4). A pre-trial conference 24 months after suit is filed;

5). The implementation of a new pre-trial section, consisting of five judges, to be formed October 1, 1982, to hear cases filed on or after October 1, 1980.

It should be noted that the scheduling of pre-trials coincides with the time limit imposed by Circuit Court Rule 3.3 as it relates to discovery completion. Consequently, once the matter has been assigned to a judge, within the pre-trial section, that judge is under a duty to monitor any future discovery that he finds to be necessary in order to move the case toward trial readiness. If, at the pre-trial hearing, a party claims to be unprepared for negotiations due to incomplete discovery, and if that party can demonstrate that the incompletion of discovery is not the result of that party's dilatory conduct, the presiding pre-trial judge should allow a minimum of time (i.e., 28 days) to complete specific discovery. A second pre-trial conference should be scheduled immediately following such extended discovery time. If no settlement is reached at the pre-trial conference, the case should immediately be transferred to the assignment judge, who then places the case on the trial call.

This new system seeks to dispose of cases by any means within twenty four (24) months of the date of filing and to dispose of cases by jury verdict within thirty (30) months of the date of filing. The Committee intends to effect this goal in a two-step procedure:

First, by January 1, 1983, to effect disposition of cases within the Law Division within thirty (30) months of filing, and by jury verdict within thirty-six (36) months of filing.

The second step and ultimate goal of disposition by any means is:

Twenty-four (24) months and disposition by jury verdict of thirty (30) months, to be effective by January 1, 1984.

In order to effect the ultimate goal, the Committee believes that a two-step process is necessary due to the numerous cases now pending, and those expected to be filed during the same period of time as the ultimate goals are to be achieved. The Committee concluded its report by emphasizing that only by the assertion of early and continuous judicial control over the caseflow can the "local legal culture" be altered, and the average time for disposition of a case be reduced from the 35.5 months to the established goal of 24 months. It is anticipated that such control would also reduce the average time from complaint to verdict from 51.3 months to 30 months. The Committee stressed that in order to accomplish these goals, it will take the total commitment of the judiciary, the legislature and the bar. In order for the proposed plan of the Committee to be effective, and to achieve the intended objectives, the trial bar must wholeheartedly support the caseflow plan instituted by the Circuit Court of Cook County. Such cooperation is necessary in order to achieve the harmonious relationship between bench and bar which is absolutely essential to fair and equitable case disposition.

The Judicial Conference

The Illinois Constitution provides, in Section 17 of Article VI, that there shall be "an annual judicial conference to consider the work of the courts and to suggest improvements in the administration of justice." Supreme Court Rule 41 implements Section 17 by establishing membership in the Conference, creating an executive committee to assist the Court in conducting the Conference, and appointing the Administrative Office of the Illinois Courts as secretary of the Conference. The rest of the rule is as follows:

"Rule 41. (a) Duties. There shall be a Judicial Conference to consider the business and the problems pertaining to the administration of justice in this State, and to make recommendation for its improvement.

(b) Membership. The judges of the Supreme Court, the judges of the Appellate Court, and the judges of the circuit courts shall be members of the conference.

(c) Executive Committee. The Supreme Court shall appoint an executive committee to assist it in conducting the Judicial Conference.

- (1) The Committee shall consist of six judges from Cook County, the First Judicial District, and six judges from the other judicial districts outside Cook County. A designated Justice of the Supreme Court shall be an ex officio member of the committee. Members shall be appointed for a term of three years.
- (2) Each year the Supreme Court shall designate one of the members of the committee to act as chairperson.
- (3) The committee shall meet at such time and such place as may be necessary, or at the call of the Supreme Court.
- (4) The committee shall recommend to the Supreme Court the appointment of such other committees as are necessary to further the objectives of the conference.
- (5) At least 60 days prior to the date on which the Judicial Conference is to be held the committee shall submit to the Supreme Court a suggested agenda for the annual meeting.

(d) Meetings of Conference. The conference shall meet at least once each year at a place and on a date to be designated by the Supreme Court.

(e) Secretary. The Administrative Office of the Illinois Courts shall be secretary of the conference."

The Judicial Conference membership includes the Supreme Court Justices, Appellate Court Judges and all Circuit Court Judges. The Supreme Court appoints six judges from Cook County and six judges from outside Cook County to serve three year terms on the Executive Committee. In 1981, the Executive Committee members were: Hon. William C. Calvin, Chairman Hon. Harry G. Comerford, Vice-Chairman Hon. Michael C. Close Hon. Mel R. Jiganti Hon George W. Kasserman, Jr. Hon. Helen C. Kinney Hon. Thomas A. McGloon Hon. Joseph Schneider Hon. Joseph Schneider Hon. Harry D. Strouse, Jr. Hon. Vincent W. Tondryk Hon. Frank X. Yackley Hon. Ivan L. Yontz Hon. Robert C. Underwood, Liaison

The Executive Committee meets monthly to plan and supervise the organization of the annual meeting of the Conference, annual Associate Judge Seminar, regional seminars and the activities of the various Judicial Conference study committees. In addition, the Executive Committee considers recommendations relating to the improvement of the administration of justice which arise as a result of the Conference, seminars and committee activities. Those recommendations, if approved, are submitted to the Supreme Court for its consideration.

During the year the Executive Committee activities included:

- 1) Reviewed and approved for submission to the Supreme Court the Performance Standards for Pretrial Services Agencies prepared by the Study Committee on Bail Procedures.
- 2) Reviewed and forwarded to the Supreme Court the summary consideration of the ISBA Juvenile Code proposals prepared by the Juvenile Problems Committee.
- 3) Approved the topics and faculty for the 1981-82 Regional Seminar Series.
- 4) Approved the recommendation of the Subcommittee on Judicial Education that a New Judge Seminar be conducted on an annual, rather than biennial, basis.
- 5) Created an ad hoc committee to study formats for best presenting educational programs on the subject of cameras in the courtroom at the annual meeting of the Conference.
- 6) Approved the recommendation that a Study Committee on Small Claims Courts be appointed.
- 7) Created a special committee to report on the adoption of comparative negligence (Alvis decision) to the judges of the circuit and reviewing courts at the opening session of the annual meeting of the Conference.
- 8) Reviewed the 1981 Associate Judge Seminar program, evaulating new formats and faculty.

 Reviewed on a continuing basis out-of-state continuing education programs for approval of assistance funding for Illinois judges.

1981 Annual Meeting of the Illinois Judicial Conference

The 28th Annual Meeting of the Illinois Judicial Conference was conducted at the Continental Plaza Hotel in Chicago on Wednesday-Friday, September 9-11, 1981. Four hundred and eighteen of the four hundred and thirty-three circuit and reviewing court judges were present. The Honorable William J. Bauer of the U.S. Court of Appeals for the Seventh Circuit made the keynote address at the dinner session. Chief Justice Joseph H. Goldenhersh delivered opening remarks and Justice Seymour Simon conducted the program honoring retired members of the Conference and introducing the new judges.

The entire opening session was dedicated to a discussion of the landmark decision in the Alvis case which judicially adopted the doctrine of comparative negligence in Illinois. The faculty analyzed the holding in Alvis and then attempted to suggest some considerations in dealing with the myriad of substantive and procedural issues which were certain to follow. The extremely well received program was conducted by the following faculty:

Hon. John A. Nordberg, Chairman
Hon. Bruce R. Fawell, Vice-Chairman
Hon. Robert L. Dannehl
Hon. Jacques F. Heilingoetter
Hon. James T. Londrigan
Hon. Irving R. Norman
Prof. Nina S. Appel
Prof. Richard A. Michael
Hon. Robert Ranson, Flint, Michigan
William R. Brandt, Esq., Chairman, IPI Civil Committee

The two and a half hour elective sessions presented by Illinois judicial faculty were offered on the second and third day of the program. The elective topics were:

> Contracts Criminal Law Domestic Relations Evidence Motion Practice Sentencing

1981 Associate Judge Seminar

The annual Associate Judge Seminar programs are prepared by a twelve-member committee appointed by the Executive Committee with the approval of the Supreme Court. The Coordinating Committee for 1981 was comprised of the following judges:

Hon. Richard P. Goldenhersh, Chairman Hon. John J. Hogan, Vice-Chairman Hon. Everette A. Braden Hon. Gino L. DiVito Hon. Rita B. Garman Hon. James L. Harris Hon. James K. Marshall Hon. Robert F. Nix Hon James M. Schreier Hon. Jeanne E. Scott Hon. James J. Wimbiscus Hon. Alphonse F. Witt Hon. Mel R. Jiganti, Liaison

The Associate Judge Seminar was presented at the Continental Plaza in Chicago on Wednesday-Friday, March 25-27, 1981. Two hundred and fifty-eight of the two hundred and seventh-seven associate judges in Illinois were present. Supreme Court Justice Seymour Simon addressed the attendants at the dinner program and Judge Allen Hartman of the Appellate Court, First District spoke at the luncheon program.

Each attendant registered for three of the following elective topics:

Civil Law Criminal Law Domestic Relations Evidence Traffic

Each session was presented by a faculty comprised of associate judges and law professors.

All attendants participated in the opening general session at which Judicial Ethics and Discipline was discussed. A panel of experienced reviewing and trial court judges played their respective roles as members of the committee which drafted the current supreme court rules on judicial ethics, of the Judicial Inquiry Board, and of the Illinois Courts Commission. The panelists for the two and a half hour session were:

Hon. Roy O. Gulley, Moderator Hon. Frederick S. Green Hon. John J. Stamos Hon. Walter P. Dahl

1981 New Judge Seminar

The Subcommittee on Judicial Education recommended that the previously biennial New Judge Seminar should be offered on an annual basis in order to assure that every new judge would have the opportunity, shortly after assuming office, of benefiting from practical sessions conducted by experienced judges. The Executive Committee and the Supreme Court approved of the recommendation. Under the direction of Justice Howard C. Ryan the subcommittee prepared a two and a half day program that was offered in Chicago on Wednesday-Friday, December 2-4, 1981. Forty-two of the forty-three judges who had first assumed judicial office in the year since the 1980 program were in attendance.

The seminar agenda was as follows:

The seminar was notable for the fact that the entire program was conducted by members of the judiciary. Materials were prepared and presented without the assistance of law professors who serve the Judicial Conference in almost all other endeavors. The use of judge faculty only witnesses the practical judicial focus of the sessions.

1981 Regional Seminars

In 1981 the Conference conducted five regional seminar programs. The planning and monitoring of all regional seminars is the responsibility of the Subcommittee on Judicial Education comprised of:

Hon. Harry D. Strouse, Chairman Hon. Harry G. Comerford Hon. Allen Hartman Hon. John A. Nordberg Hon. James K. Robinson Hon. George W. Unverzagt

Each seminar was conducted on a Thursday-Saturday schedule with evening sessions included in the fourteen hours of presentation time. Seminar attendance is voluntary. During the spring three seminars on Equitable and Extraordinary Remedies were offered. A total of 117 judges attended the sessions presented on the following schedule:

February 26-28, 1981 — Springfield April 9-11, 1981 — Collinsville May 21-23, 1981 — Rockford

Reviewing Courts Law Clerk Seminar

In 1981 the Supreme Court determined that it was desirable to sponsor a training seminar for the law clerks of the judges of the Supreme and Appellate Courts. The Court sought and obtained from the legislature funds in its FY 82 budget (July 1, 1981 - June 30, 1982) to conduct the seminar. In July of 1981, the Court appointed a cømmittee of Appellate Court judges to plan the seminar:

Hon. Frederick S. Green (4th Dist.), chairman Hon. Tobias Barry (3rd Dist.) Hon. Calvin C. Campbell (1st Dist.) Hon. Robert J. Downing (1st Dist.) Hon. Charles E. Jones (5th Dist.) Hon. Glenn K. Seidenfeld (2nd Dist.)

Hon. John J. Sullivan (1st Dist.)

Supreme Court Justice Thomas J. Moran was selected as the liaison officer to the planning committee, and the Administrative Office was asked to serve as secretary.

The planning committee convened twice and, after much deliberation, decided:

- (1) The seminar should be a training program for newly employed law clerks, and this eligibility guideline was established — "Law clerks having less than one year clerking experience (when the seminar convenes) but at least six months remaining on their terms as clerks, and prospective law clerks satisfying the foregoing criteria who have been contracted for before October 1 and who will commence employment not later than January."
- (2) The judges of the Supreme and Appellate Courts would be invited to send to the seminar their law clerks who met the eligibility guideline. (Each of the 7 Supreme Court judges and 42 Appellate Court judges employs two law clerks.)
- (3) The subjects to be offered at the seminar, the reading and research materials, and the faculty should emphasize Illinois appellate practice and procedure, and skills reviewing court judges expect of law clerks.
- (4) The seminar should be held in Chicago during the month of October, and should last two days. The Continental Plaza Hotel was selected as the seminar site, and October 13 and 14 were selected as the seminar dates.

The committee then finalized its plans, selecting specific topics and faculty to present same.

On October 13 and 14, 1981, the first Supreme and Appellate Law Clerks Seminar was held. Sixty law clerks attended and participated in the program. The program topics and faculty were:

- Welcome and Orientation Appellate Judge Frederick S. Green, chairman of the planning committee.
- Session I: Effective Writing retired Supreme Court Judge Walter V. Schaefer.
- Session II: Illinois Appellate Procedure Appellate Judge Charles E. Jones.
- Session III: Special Legal Writing Problems Encountered by New Law Clerks — George T. Cenar, research director of the First District Appellate Court, and Stephen Davis Porter, reporter of decisions.
- Session IV: Conduct & Professional Responsibility of the Law Clerk — Appellate Judge John J. Stamos (1st Dist.), and Ann L. Keefe, law clerk to Appellate Judge Tobias Barry.

The seminar sessions lasted from 1½ to 3 hours, and each topic was principally presented by lecture, followed by a question and answer period. In addition, at the October 13th dinner program former Circuit Judge Philip W. Tone, of the U.S. Court of Appeals (7th Circuit), addressed the law clerks.

Each law clerk received reading and reference materials which consisted of: Appellate Practice Handbook (1981 ed.), prepared by the Illinois Appellate Lawyers Association; Legal Writing and Research for Appellate Law Clerks, taken from chapter 7 of the ABA's manual for new law clerks; Select Bibliography of Illinois Research Sources, compiled by Judge Tobias Barry and Senior Research Attorney Marilyn J. Weissman; Compilation of Commonly Cited Illinois Decisions, drafted by George T. Cenar; Utilization of Illinois Issues and Digests Indices, prepared by Appellate Court Coordinator Edward J. Schoenbaum; and Illinois Style Manual (1981 ed.), authored by Stephen Davis Porter.

Over all the seminar was favorably received by the law clerks. Whether the seminar will become an annual event will be determined by the Supreme Court and continued funding from the legislature.

THE COURTS COMMISSION

In prior annual reports to the Supreme Court, particularly the 1975 Annual Report, the history and course of judicial discipline in Illinois were extensively related and will not, therefore, be repeated here. See also Prefatory Note in 1 Ill. Cts. Com., pages ix-xxii. Since July 1, 1971, disciplinary proceedings against judicial officers have been bifurcated: the Judicial Inquiry Board, composed of nine members, which includes four lay-persons and three lawyers appointed by the Governor, and two Circuit Judges appointed by the Supreme Court, conducts investigations against judges, files formal voted complaints against judges with the Courts Commission, and prosecutes the voted complaints before the Courts Commission. The Courts Commission, composed of five judges, is limited to hearing the complaints filed by the Judicial Inquiry Board, to making findings, and to entering dispositive orders of dismissal or of imposition of sanctions. Upon a finding against a respondent-judicial officer, the Courts Commission, after notice and public hearing, may "remove from office, suspend without pay, censure or reprimand a Judge or Associate Judge for willful misconduct in office, persistent failure to perform his duties, or other conduct that is prejudicial to the administration of justice or that brings the judicial office into disrepute, or . . . to suspend with or without pay, or retire a Judge or Associate Judge who is physically or mentally unable to perform his duties." Ill. Const. art. VI, §15(e).

The judicial officers who have been appointed as members of the judicial disciplinary entities are, as of December 31, 1981:

Appointed by the Supreme Court to the Judicial Inquiry Board:

Circuit Judge Philip B. Benefiel, Second Judicial Circuit Circuit Judge Robert Chapman Buckley, Cook County

- Appointed by the Supreme Court to the Courts Commission:
- *Supreme Court Justice Howard C. Ryan (chairman) *Circuit Judge James C. Murray, Cook County

*Circuit Judge Rodney A. Scott, Sixth Judicial Circuit

- Circuit Judge Arthur L. Dunne, Cook County (alternate)
- Circuit Judge John E. Sype, Seventh Judicial Circuit (alternate)
- Appointed by the Appellate Court to the Courts Commission:
- *Appellate Court Judge Francis S. Lorenz, First Judicial District
- *Appellate Court Judge Charles E. Jones, Fifth Judicial District
- Appellate Court Judge Thomas A. McGloon, First Judicial District (alternate)
- Appellate Court Judge Allan L. Stouder, Third Judicial District (alternate)
- (However, the Appellate Court directed that Judge

Glenn K. Seidenfeld (Second Judicial District), who was a member of the Courts Commission when case number 80-CC-4 was heard, would remain a member of the Commission for the purpose of disposition of that matter.)

*Present members of the Courts Commission.

Pursuant to rule of the Commission, the Administrative Director, Roy O. Gulley, is the Commission secretary.

During 1981, no formal complaints were filed by the Judicial Inquiry Board with the Courts Commission; one complaint filed in 1980 was decided in 1981; in another complaint filed and decided in 1980, the Board filed in 1981 a motion for reconsideration on which the Commission ruled in 1981; and the Commission heard but did not decide during 1981 still another complaint which had been filed in 1980.

Before reciting the activities of the Courts Commission for 1981, several other matters relating to judicial discipline should be mentioned. First, as alluded to above, the Judicial Inquiry Board filed a motion for reconsideration in In re Nielsen, 80-CC-1, which the Commission denied on February 13, 1981. The Board then filed in the supreme Court a motion for leave to file a petition for an original writ of mandamus. On June 29, 1981 the Court allowed leave to file and the matter was argued in November of 1981. The Court is expected to file an opinion during 1982. People ex rel. Judicial Inquiry Board v. Ill. Courts Com., S. Ct. Doc. 54765. Essentially, the Board contends the Commission should have imposed sanctions against the respondent-judge instead of dismissing the complaint, in light of the Commission's finding that the respondent erred, albeit his conduct did not demonstrate either a general attitude of arbitrariness or gross abuse of the rules of judicial conduct.

Second, as noted in the Annual Reports for 1979 and 1980, the Supreme Court appointed the Committee to Study the Provisions of Supreme Court Rules 61-71. The Committee, co-chaired by Appellate Court Judges John J. Stamos and John M. Karns, Jr., consists of nine judicial officers and is charged with making "such recommendations for the modification [of Rules 61-71] as may appear appropriate" (M.R. 2362). The Committee's work directly relates to judicial discipline, for the Supreme Court has ruled that only conduct violative of Rules 61-71 may be the subject of a complaint filed by the Board with the Courts Commission. People ex rel. Harrod v. Ill. Courts Com. (1977), 69 Ill. 2d 445. The Committee completed its work and filed its report during 1981. The Committee's recommendations are discussed elsewhere in this Report.

Third, in 1980 the Courts Commission authorized publication of its orders and opinions in a permanent bound volume. The American Judicature Society avers that Illinois is the first, and thus far the only, State to collect and publish the decisions of its judicial disciplinary body in an official reports. The Official Illinois Courts Commission Reports contains: (1) a table of reported cases and a list of orders and opinions filed by the Courts Commission, (2) the roster of past and present members of the Commission, (3) a prefatory note concisely relating the history of Illinois judicial disciplinary procedures since 1964, (4) an appendix containing the rules of procedure of the Commission and the rules of judicial conduct of the Supreme Court, (5) opinions, preceded by syllabi, filed by the Courts Commission since 1964, and (6) an index. During late 1980 and 1981, the Official Reports was distributed to each Illinois judicial officer as well as to newly elected and appointed judges.

The 1981 activities of the Illinois Courts Commission were:

- (1) Complaint 80-CC-1 was dismissed by the Commission on December 29, 1980 (see 1980 Annual Report 59), and on February 13, 1981 the Commission by supplemental opinion denied the Judicial Inquiry Board's motion for reconsideration. The Commission's decision is the subject of a pending action in the Supreme Court. People ex rel. Ill. Judicial Inquiry Board v. Ill. Courts Com., S. Ct. Doc. 54765.
- (2) Complaint 80-CC-3 charged an Associate Judge of the Circuit Court of Cook County with conduct that was prejudicial to the administration of justice and brought the judicial office into disrepute in that he, while visiting his summer home, interfered with a police officer's duty by attempting to dissuade the officer from issuing traffic tickets to his son and another; he verbally and physically assaulted the officer; and he attempted to compromise the officer's filing of criminal charges against him. The complaint alleged the respondent violated Supreme Court Rule 61(c)(4).

On July 16, 1981, the Commission held that "the conduct of the respondent, in shouting threats at the deputy [sheriff], constituted a violation of Rule 61(c)(4). However, we find this single violation, provoked as it was by the wrongful ticketing of the respondent's son for a traffic offense, does not call for the imposition of discipline upon the respondent." The Commission then dismissed the complaint. On August 17, 1981, the Judicial Inquiry Board filed a motion for reconsideration. On the Board's motion, the Commission suspended a ruling "until after the final determination" in People ex rel. 111. Judiciary Inquiry Board v. 111. Courts Com., S. Ct. Doc. 54765.

(3) Complaint 80-CC-4 charged a Judge of the Appellate Court for the Fifth Judicial District with conduct that was prejudicial to the administration of justice and that brought the judicial office into disrepute in that he, when stopped and arrested by a police officer for driving under the influence of alcohol and improper lane usage, advised the officer he was a judge; he then verbally abused the officer and refused to cooperate with the police; and he aided and abetted violations of law and participated in the circumvention, frustration and obstruction of legal and judicial process by, inter alia, taking custody of his arrest records and the complaints charging the traffic offenses. The charges were never prosecuted. The complaint charged the respondent with violating Supreme Court Rules 61(b) and 61(c)(4).

During July of 1981 the Commission heard Complaint 80-CC-4 and then ordered the parties to submit written arguments and briefs. As of December 31, 1981, the parties had submitted briefs, etc. but additional filings are anticipated. It is expected the Commission will decide this matter in mid-1982.

During the period July 1, 1971 through December 31, 1981, the Judicial Inquiry Board had filed 32 formal complaints with the Courts Commission. The dispositions of the complaints by the Commission were as follows:

- 3
-13

In the several annual and supplemental reports of the Judicial Inquiry Board, it is noted that the overwhelming number of complaints received about judges is unmeritorious. The reports further state that each communication complaining about a judge's conduct is carefully examined; however, "relatively few of the communications justify further action by the Board" because persons "who have had a disappointing experience in the courts or have lost a case... are sometimes inclined to an exaggerated idea of the power of the Board to rectify what they regard as a miscarriage of justice."

Nevertheless, the power of the Board and the application of that power has caused some concern, particularly among the judiciary. That concern has been expressed by Justice Robert C. Underwood in a law review article, 47 Notre Dame Lawyer 247:

"While the creation of the Judicial Inquiry Board was opposed by the members of the Supreme Court as unnecessary, and as creating a potential threat to the independence of the judicial branch of government, I am sure that the members to be appointed will be selected with care and will be sincere, conscientious individuals, aware of the seriousness of their responsibilities. It is their constitutional obligation to maintain the confidentiality of all complaints until such time as a formal charge, if warranted, is filed against a judge. A working knowledge of the judicial process will be imperative for the Board members if they are to distinguish between improper judicial conduct as opposed to mere dissatisfaction with a judicial ruling or opinion. While a potential threat to judicial independence has been created, I trust that will never become a reality. That independence can, in fact, be enhanced if the Board performs its duties in a responsible, impartial and nonsensational manner."

What the future holds for the judges of Illinois relating to the regulation of the judiciary is difficult to perceive. The overwhelming majority of judicial officers are men and women of high integrity, honesty, virtue and selfdiscipline for hard work and devotion to their judicial duties. Judges are human beings with the same virtues and failings of other professional people; but because they are public servants, they are rightly held to a high degree of trust and confidence.

The Administrative Office

Introduction

The Administrative Office of the Illinois Courts (see Appendix B for historical development) is established pursuant to Article VI, Section 16 of the Constitution of 1970, to assist the Chief Justice to carry out his duties in exercising the administrative and supervisory authority of the Supreme Court over all the courts.

The functions of the Administrative Office cannot be exhaustively delineated, for the Supreme Court's administrative authority encompasses every aspect of the judicial system. However, these functions can be generally described as including personnel, fiscal management, continuing judicial education, records and statistics, secretariat, liaison with the legislative and executive branches, management of court facilities and equipment, research and planning. Within each of these categories fall the specific function of the Administrative Office which are reported in greater detail in this report. It is interesting to note that the functions of the Administrative Office, as they have developed since 1959, correspond very closely to those established in the 1974 A.B.A. Standards Relating to Court Organization (Standard 1.41) for state court administrative offices:

"(1) Preparation of standards and procedures for the recruitment, evaluation, promotion, in-service training, and discipline of all personnel in the court system, other than judges and judicial officers.

(2) Financial administration of the system, including budget preparation and administration, accounting and auditing.

(3) Management of the court system's continuing education programs for judges, judicial officers, and non-judicial personnel.

(4) Promulgation and administration of uniform requirements concerning records and information systems and statistical compilations and controls.

(5) Secretariat, including acting as secretary to the judicial council and judicial conference and their committees, arranging meetings of the judiciary, disseminating reports, bulletins, and other official information, and rendering annual and other periodic reports on behalf of the court system.

(6) Liaison for the court system as a whole with the legislature and the chief executive, and with the bar, the news media, and the general public.

(7) Supervision of construction of major physical facilities and establishment of standards and procedures for acquisition of equipment, incidental facilities, and purchased services.

(8) Research for planning for future needs.

(9) Management of the staff of the central administrative office."

The Administrative Office is also responsible for the administration of several programs pursuant to specific Supreme Court rules: (1) temporary licensing of senior law students (Rule 711); (2) impartial medical expert program (Rule 215); (3) teller of elections of Associate Judges (Rule 39); (4) secretary to the Judicial Conference (Rule 41) and Conference of Chief Circuit Judges (Rule 42); (5) custodian of judicial statements of economic interest (Rule 68) and (6) repository of Appellate and Circuit Court rules (Rule 21).

In addition, the Supreme Court has designated the Administrative Office as secretary to the Supreme Court Rules Committee, and the Courts Commission has designated the Administrative Office as secretary in all proceedings before the Commission.

In 1978, a Probation Division was established in the Administrative Office to implement the probation officer salary subsidy and other responsibilities provided for in P.A. 80-1483.

In 1981, the Supreme Court approved the addition of Judicial Management Information staff to the Administrative Office. This staff is responsible for planning and coordinating the installation of an automated recordkeeping system in the reviewing courts and assisting the trial courts in planning and installing automated recordkeeping systems which meet the Supreme Court's published Standards and Guidelines.

Personnel

The Administrative Office maintains two offices — the headquarters in Springfield and a second office in Chicago.

During 1981, the staff of the Administrative Office totaled forty-four. In addition to the Director, the staff includes: one Deputy Director, five Assistant Directors, one Supervisor of Accounting, one Supervisor of Probation, two Administrative Assistants, three Assistant Supervisors, five Information System Specialists, two Trainers, one Statistician, thirteen Accountants, seven Secretaries, one File Clerk, and one Messenger.

Accounting Division

The Administrative Office's unified accounting division was established on October 1, 1963. The organization of the accounting division served as the basis for transforming the former fragmented system of accounting for funds expended by the court system into an integrated system accountable for all funds appropriated by the General Assembly to the State judicial system. Upon the establishment of the accounting division, the Supreme Court appointed Jeanne Meeks as supervisor who, with the assistance of her staff, has maintained strict control of the disbursal of appropriated funds. The division is located in the Springfield office. General Revenue funds appropriated to the Supreme Court which are monitored by the accounting division cover salaries for all judges, appellate law clerks, court reporters, clerks of the Supreme and Appellate Courts and related personnel. In addition, there are appropriations for payment of the operational costs for the Supreme and Appellate Courts, Administrative Office, Judicial Conference, Impartial Medical Program, travel for judges and court reporters, transcription fees, and probation officer salary subsidies.

It is not possible to exhaustively define the many duties of the accounting division, for the accounting procedures of documenting, verifying and summarizing are indeed numerous. The accounting division's primary function is to properly approve, audit, process and record all judicial expenditures drawn on each of the appropriations.

Though the division operates as a unit, its functions can be categorized as budget, payroll, vouchers, insurance, property control, fiscal reports, deposits of, funds, and finally, reconciliation of the division's ledgers as opposed to Comptroller printouts.

A brief description of each of the previously mentioned components will identify the accountability of the division.

Some of the rudiments in computing annual budgets are perusing and comparing expenditures over a three year span, incorporating specific needs over and above the ordinary obligatory requirements, and applying the cost of living index wherever necessary. Each new budget is prepared when only three months of the current fiscal year have passed. Expenses incurred in the first month of a new fiscal year are generally not received for processing until the second month. This fact results in the availability of merely two months of expenses as a basis for accumulating supportive data for the preparation of the new budget.

Budget forms represent the anticipated funds which will be needed to operate the judicial system in the new Fiscal Year. Each appropriation is studied and carefully computed, using expenditures for past, current, and anticipated future costs as a barometer. Each line item within the total budget is calculated as nearly as possible for the exact amounts required. Requests in each of the line items for each appropriation are justified with a succinct written explanation which accompanies the completed budget forms. All budget forms, object code forms, back-up sheets, written justifications, etc. are arranged in book form. After much detailed compilation, the annual budgets for the Supreme Court and allied appropriations are finalized and delivered to the Bureau of the Budget. The completion date for submitting budgets to the Bureau of the Budget is December of each year.

The accounting division prepares the necessary appropriation legislation. Staff members of the Senate and House of Representatives review the budget carefully for the purpose of recommending reductions, approvals or disapprovals of every budgetary request contained within the total budget. Conferences are held with these staff members prior to the committee hearings. The Supervisor then appears with the Director before the appropriation committees of the General Assembly to provide information and answer questions relating to the proposed budget.

The payroll section computes all deductions affecting warrants such as Federal and State withholding tax, judicial and state employees' retirement, bonds, and state employees' insurance. This section adds new employees to respective payrolls and deletes resigned, retired, and deceased personnel on a semi-monthly and monthly basis. Other payroll functions of the accounting division are to maintain payroll controls, registers and ledgers, and make monthly entries in posting ledgers for each employee with a cumulative balance.

Although statutorily the fiscal year ends June 30th of each year, there is a three month extension of time to allow for payment of all encumbrances contracted prior to July 1st. This means that during the period July through September of each year, the need for careful accounting is greater as there are two fiscal years for which funds are being disbursed.

All vouchers submitted are categorized according to the fiscal year and are thoroughly checked against vendor records to avoid duplicate payment. Routinely, each voucher must be audited according to the administrative standards set within the office. Any discrepancies concerning statements or vouchers are corrected through correspondence or returned for correction. The pre-audit procedures are extensive and are applied before the voucher is processed for payment. The accounting division processes over 20,000 vouchers per annum. Included in this figure are vouchers for judges and court reporters travel expenses as well as transcription fee vouchers. Each of the travel vouchers is checked for proper charges for mileage, lodging, food, receipts and signatures. Transcription fees are audited pursuant to the number of transcript pages and are checked against previous vouchers to avoid duplicate payment.

The State Employees' Insurance Act mandates that all state employees are entitled to insurance coverage pursuant to the master policy on file with the Insurance Commission. Additional duties created by this statute fall within the division. Each employee's record must be perused monthly to establish age, which affects insurance rates. Accordingly, changes in rate automatically dictate adjustments in the payrolls. Also, requests for insurance claims must be handled in the division. There are detailed insurance reports covering transactions under the various options contained in the types of health and life insurance for which each member has subscribed. These intricate reports are furnished to the Insurance Commission on a semi-monthly and monthly basis.

All equipment purchased with State funds must be procured in accordance with the State Property Act of Illinois. Tag numbers are affixed to each item, recorded and reported to the Property Control Agency promptly upon payment to the vendors. Monthly reports are reconciled and any discrepancy is pursued and corrected.

Each month all ledgers are balanced with internal controls and those figures are transferred in report form. Copies of the monthly report reflecting the expenditures from each appropriation are furnished to the members of the Supreme Court and the Director. The section of the report relating to each budgetary division in the judicial system is provided to its administrative head.

Subsequent to the close of business of each fiscal year, all ledgers and in-house records are closed and a final fiscal report is filed with the appropriate department. This report discloses the amount of the appropriation, expenditures, and lapses in the appropriation. This report, coupled with in-house statistics, also serves to aid in projecting costs for the forthcoming year.

Pursuant to statute, all cash received in the various departments is deposited in the State Treasury under its respective account number. Ledgers are maintained and all monthly reports are reconciled with the Comptroller and Treasurer. Typical examples of the intake of cash are filing fees, appearance fees, etc.

This division complies with the fiscal policies, accounting principles, controls, operating procedures and reporting requirements of the Comptroller's Unified Statewide Accounting System. Monthly printouts which are produced by the State Comptroller pertinent to cash receipts, obligations, contracts, and appropriation expenditures are reconciled with the in-house records maintained in the accounting division.

The Illinois Constitution of 1970 initiated a fundamental change in the auditing program for the State of Illinois. The new Constitution abolished the office of the Auditor of Public Accounts and established the office of the Comptroller and the office of the Auditor General.

The Auditor General is responsible for the post-audit function in state government and is mandated to do a financial audit of every state agency at least every two years.

In 1973, the Illinois General Assembly passed the Illinois State Auditing Act and expanded the concept of auditing. It includes not only financial and fiscal auditing but also performance and managerial auditing. Effectiveness and efficiency are the bywords of auditing today. It is no longer concerned simply with accounting, but more importantly, with accountability.

To date, the accounting division has maintained a high degree of efficiency and accountability for proper administration of funds and has received favorable audits entirely void of recommendations for amending its procedures.

PROBATION DIVISION

(Background)

A substantial step toward establishing a system of professional probation services in Illinois was taken in 1978. "An Act in relation to subsidy for probation officers" (P.A. 80-1483), Ill. Rev. Stat., ch. 37, par. 706-7; ch. 38, pars. 204-6, 204-7, places, within the Administrative Office, certain responsibilities and authority to improve probation services. The provisions of the Act are consistent with recommendations developed by the Committee on Probation and approved by the Executive Committee of the Judicial Conference in 1974. The Act authorizes the Administrative Office to:

- Establish and monitor hiring and promotional standards for state subsidized adult and juvenile probation officers.
- 2. Provide up to $400 per month state salary subsidy for qualified probation officers.
- 3. Establish a uniform recordkeeping system and forms.
- 4. Establish a system of collecting uniform statistical information on probation services.
- 5. Establish a system for training to improve the quality of probation services throughout the state.
- 6. Seek the cooperation of local and state government and private agencies to improve the quality of probation services.

To implement the Act, a Probation Division was established within the Administrative Office. The Division is based in Springfield and is staffed by one Supervisor, two Assistant Supervisors, and three Secretaries.

(Standards)

During 1981, the staff of the Probation Division, working with the Standards Committee of the Illinois Probation and Court Services Association, moved forward with a plan to develop a comprehensive set of Model Standards for adult and juvenile probation and court services departments.

These standards are in addition to the standards for hiring and promotion contained in the Administrative Regulations Governing Minimum Qualifications for Illinois Probation Personnel which govern eligibility for state probation subsidy reimbursement and the Advisory Standards for Probation and Court Services Departments which were developed by an adhoc committee of probation officers in 1980 and adopted by the Advisory Committee on Minimum Qualifications for Probation Officers.

The new Model Standards address almost all aspects of professional probation practice including organization, administration, personnel, training, fiscal management, investigation and supervision.

The Model Standards are scheduled for completion in March of 1982 and will be published and distributed by the Probation Division.

(Subsidy Reimbursement)

During 1981, the number of counties receiving probation subsidy remained at 94. Eight small Illinois counties still do not participate in the state probation subsidy program because they employ probation officers on a parttime basis and are therefore not eligible for reimbursement.

Probation subsidy was made to Illinois counties as reimbursement for 1,287 probation officers in January, 1981. This number increased to 1,310 by December, 1981. Since the probation subsidy program began in January, 1979, the number of probation and court services personnel has increased by 140 or 12%.

Probation subsidy reimbursement to Illinois counties totaled $6,182,750 during calendar 1981, an average of $515,229 per month.

(Statistics)

In June, 1981, the Division published and distributed to probation departments, Chief Judges, and interested state agencies a forty-three page comprehensive statistical report on Illinois Probation and Court Services for calendar year 1980.

This report revealed that there were 1,227 professional probation staff persons and 447 clerical support personnel employed in Illinois probation offices during county fiscal year 1980-1981.

Probation and court services budgets, excluding detention and child care, totaled $29,726,266 for county fiscal year 1980-1981, an increase of $2.85 million over the previous year.

Illinois probation officers completed 11,217 adult presentence investigations and 3,632 other adult investigations during 1980 in addition to 11,605 juvenile social history investigations and 3,213 other juvenile related investigations.

The adult probation caseload in Illinois totaled 64,698 on December 31, 1980. The caseload was comprised of 30,377 felons, 28,589 misdemeanants, 2,339 traffic, 2,391 Interstate Compact, and 614 supervised pretrial release cases.

The juvenile caseload under supervision on December 31, 1980, totaled 12,928 including 807 informal cases.

Statistical reporting forms from county probation and court services departments for calendar 1981 have just been received and are being tabulated. Statistical reporting forms for 1981 were modified to allow for monthly data collection on the local level in an effort to improve accuracy and timely collection of data. The forms for recording data on probation violations were totally revised and a new report was developed to collect information on the amount of restitution collected from adult and juvenile probationers in each county.

(Training)

The Probation Division continued its professionaltraining program through contractual arrangement as it has done since its inception. During calendar year 1981, three contractors were engaged to provide professional training to Illinois probation and court services personnel. The Probation Division continued its practice of providing both basic and advanced training to chief managing officers.

The major contractor with the Probation Division is Sangamon State University. Contractual provisions call for the University to provide residential training for all Illinos probation and court services departments outside of Cook County. During 1981, Sangamon State University conducted 20 programs throughout the state. Five hundred seventy-two probation officers attended these programs for a total of 13,440 participant training hours. The total cost for this training was $223,222. Professional training for probation and court services personnel in Cook County is provided through a contract with the Court Personnel Training and Development Section of the Cook County Department of Personnel. Most of this training is non-residential, resulting in far less expense. During 1981, the Court Personnel Training and Development Section conducted 32 programs of various lengths for 717 registrants at a cost of $70,470.

A new training contract was given to Illinois State University during 1981. This contract is for a special assignment of developing an Illinois Probation Case Classification System and training up to 10 probation departments in use of this system. During the year, the University conducted five programs for 57 officers at a total cost of $15,004.

During the year, the Probation Division conducted two basic training programs for 28 chief managing officers. The total cost was $15,312 for 1,120 training hours.

For the year 1981, training costs for Illinois probation and court services personnel totaled $324,009. These costs supported 59 training programs for 1,374 participants.

(Technical Assistance)

In a continuing effort to assist state and local government in improving the quality of probation services in the state of Illinois, the Division has engaged in providing technical assistance to county departments of probation and court services by conducting indepth probation management studies focusing on organization, operation, service delivery and programs.

These studies are undertaken in response to specific requests from the Chief Judges of the respective circuits. During the period from January 1, 1981 through December 31, 1981, the staff of the Probation Division completed and published probation management studies of two Illinois counties.

In addition, the Division staff responded to requests for technical assistance regarding specific problems from 38 counties. This technical assistance focused on such areas as setting up probation management information systems, development of public service employment programs, juvenile intake screening units, detention operation, restitution and home detention programs and many others.

During 1981, staff of the Division began a new service of caseload audits. This involved a case by case review of all adult and juvenile case files in counties requesting this service. The purpose of these audits was to identify those cases being carried as active by probation departments that were on transfer, absconder or warrant status or could meet reasonable criteria for early discharge. Three Illinois counties requested and received this service during 1981 and more than 1,000 cases were reviewed.

The supervisor of the Probation Division served on the following advisory boards and committees during 1981:

- Illinois Commission on Children Committee on Youth and the Law
- Illinois League of Women Voters Juvenile Court Watching Project
- Advisory Board Treatment Alternatives to Street Crimes
- Public Affairs Advisory Board Continental Broadcasting Company

Division staff also provided technical assistance to and worked with:

- Illinois Probation and Court Services Association
- Lutheran Welfare Services
- Illinois Department of Corrections
- University of Illinois
- Sangamon State University
- Illinois Department of Children and Family Services
- Illinois Judicial Conference Juvenile Problems Committee

(Interstate Compact)

Since July 1, 1979, the Probation Division has been responsible for the administration of the probation portion of the Interstate Compact for the Supervision of Parolees and Probationers. (III. Rev. Stat. 1977, ch. 38, par. 1003-3-11 et. seq.)

Between January 1, and December 31, 1981, the Division received and processed 16,362 requests for information and/or assistance as provided by the Interstate Compact agreement.

As of December 31, 1981, there were 2,192 Illinois probationers being supervised out-of-state and 2,780 out-ofstate probationers being supervised in Illinois.

(Monitoring)

In order to assure total compliance with the statutory and regulatory requirements for receiving probation subsidy, the Division has continued to maintain personnel and training records on all probation and court services personnel receiving subsidy, and monitoring new hirings, promotions, and terminations on a daily basis.

The monitoring function includes field visits to probation departments to examine personnel records and ensure compliance with subsidy requirements.

(Public Information and Education)

The staff of the Division are frequently asked to address civic groups, legislative commissions, professional associations and public forums. Organizations addressed during 1981 include:

- Illinois Correctional Association
- Illinois Probation and Court Services Association
- Illinois Sheriff's Association
- Urban Counties Council of Illinois
- Lake County Juvenile Officers Association.

Judicial Management Information Systems

Appellate Information System Project

Processing more cases in a speedier manner has become an absolute necessity in our intermediate appellate court. The number of cases being appealed has increased dramatically in the past fifteen years.

Although the appellate court has improved its case processing procedures with some changes in rules and by greater effort on the part of the judges and their staffs, by 1978 it had become apparent that careful case monitoring and speedier dispositions required the use of mechanical devices. Systems analyses were begun in that year of the office procedures in the First and Fourth Districts. The analyses showed the feasibility of developing a judicial management information system and the Supreme Court directed the Administrative Office to develop such a system.

In early 1980, the Illinois Supreme Court Committee on Criminal Justice Programs, at the direction of the Administrative Office with approval from the Supreme Court, submitted two grant applications to the Illinois Law Enforcement Commission. One application sought funds to purchase electronic data processing equipment and software to be installed in the First and Fourth Districts. The other requested money to hire staff with the analytical, programming and systems expertise to make the equipment functional. Both grants were awarded, with each beginning on July 1, 1980, and lasting for one year.

Between January and March, 1981, five people were hired — one management analyst, three data processing specialists and one secretary/trainer. A second management analyst was already on the staff of the Supreme Court committee and another secretary/trainer was hired in May. Under the supervision of the Project Director, the staff was split into two teams.

The technical team assisted in developing a Request for Proposal (RFP). The RFP specified for vendors the scope of the Appellate Information System.

Installation of prototype case recordkeeping and management systems in the First and Fourth Districts was specified as the first stage for development. Case management was defined as including docket information on case records and events, operational lists and notices, management reports and statistics, financial accounts and administrative reports and transmittals.

Interested vendors were informed that a software package (PROMIS) developed by the Institute for Law and Social Research (INSLAW) had been selected to accomplish the case recordkeeping and management function. Vendors also were informed that the case recordkeeping and management system, after being tested in the First and Fourth Districts, would be expanded to the remaining three districts. Additional functions were enumerated as possibilities for system development, including word processing, issues indexing, electronic mail, photocomposition, Illinois legal research and national legal research.

Participating vendors submitted proposals for addressing the various functions. After the technical team, in conjunction with a technical review committee, evaluated each proposal and submitted findings to an Appellate Review and Evaluation Committee, the Supreme Court Committee announced that, contingent upon successful contract negotiations, the award had been made to International Business Machines (IBM).

Following the selection of IBM as the supplier of the computer hardware, the technical team began a detailed review of IBM's hardware, software and educational offerings. The team examined the reasons for the decisions made by IBM in developing its proposal and explored every available alternative. The performance, flexibility, availability and ease of use of each hardware device and software package were analyzed in terms of both current and future needs. The technical team also contacted users of similar hardware and software and IBM personnel.

In addition to reviewing what was available from IBM, the technical team studied the PROMIS system. They visited INSLAW headquarters in Washington, D.C., reviewed all the PROMIS documentation and discussed the system with INSLAW staff. They also visited an installation in Prince George County, Maryland, to see an actual PROMIS application operating on IBM hardware equivalent to that proposed for the Appellate Information System. During this same time period, the management team had been given the task of identifying Appellate Court procedures, documents and information requirements, specifically in the areas of records processing and maintenance, operational and statistical reports, and finance. While only operations in the First and Fourth Districts were to be automated in the first phase, the team had to verify that the proposed system for those two districts would be compatible with existing manual systems in the remaining districts. The verification was necessary to assure that, if approval were given, expansion of the projects into the other districts would be possible.

The study was divided into two parts. In the offices of the First and Fourth District Appellate Court clerks, the team conducted an intensive review and documentation of procedures and paperflow. In the Second, Third and Fifth District offices, the team reviewed the procedures and paperflow to verify that projected expansion of the project was practicable. By June 30th, the team had spoken with virtually every employee in each of the five offices of the Appellate Court and had documented every event affecting a case from point of filing to disposition, except for the adjudicative process itself. By the conclusion of this exhaustive review, the team had confirmed that procedural variations among the districts were minor and, in no instance, did they present an obstacle in designing a single automated system for use by all the districts.

Contract negotiations were conducted during the months of April and May, resulting in a signed master contract on June 15, 1981. The IBM hardware that would support operations in the Fourth District was installed in Springfield at 840 South Spring Street on July 30. Less than two weeks later, the IBM hardware for the First District was installed in the Daley Center in Chicago. The technical team oversaw the installations and then began the task of modifying the PROMIS system in accord with the information provided by the management team.

Because of the demise of federal funding, the Supreme Court Committee on Criminal Justice programs ceased to function in mid 1981. In anticipation of this, the Supreme Court authorized the Administrative Director to seek appropriated funds from the General Assembly in FY 82 (July 1, 1981), to continue the automation effort. The funds were appropriated by the legislature and the Judicial Management Information Services became the responsibility of the Administrative Office. The Project Director was named as an Assistant Director and the staff was absorbed into the Administrative Office.

The management and technical teams intensified the process of tailoring the PROMIS software package to conform with the design specifications. Representatives from all five districts of the Appellate Court met in Chicago to participate in a one-day system demonstration. Suggestions made during the demonstration subsequently were incorporated into the system. The Administrative Director has signed contract amendments which will upgrade the Springfield machine by doubling its storage capacity and nearly doubling its operating speed. Communications capabilities also were included. The upgrade will allow the Springfield machine to support the Second, Third and Fifth Districts as well as the Fourth District. Each of the Districts will be linked by an advanced telecommunications system to allow staff to perform its support work.

The staff will begin training clerk personnel in the First and Fourth Districts during February, 1982. The introduction of automated equipment into the Clerks' offices will be the only change that the Clerks' personnel will undergo at this time. To enable as smooth a transition as possible, the automated system has been designed to parallel the existing manual system. Since training will be conducted on an individual basis, major training and transition difficulties are not anticipated.

The First and Fourth Districts will maintain both manual and automated systems until such times as the Clerks are satisfied that the automated system functions properly and that the people operating the system are comfortable with it. Following this test period, no further information will be posted manually; all cases will be recorded solely on the automated system.

Circuit Information System Project

Over the last eighteen years, partially through the use of LEAA funds awarded by the Illinois Law Enforcement Commission, more than twenty counties established various automated data processing systems of applications to support court operations. Predictably, each of these systems developed along a separate path, using different consultants, equipment and programs. In view of these developments, the Supreme Court, in 1978, adopted the Judicial Management Information System Standards. These Standards are premised on the same considerations, such as uniformity, accuracy and reliability in recordkeeping and reporting, that prompted the development and adoption of the Supreme Court Administrative Order on Recordkeeping.

The Standards provide that any circuit plans for initiating or significantly modifying a judicial management information system must be approved by the Administrative Office. This provision was included to insure compliance with the Standards and establish a mechanism which can determine whether existing or proposed systems meet the information requirements of the circuit and the Administrative Office.

Continued study of and communication with the various data processing projects by the Administrative Office is resulting in a unified approach to the development of these systems. In order to insure that automated records, statistics, reports and forms will be compatible and uniform, the Administrative Office is supporting five major projects.

The first project, entitled the Judicial Management Information System Study, identified and developed realistic plans for the future management and automation of court records. This project was undertaken as a logical consequence of five years of study of automated court systems in Illinois and other states, technological trends and projected future needs. The contract for this project was awarded to Arthur Young & Company in 1980.

Experiences from other states and within Illinois have indicated that the best way to approach court automation is to allow the people who will use the system judges, clerks, probation officers, court administrators and agencies receiving information from the courts and the people who will finance the system — legislators and county board members - to design the system through their individual input regarding ongoing activities, needs and problems. Comprehensive input of this nature can be translated into the technological specifications required for equipment procurement, system design and management recommendations for operational procedures. The Administrative Office adopted this participatory approach as the foundation for building a judicial management information system in Illinois and the Judicial Management Information System Study followed the same format. In the course of the study, Arthur Young & Company interviewed 1,500 persons during visits to all of the twenty-one Judicial Circuits, the five Appellate Districts, the Supreme Court of Illinois and related state agencies. The product of this statewide collaboration and subsequent distillation of several alternative approaches was the Judicial Management Information System Plan.

The activities proposed in the Judicial Management Information System Plan were presented to the Supreme Court by the Administrative Director in the form of a fouryear planning and implementation schedule which included equipment procurement, software development, studies and staff expansion.

After Supreme Court approval of the proposed approach, Arthur Young & Company provided additional recommendations and submitted a final report in 1981. Arthur Young & Company also produced an Executive Summary for widespread distribution to parties who are interested in learning about the course upon which the Illinois court system has embarked without having to pore through the technical documentation produced by the study. Staff expansion, equipment procurement and the Appellate Information System Project were the first steps undertaken by the Administrative Office to implement the recommendations produced by the Judicial Management Information System Study.

The second project, a data administration study, represented an extension of the Judicial Management Information System Study. The development of a statewide judicial management information system with manual and automated components must be predicated upon a technical and organizational environment which ensures that data collected can be transformed into meaningful, accessible information. Under 'contract with the Administrative Office, Arthur Young & Company examined the need for data administration within the Illinois court system and defined the recommended duties, responsibilities and organizational placement of this projected staff function. The final report will describe suggested policies to be adopted and specific activities to be performed during 1982-83. The final report also will specify technical selection criteria for data dictionary and data base management software necessary for putting the Judicial Management Information System Plan into effect.

As the third project, the Circuit Court Coding Manual will provide codes, definitions and formats necessary to data administration.

Initially, the Supreme Court Committee used LEAA funds to contract with SEARCH Group, Inc. for the development of the Coding Manual. The criminal and quasi-criminal segment of the Coding Manual was completed in 1980, and the civil segment (excluding juvenile) was finished in 1981. To ensure that the Coding Manual will be comprehensive, realistic and valid, each item contained in it has been reviewed by a subcommittee of the Judicial Management Advisory Committee. Additional segments of the Coding Manual will be developed in 1982 and 1983.

Regularization of information gathering and dissemination procedures in the Circuit Courts, whether in manual or automated environments, is a necessary step toward the eventual goal of developing a comprehensive judicial management information system. The design and implementation of standard forms to be used in circuit clerk operations is an important component of this regularization. The investigation of criminal and quasicriminal case information requirements which culminated in development of the Circuit Court Coding Manual provided the information base to enable forms standardization work to be undertaken.

In the fourth project, the Administrative Office contracted with SEARCH Group, Inc. to develop twelve uniform forms which would support criminal and traffic case initiation, processing, disposition, notification and reporting activities in a manner consistent with the Circuit Court Coding Manual segments already completed. SEARCH Group, Inc. has designed thirteen forms, including a mittimus, an arrest warrant, a petition for hearing, and a petition for expungement.

Although standard codes and forms are critical for recordkeeping uniformity, the design of a statewide judicial management information system requires detailed documentation of each step taken to record and process all official court events. The fifth project will produce a procedures manual for circuit clerks. A procedures manual, written in detail, will provide data processing technicians with the information necessary to automate court applications while furnishing circuit clerks with a document useful in staff training or office operation.

The procedures manual is being developed by Administrative Office staff in cooperation with selected counties and circuits throughout the State of Illinois. Staff has begun visiting cooperating counties in order to learn about existing procedures and practices. The anticipated completion date for the draft criminal and quasi-criminal procedures manual is late 1982.

Judicial Management Advisory Committee

Established by the adoption of the Judicial Management Information System Standards, the Judicial Management Advisory Committee has been working since 1978 to assist the Administrative Office in the development of a realistic information management and automation approach.

Membership in the Judicial Management Advisory Committee is determined through appointments made by the Chief Judge of each Judicial Circuit. The Chief Judges, in making appointments, have been careful to insure that divergent views and different groups integral to the functioning of the court system are represented. As a consequence, committee membership includes judges, court administrators, circuit court clerks, administrative assistants, directors of court services, data processing managers and state's attorneys. The composition of the committee has helped foster communication, understanding and consensus on issues related to judicial management information systems.

The committee met in DuPage, Vermilion, Peoria, Cook (twice), Jackson, McLean, Lake and Sangamon Counties during the 1981 calendar year. At these meetings, the committee concentrated on a detailed review and supervision of the Circuit Court Coding Manual project, the Judicial Management Information System Study (including the production of the Executive Summary), the Forms Development project, the Procedures Manual project and the Data Administration Study. In addition, the committee began to explore some of the financial, educational, interface and auditing questions which will be involved in the development of a statewide judicial management information system. In this process, the Judicial Management Advisory Committee involved state agencies and local officials which use court information or support court operation.

Secretariat

The Administrative Office serves as secretary to the Judicial Conference and a host of committees and subcommittees. In addition to arranging meetings, recording minutes and keeping records, the office acts as a fact finding body, does research, conducts surveys and apprises judges of recent developments in procedural and substantive law. Some of the committees served by the Administrative Office, in a secretariat capacity, during 1981 included:

1. The Executive Committee of the Judicial Conference. Supreme Court Rule 41 designates the Administrative Office as secretary to the Conference. The office handles all details for the regular monthly meetings of the Executive Committee, including research, drafting of minutes, preparing agendas, arranging meetings and assisting the chairperson with his or her correspondence. The office implements plans for the annual Conference, the annual Associate Judge Seminar and the Regional Seminars. The office also acts as secretary to the study and seminar committees.

2. Conference of Chief Judges. Supreme Court Rule 42 designates the Administrative Office as Secretary. The office prepares agendas, arranges the monthly meetings, and maintains close liaison with the chairperson.

3. Courts Commission. The Director of the Administrative Office, pursuant to Rule 2 of Rules of Procedure of the Commission, is the secretary in all proceedings before the Commission. He performs the duties ordinarily performed by Circuit Court clerks, preserves the records, and prepares subpoenas returnable before the Commission.

4. Supreme Court Committee to Study the Rules of Judicial Conduct. The Supreme Court directed this committee to make recommendations for the modification of the rules governing judicial conduct, as may appear appropriate.

5. Sub-committee on Judicial Education. As a standing committee of the Judicial Conference, this committee is primarily responsible for planning regional seminar programs.

6. The Committee on Juvenile Problems. This is a standing committee of the Judicial Conference, responsible for studying problems relating to juvenile proceedings. This committee has developed forms for use in juvenile proceedings, conducted seminars, drafted Supreme Court rules and developed a benchbook for use in juvenile proceedings.

7. The Committee on Court Services. This is a standing committee of the Judicial Conference, established in 1975 to study, evaluate and make recommendations concerning court services such as probation, mental health, clerks, social and other ancillary court services.

8. Study Committee on High Volume Courts. This committee was appointed to study the problems of high volume courts and to recommend improved procedures.

9. Supreme Court Rules Committee. This committee originates and considers the proposals of others for the adoption or amendment of rules of the Supreme Court and reports its recommendations thereon to the Supreme Court.

10. Study Committee on Contempt. The Supreme Court directed this committee to study the law on contempt and determine whether it was advisable to codify Illinois contempt law and procedure, either by rule or statute, in the interest of uniformity.

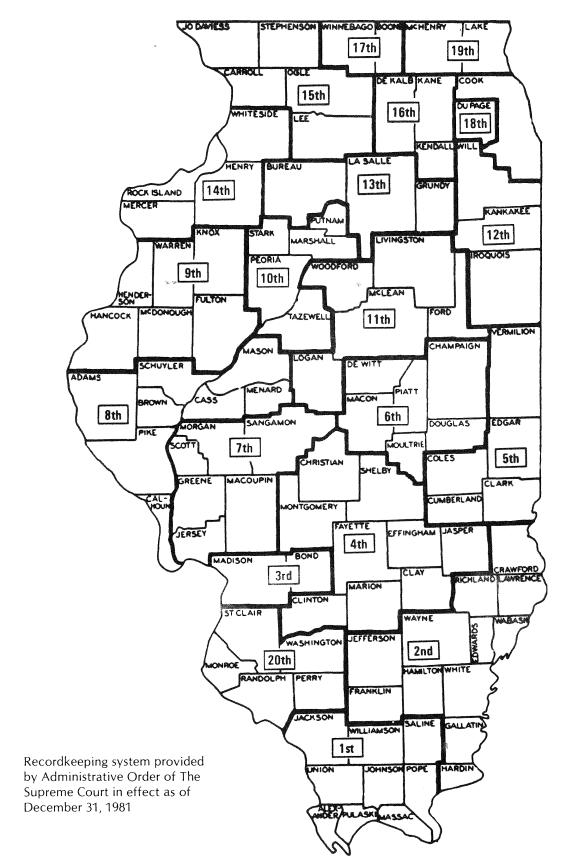

11. Judicial Management Information Systems Committee. This committee is charged with the responsibility of advising the Supreme Court as to the feasibility of applying computer technology to the court system, in the form of a coordinated systems network. The committee's work was completed during 1981 and, pursuant to Supreme Court order, was dissolved.

Development & Maintenance of Uniform Recordkeeping Procedures

Using standard forms and methods prescribed by the Director of the Administrative Office pursuant to the provisions of the Supreme Court's General Administrative Order on Recordkeeping in the Circuit Courts, the clerks of the trial courts in seventy-six counties have implemented the uniform procedures for maintaining, either manually or automated, the case files and records of their respective courts. The remaining 26 counties in the State fall into two categories: Several more populous counties which have not yet been ordered to implement the Recordkeeping Order have established in varied degrees some automated data processing incorporating therein some of the provisions, standards and procedures prescribed in the Supreme Court's Administrative Order on Recordkeeping. Those counties are: Champaign, Cook, DuPage, Kane, Lake, Madison, McHenry, Peoria, Rock Island, St. Clair, Sangamon, Vermilion, Whiteside, Will and Winnebago. The remaining 11 counties which have not yet been ordered to implement the Recordkeeping System are: DeWitt, Douglas, Henry, Iroquois, Kankakee, Marshall, Mercer, Moultrie, Piatt, Putnam and Tazewell. Some of these counties have already adopted certain of the procedures and forms prescribed by the Manual on Recordkeeping on their own initiative.

Administration of Supreme Court Rule 39 — Appointment of Associate Judges

Supreme Court Rule 39 provides that a vacancy in the office of Associate Judge shall be filled by an elective process among the Circuit Judges. In general, the number of Associate Judges each circuit may have is determined by population (one associate judge for every 35,000 inhabitants in the circuit or fraction thereof) and by need. In the latter instance, the Chief Judge files with the Director of the Administrative Office a statement supporting the circuit's need for an additional Associate Judge, and the Director then makes a recommendation to the Supreme Court which may allocate an additional Associate Judge to the circuit. The "permissive" Associate judgeships are in addition to those authorized under the population formula, and the Supreme Court can authorize new Associate judgeships in those circuits where litigation is particularly heavy.

Once a vacancy exists in the ranks of Associate Judge, whether by death, resignation or authorization of additional Associate Judges, the Chief Judge notifies the bar of the circuit that a vacancy exists and that it will be filled by the Circuit Judges. Any Illinois licensed attorney may apply for the position by completing an application and filing it with the Chief Judge and the Director. In circuits having a population of more than 500,000, a nominating committee selects, from the applicants, twice as many names of gualified candidates as there are vacancies to be filled. The names of the applicants are certified by the Director, who then places the names on a ballot which is mailed to the Circuit Judges. The director tabulates the ballots and certifies the results to the Chief Judge, maintaining the secrecy of the ballots. In circuits having a population of more than 500,000 the candidates receiving the most votes are declared to be appointed to fill the vacancies. In circuits of less than 500,000 population, candidates receiving a majority of the votes cast are declared to be appointed to fill the vacancies.

During 1981, the Director certified that the following attorneys were appointed as Associate Judges:

Administration of Supreme Court Rule 68 — Declarations of Economic Interest

Supreme Court Rule 68 provides that the Administrative Director shall be the custodian of certain statements of economic interest which must be filed annually by Illinois judges. The rule provides that judges must file annually with the Director: "(1) a sealed, verified, written statement of economic interests and relationships of himself and members of his immediate family and (2) an unsealed, verified, written list of the names of the corporations and other businesses in which he or members of his immediate family have a financial interest."

The sealed statements shall be opened only by the Supreme Court or by the Illinois Courts Commission when specifically authorized by the Supreme Court for use in proceedings of the Commission. As to the unsealed statements, within 30 days after an order has been entered in any case, any party may request information concerning whether the most recent unsealed list of the judge entering that order contains the name of any specific person, corporation or other business which is a party to the case or which has an interest in its outcome as described in Rule 66.

Administration of Supreme Court Rule 215(d) — Impartial Medical Expert

The Administrative Director is charged with the responsibility of administering Supreme Court Rule 215(d), which provides as follows:

"(d) Impartial Medical Experts.

(1) Examination Before Trial. At a reasonable time in advance of the trial, the court may on its own motion, or that of any party, order an impartial physical or mental examination of a party whose mental or physical condition is in issue, when in the court's discretion it appears that such an examination will materially aid in the just determination of the case. The examination shall be made by a member or members of a panel of physicians chosen for their special qualifications by the Illinois State Medical Society.

(2) Examination During Trial. Should the court at any time during the trial find that compelling considerations make it advisable to have an examination and report at that time, the court may in its discretion so order.

(3) Copies of Report. A copy of the report of examination shall be given to the court and to the attorneys for the parties. (4) Testimony of Examining Physician. Either party or the court may call the examining physician or physicians to testify. Any physician so called shall be subject to cross-examination.

(5) Costs and Compensation of Physician. The examination shall be made, and the physician or physicians, if called, shall testify without cost to the parties. The court shall determine the compensation of the physicians or physicians.

(6) Administration of Rule. The Administrative Director and the Deputy Administrative Director are charged with the administration of the rule."

The statistical summaries on the following pages provide a profile of the use of Rule 215(d) in the Circuit Courts, since its inception.

It should be explained again this year that the statistical breakdown is divided, necessarily, into the categories of "orders", "examinations" and "costs", which refer to those entered, performed or charged in the current year.

Administration of Supreme Court Rule 711 — Representation By Supervised Senior Law Students

During 1981, 477 temporary licenses were issued. Since the rule's inception in May, 1969, a total of 5,865 senior law students have participated in this legal internship program.

The comparative chart below indicates the use of Rule 711 in the last five years.

Illinois Supreme Court Rule 711 provides for the temporary licensing of law students who are certified by their dean as having received credit for work representing at least two thirds of the total hourly credits required for graduation from the law school. The student must be in good academic standing and be eligible under the school's criteria to undertake the activities authorized by the rule.

The services authorized by the rule may only be carried on in the course of the student's work with one or more of the following:

"(1) A legal aid bureau, legal assistance program, organization, or clinic chartered by the State of Illinois or approved by a law school located in Illinois;

(2) The office of the public defender;

(3) A law office of the State or any of its subdivisions."

Under the supervision of a member of the bar of this

State, and with the written consent of the person on whose behalf he is acting, an eligible law student may render the following services:

- "(1) He may counsel with clients, negotiate in the settlement of claims, and engage in the preparation and drafting of legal instruments.
- (2) He may appear in the trial courts and administrative tribunals of this State, subject to the following qualifications:
 - (i) Appearances, pleadings, motions, and other documents to be filed with the court may be prepared by the student and may be signed by him with the accompanying designation Senior Law Student but must also be signed by the supervising member of the bar.
 - (ii) In criminal cases, in which the penalty may be imprisonment, in proceedings challenging sentences of imprisonment, and in civil or criminal contempt proceedings, the student may participate in pretrial, trial, and posttrial proceedings as an assistant of the supervising member of the bar, who shall be present and responsible for the conduct of the proceedings.
 - (iii) In all other civil and criminal cases the student may conduct all pretrial, trial, and posttrial proceedings, and the supervising member of the bar need not be present.
- (3) He may prepare briefs, excerpts from record, abstracts, and other documents filed in courts of review of the State, which may set forth the name of the student with the accompanying designation Senior Law Student but must be filed in the name of the supervising member of the bar."

Administration of Official Court Reporters

As required by statute, the Administrative Office several times each year administers an Official Court Reporters Proficiency Examination to determine the qualifications of applicants for the position of official court reporter. To date, 1,418 persons have attempted to gualify for appointment as official court reporters or for advancement to a higher pay level within the official court reporter ranks. The Official Court Reporters Proficiency Examination has two parts, A and B. Part A requires the greater proficiency while Part B is less demanding. Each examination consists of two voice question and answer sections and a legal opinion section. Each test is dictated by professional, calibrated readers. Candidates who pass any part of the Proficiency Examination may, if a vacancy exists, be appointed to the post of official court reporter by any chief judge of any circuit court outside of Cook County. In order to be hired as an official court reporter in Cook County, a court reporter must have passed Part A of the Examination. By statute, the Supreme Court determines the number of official court reporters that each circuit may appoint. The Court may increase or decrease the number of court reporters in any circuit after considering various factors as provided for by statute (III. Rev. Stat., ch. 37, par. 653). As of December 31, 1981 there were 578 official court reporters in Illinois, 19 of which were part time. During 1981 seven official court reporter proficiency examinations were administered, three in Chicago and four in Normal. Of 294 applicants, 253 actually sat for the test, 41 failed to appear, 96 passed Part A and 29 passed Part B. One did not turn in any transcript after sitting for the test.

Each year the Administrative Office organizes and presents a Court Reporter Development Seminar to which all official court reporters are invited. The seminar is designed to provide educational experiences for the court reporters which are useful to them in the discharge of their official reporting responsibilities. The 1981 Court Reporter Development Seminar was held at the Hyatt Regency O'Hare Hotel on Friday and Saturday, June 12 and 13. The topics considered by the reporters were: Techniques used by the Bomb and Arson Investigation Unit of the Chicago Police Department (presented by Sgt. Earl Batch), Writing for Computers (presented by Mac-Cormac College of Chicago), Legal Terminology (presented by the Chicago College of Commerce), The Human Heart and Vascular System (presented by Triton Community College, River Grove) and a Gregg Workshop (presented for pen writers by Ms. Sally Cochran, a CSR, RPR and nationally reknown expert in the reporting field and a Gregg system expert).

There was an optional program for all participants during which expert professional dictators presented timed dictation at the speeds used on the Registered Professional Reporter and the Certificate of Merit tests by the National Shorthand Reporters Association.

Professor Gene A. Brodland of the Southern Illinois University Medical School Department of Psychiatry presented a program on Intrapsychic Stress and the causes and effects of stress in the working life of the professional reporter. Dr. Edward J. Pavlik, forensic orthodontist, presented a program on forensic orthodonture. The Chicago Police Department Canine Unit gave a demonstration of the training and use of dogs in police work in the Chicago area.

The court reporters heard presentations by Ms. Sally Cochran on professional ethics in the court reporting profession and by Richard E. Peppey, former president of the National Shorthand Reporters Association from Milwaukee, Wisconsin, on computer-aided transcription in the courtroom. Approximately 275 of the 597 reporters in the state of Illinois attended the Court Reporter Development Seminar.

The Administrative Office is continuing its efforts to upgrade and improve the reporting systems in the State, and to encourage reporters to use all modern technology available to improve both the quality of transcripts and the timeliness with which they are provided.

MAINTENANCE OF EAVESDROPPING REPORTS PURSUANT TO ILL. REV. STAT. ch. 38, § 108-A-1 ET SEQ.

With the passage of Illinois' eavesdropping statute (Ill. Rev. Stat., ch. 38, §108A-1 et seq.) an added responsibility was placed upon the Administrative Office. Within 30 days after the expiration of an order authorizing the use of an eavesdropping device, or within 30 days after the denial of an application, the issuing or denying judge must report certain information to the Administrative Office. Also, in January of each year, the State's Attorney of each county in which eavesdropping devices were used must report certain detailed information to the Administrative Office concerning the use of such eavesdropping devices. Thereafter, in April of each year, the Director of the Administrative Office must transmit to the General Assembly a report summarizing the information he has received on the use of eavesdropping devices during the preceding calendar year. The section of the statute creating these responsibilities is as follows:

"108A – 11. §108A-11. Reports Concerning Use of Eavesdropping Devices. (a) Within 30 days after the expiration of an order and each extension thereof authorizing the use of an eavesdropping device, or within 30 days after the denial of an application or disapproval of an application subsequent to any alleged emergency situation, the issuing or denying judge shall report to the Administrative Office of the Illinois Courts the following:

(1) the fact that such an order, extension, or subsequent approval of an emergency was applied for;

(2) the kind of order or extension applied for;

(3) a statement as to whether the order or extension was granted as applied for was modified, or was denied;

(4) the period authorized by the order or extensions in which an eavesdropping device could be used;

(5) the felony specified in the order, extension or denied application;

(6) the identity of the applying investigative or law enforcement officer and agency making the application and the State's Attorney authorizing the application; and

(7) the nature of the facilities from which or the place where the eavesdropping device was to be used.

(b) In January of each year the State's Attorney of each county in which eavesdropping devices were used pursuant to the provisions of this Article shall report to the Administrative Office of the Illinois Courts the following:

(1) the information required by subsections (a) (1) through (a)(7) of this Section with respect to each application for an order or extension made during the preceding calendar year;

(2) a general description of the uses of eavesdropping devices actually made under such order to overhear or record conversations, including: (a) the approximate nature and frequency of incriminating conversations overheard, (b) the approximate nature and frequency of other conversations overheard, (c) the approximate number of persons whose conversations were overheard, and (d) the approximate nature, amount, and cost of the manpower and other resources used pursuant to the authorization to use an eavesdropping device;

(3) the number of arrests resulting from authorized uses of eavesdropping devices and the offenses for which arrests were made;

(4) the number of trials resulting from such uses of eavesdropping devices;

(5) the number of motions to suppress made with respect to such uses, and the number granted or denied; and

(6) the number of convictions resulting from such uses and the offenses for which the convictions were obtained and a general assessment of the importance of the convictions.

(c) In April of each year, the Director of the Administrative Office of Illinois Courts shall transmit to the General Assembly a report including information on the number of applications for orders authorizing the use of eavesdropping devices, the number of orders and extensions granted or denied during the preceding calendar year, the convictions arising out of such uses, and a summary of the information required by subsections (a) and (b) of this Section. Added by P.A. 79–1159§2, eff. July 1, 1976."

During 1981, notices of 185 orders authorizing eavesdropping were filed with the Administrative Office by State's Attorneys and judges. Of the 185 orders, 160 were original and 25 were extensions or modifications.

In the 185 cases in which eavesdropping was ordered, 110 persons were arrested, of which number 41 were convicted of an offense in 1981.

Some examples of the most common types of offenses, for which authorized eavesdropping was used in 1981, are: murder, arson, bribery, unlawful delivery of a controlled substance, official misconduct, felony theft, and armed robbery. Private homes and various business premises were the most common places where authorized eavesdropping was used, in addition to agents carrying eavesdropping devices on their persons.

DISTRIBUTION OF ILLINOIS SUPREME COURT OPINION SUMMARIES

Since April of 1975, the Administrative Office has regularly prepared and distributed synopses of select opinions filed by the Illinois Supreme Court. Each opinion is carefully studied, and those having "impact" characteristics are summarized and distributed to each of the State's 720 judicial officers. From the date of each filing of opinions during 1981, this process took an average of about 8 days. Thus, judges received the summarized opinions many weeks prior to publication of the opinions in the advance sheets.

DISTRIBUTION OF LEGISLATIVE SUMMARIES

The Administrative Office has developed a sound working relationship with the General Assembly and the Governor's Office. In addition to appearing before the appropriation committees of the legislature to testify concerning the State judicial budget, the Director is frequently called upon to appear before the judiciary committees to advise on proposed legislation affecting the courts.

During 1981, numerous bills affecting civil and criminal law and procedure, domestic relations, probate practice, juvenile justice, the operation of the court system and court personnel were passed by the General Assembly.

A synopsis of selected bills affecting the courts is prepared by the Administrative Office each year. The progress of the bills is carefully followed and the synopsis is continuously updated. At the end of the legislative session the Governor's action on each bill is also noted, and the synopsis is mailed to all Illinois judges.

ORGANIZATION OF JUDICIAL VISITATIONS TO PENAL INSTITUTIONS

Frequent turmoil in some penal institutions has placed the condition of the national and state prisons in the forefront of public concern. Indeed, probing questions have been raised by the general public and governmental officials as to the objectives and purposes of incarceration. Too, the wave of serious "street crime" has been portrayed by the news media, penologists, prosecutors and police agencies as a national nightmare. The result has been billions of dollars poured into "people programs" and hardware to combat crime. Predictably, penologists and other "experts" on crime and the criminal justice process have proposed a variety of plans, invariably known as "criminal justice" or "correctional models," which suggest that "flat sentencing" or "decriminalizing" victimless offenses is the answer to reducing criminal activity. Today, the emphasis clearly is on protecting society by incarcerating convicted defendants rather than on rehabilitation.

Illinois' answer to the apparent dissatisfaction with indeterminate sentencing and the parole system was a sweeping revision of the Unified Code of Corrections. In late December of 1977, the governor signed into law P.A. 80-1099, effective February 1, 1978. See, generally, Ill. Rev. Stat., ch. 38, par. 1003-1-2 et seq. In substance, the Act provides for determinate sentences of incarceration, to be reduced by one day for each day of good conduct credit; provides for mandatory life sentences in certain instances; provides for enhanced sentences of imprisonment upon conviction of certain offenses; and abolishes the Parole and Pardon Board. In addition, laws, amending the Unified Code of Corrections and other penal statutes, have been enacted since 1978 which increase the severity of sentences. See, generally, III. Rev. Stat., ch. 38, par. 1005-5-1 et seq. To accommodate the increase in prison population, the legislature appropriated funds to construct two major penitentiaries, to convert other State institutions (e.g., under-utilized mental health facilities) into prisons, and to expand existing penal facilities.

These developments suggest a shift in the public policy regarding the treatment of convicted defendants; yet, it is still true that no person has a greater responsibility and burden of determining whether a convicted defendant will lose his freedom by imprisonment than the sentencing judge. In making that decision the judge considers many factors including the feasibility of rehabilitation, reintegration of the defendant into society; protection of the public and the best forum to accomplish these objectives.

Recognizing that judges must be familiar with the State's penal system and programs, the Director of the Administrative Office and the Director of the Illinois Department of Corrections forumlated plans for organized visits by judges to the various correctional facilities. During the period 1971-1978, thirteen programs were held and in 1981 one additional program was conducted. (During 1979 and 1980, no formal organized programs were sponsored by the Administrative Office.)

On June 26, 1981 judges visited the Stateville Correctional Center near Joliet. Including the 43 judges who attended the 1981 program, a total of 488 Illinois judges has participated in the organized tours. The program ran for a full day, and the judges had limited access to institutional buildings, including the hospital, death row, cellhouses, library and gym. The visit concluded with a question and answer period in which institutional administrators participated.

Stateville is a maximum security facility located about 40 miles southwest of Chicago. It is over 50 years old and houses adult male defendants convicted of serious offenses. The judges were told that 2,200 inmates are incarcerated there; that 27% of the inmates have been convicted of murder; that 90% of the inmates are from minority groups; that the institution has 950 employees; that two inmates are housed in each cell; and that correctional officers assigned to the guard towers are now armed with loaded shot-guns and pistols. The Director of the Department of Corrections stated that there are 12,000 persons incarcerated in the State correctional system, but by 1984 that number is expected to reach 16,800; it is anticipated that it will be impossible to accommodate the number of inmates expected to be committed in future years. The Director also discussed the Department's "early release program" for inmates granted "discretionary merit time" as a safety valve to reduce overcrowding.

The judges also participated in a panel discussion after the visit with inmates and prison administrators in which there were lively and candid exchanges of opinions regarding the philosophy and practices of the criminal justice system in Illinois.

ORGANIZATION OF TRIAL COURT ADMINISTRATION CONFERENCE

Ill. Rev. Stat., ch. 37, § 72.4-1 provides that the Chief Judge of each circuit may appoint an Administrative Secretary to assist him in carrying out his administrative duties in the circuit. Each circuit in the State, except Cook County, has filled this position. In 1973 the Administrative Office sponsored and conducted an Administrative Secretaries Conference for the purpose of assisting the Administrative Secretaries to develop a more thorough understanding of the judicial system and to provide them with the opportunity to discuss mutual problems. The value of this program was apparent and, consequently, the conference has been conducted on an annual basis.

In the past several years, a number of Illinois judicial circuits have employed trial court administrators, and it became necessary to include them in the annual program. As a result, the emphasis on trial court administration in the annual program was expanded.

The 1981 conference was attended by 17 Administrative Secretaries and 25 other trial court administrative personnel.

PUBLIC INFORMATION AND PUBLICATIONS OF THE ADMINISTRATIVE OFFICE

The Director and staff are frequently asked to address civic groups, Bar Associations, legislative commissions and court reform groups concerning court administration and the structure and operation of Illinois' unified court system.

Citizens, judges, lawyers, court administrators from other states, and persons from foreign nations visit the Administrative Office and the Illinois courts. An important function of the Administrative Office is to explain the Illinois court system to the visitors and arrange visits to courthouses and with judges.

The Administrative Office also publishes and/or distributes several books or pamphlets which are available to the public. These publications can be obtained by contacting the Springfield or Chicago office.

LEGISLATION AFFECTING THE COURTS 1981

During 1981, numerous bills affecting civil and criminal law and procedure, domestic relations, probate practice, juvenile justice, the operation of the court system and court personnel were passed by the General Assembly. Summaries of the more significant bills enacted into law are set forth below. References are to Ill. Rev. Stat., ch. ____, par. ____.

ADMINISTRATIVE REVIEW

P.A. 82-162 amends ch. 56¹/₂, par. 1507 and other statutes relating to prescription and dispensation of drugs. This amendment provides that the court may stay interim rulings, orders, etc., of the Dept. of Registration and Education regarding registration of an aggrieved party who seeks review under the Administrative Review Act of certain agencies' decisions under "Controlled Substances Act. For a stay to issue, the aggrieved party must establish by a preponderance of the evidence good cause as defined by the statute. (Effective January 1, 1982).

ADOPTIONS

P.A. 82-224 amends ch. 40, pars. 1501 B,E. This amendment adds to the definition of related child and parent by providing that a parent who executes consent to or surrender for adoption of a child or whose parental rights are terminated by the court is not a parent of the child nor is the child a "related child" to that person. (Effective January 1, 1982).

P.A. 82-437 amends ch. 37, pars. 705-9, 705-9.4; ch. 40, pars. 1501, 1510, 1515, 1517, and adds new par. 1519.1. This amendment establishes that preponderance of the evidence is the standard in determining a nonconsenting parent's fitness in considering a petition to appoint a guardian with the power to consent to the adoption of a child; where the child's parents are minors or mentally ill, the standard is clear and convincing evidence; sets out form of denial of paternity and consent to adoption; adds to the definition of unfit person that court finds person unfit to have a child "without regard to the likelihood that the child will be placed for adoption" (par. 1501 D), and redefines unfit parent as one who fails to visit and communicate with the child (par. 1501 D(n)), or provide proper food and shelter to the child (par. 1501 D(o)); where costs, expenses, etc. in connection with the adoption are less than $3,500, an affidavit to that effect is sufficient; a person operating a licensed foster home may under certain circumstances apply to the child's guardian with the power to consent to adoption, for such guardian's consent and person's application shall be given first preference and consideration by guardian. (Effective January 1, 1982).

CLERKS OF COURT

P.A. 82-397 amends ch. 25, par. 27.2. This amendment generally increases the fees and costs of the Clerk of the Circuit Court of Cook County. (Effective September 4, 1981).

COURT REPORTERS

P.A. 82-247 amends ch. 37, par. 658. This amendment increases the maximum salaries of full-time court reporters to $24,000 for 1981, $26,500 for 1982, and $29,500 thereafter. (Effective January 1, 1982).

CRIMINAL LAW AND PROCEDURE

P.A. 82-238 amends ch. 38, pars. 19-1, 19-3, 1005-5-3. This amendment defines the new offense of residential burglary and makes it a Class I felony and non-probational. (Effective January 1, 1982).

P.A. 82-281 amends ch. 38, par. 32-10. This amendment provides that a person charged with a felony who jumps bail commits a felony of the next lower Class or a Class A misdeameanor if the underlying offense is a Class 4 felony; if the person was charged with a misdemeanor, he commits a misdemeanor of the next lower class but not less than a Class C misdemeanor. (Effective January 1, 1982).

P.A. 82-288 amends ch. 38, par. 16-3(b). This amendment provides that a person who, without good cause after notice, willfully fails to return, pursuant to a rental/lease agreement, a motor vehicle, or "any other personal property exceeding $500 in value" commits felony theft. (Effective August 19, 1981).

P.A. 82-303 amends ch. 38 by adding new par. 9-1.1. This addition creates and defines the offense of feticide (death of fetus), punishable the same as murder, except that the death penalty is inapplicable. (Effective August 21, 1981).

P.A. 82-318 amends ch. 38, par. 16-1(e). This amendment raises the value of property under the theft statute to 300 (was 150) in pars. 16-1(e)(1), 16-1(e)(3). (Effective January 1, 1982).

P.A. 82-341 amends ch. 38, pars. 11-15.1, 11-19.1 and adds new par. 11-19.2. This amendment raises the offenses of soliciting for juvenile prostitution and of juvenile pimping to Class I felonies. The addition creates and defines the new offense of exploitation of a child and makes it a Class X felony. (Effective August 26, 1981).

P.A. 82-353 amends ch. 38, par. 110-10. The additional section sets forth the conditions of release on own recognizance if the court finds upon proof presented that conditions are necessary to assure defendant's appearance, to protect the public or to prevent defendant's interference with the orderly administration of justice; provides that the conditions in par. 110-10(a) are also applicable to a defendant admitted to bail after conviction. (Effective September 2, 1981).

P.A. 82-449 amends ch. 38, 110-5 and adds pars. 1005-9-1.1, 1005-9-1.2. This amendment provides in setting bail that the court consider "street value" of drugs where the accused is charged with a drug related offense involving possession or delivery of cannabis or controlled substance (determination of "street value" set forth); requires the court to levy the fine in the amount of the "street value" of drugs seized where the defendant is convicted; requires the proceeds of fines to be deposited in special funds or to be used for the enforcement of drug laws and in some instances the court is to determine the allocation of fines among agencies. (Effective January 1, 1982).

P.A. 82-470 amends ch. 38, par. 110-6. This amendment allows the court on its own motion to increase, reduce, revoke, or alter the conditions of bail. (Effective January 1, 1982).

P.A. 82-495 amends ch. 38, par. 21-1. This amendment raises felonious damage to property statute from $150 to $300. (Effective January 1, 1982).

P.A. 82-517 amends ch. 38, pars. 9-2(c), 32-4a. This amendment raises voluntary manslaughter to a Class I felony; raises in par. 32-4a the penalty for harassment of a juror or witness to Class 4 felony; and adds conveyance of threat of injury or damage to property or person of said parties or to their relatives as part of the harassment of-fense. (Effective January 1, 1982).

P.A. 82-538 amends ch. 38, pars. 1-6(c), 24-1 et seq. This amendment provides in par. 1-6(c) that if not known in which county victim's death or cause thereof occurred, the accused may be tried in the county where the body is found. Various amendments to unlawful use of weapons and possession of firearms statutes making it unlawful to manufacture, sell, possess, etc. explosive bullets. (Effective January 1, 1982).

P.A. 82-553 amends ch. 38, pars. 6-2, 6-4. 113-4, 113-5, 115-1 thru 115-4, 115-6, 1005-2-5, and adds par. 1005-2-6. This amendment creates a new plea, finding and verdict of "guilty but mentally ill;" defines mentally ill ("substantial disorder" but less than insanity) and excepts it from affirmative defense category, but provides that it is "an alternative plea or finding" when "affirmative defense of insanity is raised" or plea of "guilty but mentally ill" is made; provides that a person found "guilty but mentally ill" is to be treated whether sentenced to imprisonment, probation, periodic imprisonment or conditional discharge. (Effective September 17, 1981).

P.A. 82-564 amends ch. 38 by adding new par. 104-30, pars. 1003-3-13, 1003-14-1, 1005-2-4. These amendments require that the court clerk or code department notify the sheriff, and other authorities if requested, of release of certain defendants. Par. 1005-5-3.2(b) is amended by adding a new class of convicted defendants eligible for an extended term — victim of felony is under 12 years of age, 60 or more years of age or physically handicapped. (Effective September 17, 1981).

P.A. 82-577 amends ch. 38, pars. 104-23, 104-25, 104-28, 1005-2-4. This amendment generally provides for the reinstatement of charges, the running of the speedy trial statute and the time period for a discharge hearing where an unfit defendant is involved, and for notice to and approval by the court of the release or discharge of the unfit defendant civilly committed. It also makes some revisions concerning the committment of a person found not guilty by reason of insanity. (Effective September 24, 1981).

P.A. 82-677 amends ch. 38, par. 9-1(b) by adding a new paragraph. An addition is made which creates as a new aggravating factor to qualify for the death penalty for murder that the murdered person was under 16 years of age and that death resulted from exceptionally brutal or heinous behavior indicative of wanton cruelty. (Effective July 1, 1982).

P.A. 82-680 amends ch. 38, par. 110-7(a). This amendment provides that a person out on bail who is charged with a forcible felony and is the subject of a preliminary examination may also be subject to a hearing by the judge conducting the preliminary examination to increase or revoke bail, upon state's application, as provided in ch. 38, par. 110-6, for a prior offense. (Effective July 1, 1982).

P.A. 82-694 adds new par. 11-4.1 to ch. 38. This addition creates the new crime of aggravated indecent liberties with a child; defines crime and affirmative defenses; makes the offense a Class X felony and provides that it shall be considered under ch. 38, par. 9-1(b)(c) as one of the felonies to be considered in determining whether the death penalty should be imposed. (Effective July 1, 1982).

P.A. 82-708 adds new par. 113-3.1 to ch. 38. This addition provides that the court, after a hearing regarding the defendant's financial circumstances, may order that defendant, who was represented by counsel appointed under ch. 38, par. 113-3 or Supreme Court Rule 607, pay a reasonable sum to the county or state for appointed counsel's services but not to exceed $500 (misdemeanor), $5,000 (felony), or $2,500 (appeal); cash bail deposit may be ordered to be applied toward payment order but where a relative or other third party posted bail on defendant's behalf the court may give "special consideration" to their interests; requires the court clerk to keep a record of payments. (Effective July 1, 1982).

P.A. 82-717 amends several[®] acts relating to convicted defendants. This amendment adds to ch. 24, pars. 11-3-1, 11-4-13; to ch. 38, par. 1003-7-6; to ch. 75, pars. 24, 25; and to ch. 125, new par. 216 that governing body may require convicted persons committed to its penal institution to reimburse the governmental entity for the expenses incurred by their confinement to the extent of a person's ability to pay and that civil actions may be instituted to recover said expenses; amends ch. 38 as follows: in par. 1005-7-1 by providing that felon, other than murderer or Class X or Class I felon, may be sentenced to periodic imprisonment and committed to any "county, municipal, or regional correctional or detention institution in this State for such periods of time as the court may direct," and by providing that a sentence of periodic imprisonment may be imposed to permit defendant to perform work duties at said institution; in par. 1005-7-6 raises the cost of board of employed defendant committed to an institution on periodic imprisonment sentence from $5 to $12; in pars. 1005-8-1(e), new (f) and 1005-8-4(a) running of sentences of imprisonment imposed by U.S. Court, Illinois Court and/or other state court is clarified, and provides for defendant's application to Illinois Court in such situation to have Illinois sentence reduced or made concurrent. (Effective July 1, 1982).

DOMESTIC RELATIONS

P.A. 82-190 amends ch. 40, par. 2104. The Uniform Child Custody Jurisdiction Act is amended by adding a new section to par. 2104 specifying that the court having obtained jurisdiction over a child retains such jurisdiction unless it concedes jurisdiction to another state or none of the parties remains in Illinois. (Effective August 14, 1981).

P.A. 81-197 amends ch. 40, par. 401(3). This amendment gives the court the discretion to enter a dissolution judgment where child custody and support, maintenance and property disposition issues not considered; allows the court to bifurcate dissolution judgment and reserve the above issues. (Effective August 14, 1981).

P.A. 82-344 amends ch. 40, par. 607. This amendment allows the court to grant visitation privileges to the minor's grandparent or great-grandparent. (Effective January 1, 1982).

P.A. 82-447 amends ch. 40, pars. 709-712. This amendment substantially amends the program of mandatory child support through the court clerk's office, particularly in transferring statutory duties from the Administrative Office of the Illinois Courts to Department of Public Aid. (Effective January 1, 1982).

P.A. 82-555 amends inter alia ch. 23, new par. 10-16.1, ch. 40, par. 1226, new par. 1361A. This amendment permits the court under the Public Act Code, Uniform Reciprocal Enforcement of Support Act and Paternity Act to compel a party to execute a wage assignment to secure payment of child or spouse support; assignment to be filed with the court clerk; sets the procedure for service of assignment on employer; such assignment has priority over other assignments or garnishment demands; prohibits discharge or discipline of employee where wages assigned as provided in this Act. (Effective July 1, 1982).

P.A. 82-621 adds to ch. 40, new pars. 2301-1 thru 2303-5, amends par. 1001, and amends provisions in ch. 38. This amendment creates the Domestic Violence Act; provides for procedures for "order of protection and remedies therein; states procedures for enforcement and responsibilities of law enforcement officials. Amends ch. 38, par. 109-1, new par. 111-8. pars. 1005-6-3, 1005-6-3.1 by providing that the court may issue an order of protection to a victim in accordance with par. 111-8 which provides that said order may be issued when certain named offenses are alleged in charging instrument or other circumstances are present, and by providing that a condition of probation, conditional discharge and supervision may be in compliance with an order of protection. Repeals par. 25 of ch. 69 — injunctive relief in domestic violence cases. (Effective March 1, 1982).

JUDGES

P.A. 82-504 amends ch. 37, pars. 23.71, 23.72. This amendment raises judges' retirement age from 70 to 75 years in par. 23.71 and repeals par. 23.72, "grandfather" provision. (Effective September 16, 1981).

P.A. 82-662 amends inter alia ch. 37, par. 160.2. This amendment increased the number of "population formula" associate judges by providing that the number of associate judges in circuits of less than 200,000 population (was 500,000) to be reduced by the number of resident circuit judges in excess of one per county; by deleting the provision that in circuits having 500,000 or more population, the number of associate judges is reduced by the number of resident circuit judges in excess of 31; and also by expressly adding 6 more associate judgeships in Cook County. (Effective September 26, 1981).

JUVENILE COURT ACT

P.A. 82-223 amends Sections of Juvenile Court Act (ch. 37, pars. 702-4, 704-6). This amendment expands the negelected minor category to include abused minor in par. 702-4; defines in par. 704-6 admissible evidence of neglect or abuse; adds new par. 704-6a providing for medical examination of minors and photographing areas of trauma. (Effective January 1, 1982).

P.A. 82-516 amends ch. 37, pars. 701-14, 704-3(1), 705-2(1)(a)(6). This amendment re-defines "parent" in par. 701-14 to include the mother of an illegitimate child and the father of an illegitimate child whose paternity has been established by court or who has been acknowledged by the mother and the community as the father; deletes in par 704-3(1) "All to whom it may Concern" summons where the respondent is unknown; par. 705-2(1)(a)(6) makes clear that the delinquent may be placed in detention for up to 30 days either as sole disposition or in conjunction with other dispositions. (Effective January 1, 1982).

LIMITATIONS PERIOD

P.A. 82-196 amends the Limitations Act (ch. 83, par. 22.1). This amendment extends the time for filing a damage action against a physician or hospital where the cause of action is fraudulently concealed as provided for in par. 23. (Effective January 1, 1982).

P.A. 82-416 amends the Limitations Act (ch. 83, par. 22.1). This amendment brings a cause of action against dentists under the same limitation periods as provided for in causes of action against physicians and hospitals. (Effective January 1, 1982).

MOTOR VEHICLES

P.A. 82-311 amends ch. 95¹/₂, pars. 6-117, 6-204 thru 6-206, 11-501, 11-501.1 and adds par. 11-501.2. These amendments and additions require the court clerk to forward to the Secretary of State a report of a driver's participation in court ordered remedial or rehabilitative program where driver is arrested for driving under the influence of alcohol or drugs (ch. 95¹/₂, par. 11-501); pars. 11-501 (DWI) and 11-501.1 (implied consent) rewritten in toto; new par. 11-501.2 deals with chemical and other tests where driver arrested for DWI. (Effective January 1, 1982).

P.A. 82-695 amends Vehicle Code. In relevant part, ch. 95½, par. 4-108 (effective January 1, 1982) is amended to provide that a person convicted of any offense under Article 4 (par. 4-100 et seq.) of ch. 95½ (anti-theft laws, etc.) may be required to compensate victim (owner or other legally entitled person) "involved in the related offense, for any loss that the victim sustains to his person or property." Also amends ch. 95½ in part by adding new par.

16-104a, (effective July 1, 1982), to provide an additional penalty of \$5 for each fine of \$40 or fraction thereof be added to every fine imposed for conviction of offense reportable to Secretary of State under ch. $95\frac{1}{2}$, par. 6-204(a)(2); 4/5 of additional penalty to be remitted to the State Treasurer, and 1/5 to be retained by entity authorized by law to receive fine imposed; where bail forfeited for nonappearance in connection with reportable par. 6-204(a)(2) offense, and no fine imposed ex parte, 1/8 of forfeited bail to be remitted to State Treasurer.

PROBATE ACT

P.A. 82-285 repeals Article XVII of Probate Act (ch. $110\frac{1}{2}$, pars. 17-1 to 17-4). These repealed statutes dealt with partnership estates. (Effective August 19, 1981).

MISCELLANY

P.A. 82-280 creates Code of Civil Procedure (ch. 110, par. 1-101 et seq.) and amends inter alia ch. 38, par. 114-6 and adds par. 115-5.1. This 358 page Public Act basically transfers 62 separate procedural acts and recodifies them in a single code of civil practice, consisting of 19 articles arranged alphabetically to encompass topics ranging from the present Administrative Review Act to replevin. In reference to ch. 38, pars. 114-6 and 115-5.1 supra, sections relating to change of venue in criminal cases and admissibility of coroner's records presently appearing elsewhere have been transferred to ch. 38 and amended; par. 114-6 also amended by deleting "venue" and substituting "place of trial" therefore. (Effective July 1, 1982).

FISCAL YEAR 1981* TOTAL FINANCIAL ACTIVITY AS REPORTED BY THE CLERKS OF THE CIRCUIT COURTS

NOTE: It is not possible to make valid comparisons between the operating budgets of various counties; some counties use the accounting system prescribed by its county boards, while many others have adopted all or part of the financial component of the recordkeeping system adopted by the Supreme Court. For example, circuit clerks in some counties enjoy the benefits of heat, light, air conditioning, telephone, office supplies and equipment, and janitorial services through central purchasing; in other counties, the clerk's budget is charged proportionately for every conceivable cost allocable to his or her operation.

FISCAL YEAR 1981* TOTAL FINANCIAL ACTIVITY AS REPORTED BY THE CLERKS OF THE CIRCUIT COURTS

NOTE: It is not possible to make valid comparisons between the operating budgets of various counties; some counties use the accounting system prescribed by its county boards, while many others have adopted all or part of the financial component of the recordkeeping system adopted by the Supreme Court. For example, circuit clerks in some counties enjoy the benefits of heat, light, air conditioning, telephone, office supplies and equipment, and janitorial services through central purchasing; in other counties, the clerk's budget is charged proportionately for every conceivable cost allocable to his or her operation.

APPENDIX A CONSTITUTION OF 1970 ARTICLE VI—THE JUDICIARY

Section 1. Courts

The judicial power is vested in a Supreme Court, an Appellate Court and Circuit Courts.

Section 2. Judicial Districts

The State is divided into five Judicial Districts for the selection of Supreme and Appellate Court Judges. The First Judicial District consists of Cook County. The remainder of the State shall be divided by law into four Judicial Districts of substantially equal population, each of which shall be compact and composed of contiguous counties.

Section 3. Supreme Court – Organization

The Supreme Court shall consist of seven judges. Three shall be selected from the First Judicial District and one from each of the other Judicial Districts. Four Judges constitute a quorum and the concurrence of four is necessary for a decision. Supreme Court Judges shall select a Chief Justice from their number to serve for a term of three years.

Section 4. Supreme Court— Jurisdiction

(a) The Supreme Court may exercise original jurisdiction in cases relating to revenue, mandamus, prohibition or habeas corpus and as may be necessary to the complete determination of any case on review.

(b) Appeals from judgments of Circuit Courts imposing a sentence of death shall be directly to the Supreme Court as a matter of right. The Supreme Court shall provide by rule for direct appeal in other cases.

(c) Appeals from the Appellate Court to the Supreme Court are a matter of right if a question under the Constitution of the United States or of this State arises for the first time in and as a result of the action of the Appellate Court, or if a division of the Appellate Court certifies that a case decided by it involves a question of such importance that the case should be decided by the Supreme Court. The Supreme Court may provide by rule for appeals from the Appellate Court in other cases.

Section 5. Appellate Court – Organization

The number of Appellate Judges to be selected from each Judicial District shall be provided by law. The Supreme Court shall prescribe by rule the number of Appellate divisions in each Judicial District. Each Appellate division shall have at least three judges. Assignments to divisions shall be made by the Supreme Court. A majority of a division constitutes a quorum and the concurrence of a majority of the division is necessary for a decision. There shall be at least one division in each Judicial District and each division shall sit at times and places prescribed by rules of the Supreme Court.

Section 6. Appellate Court – Jurisdiction

Appeals from final judgments of a Circuit Court are a matter of right to the Appellate Court in the Judicial District in which the Circuit Court is located except in cases appealable directly to the Supreme Court and except that after a trial on the merits in a criminal case, there shall be no appeal from a judgment of acquittal. The Supreme Court may provide by rule for appeals to the Appellate Court from other than final judgments of Circuit Courts. The Appellate Court may exercise original jurisdiction when necessary to the complete determination of any case on review. The Appellate Court shall have such powers of direct review of administrative action as provided by law.

Section 7. Judicial Circuits

(a) The State shall be divided into Judicial Circuits consisting of one or more counties. The First Judicial District shall constitute a Judicial Circuit. The Judicial Circuits within the other Judicial Districts shall be as provided by law. Circuits composed of more than one county shall be compact and of contiguous counties. The General Assembly by law may provide for the division of a circuit for the purpose of selection of Circuit Judges and for the selection of Circuit Judges from the circuit at large.

(b) Each Judicial Circuit shall have one Circuit Court with such number of Circuit Judges as provided by law. Unless otherwise provided by law, there shall be at least one Circuit Judge from each county. In the First Judicial District, unless otherwise provided by !aw, Cook County, Chicago, and the area outside of Chicago shall be separate units for the selection of Circuit Judges, with at least twelve chosen at large from the area outside Chicago and at least thirty-six chosen at large from Chicago.

(c) Circuit Judges in each circuit shall select by secret ballot a Chief Judge from their number to serve at their pleasure. Subject to the authority of the Supreme Court, the Chief Judge shall have general administrative authority over his court, including authority to provide for divisions, general or specialized, and for appropriate times and places of holding court.

Section 8. Associate Judges

Each Circuit Court shall have such number of Associate Judges as provided by law. Associate Judges shall be appointed by the Circuit Judges in each circuit as the Supreme Court shall provide by rule. In the First Judicial District, unless otherwise provided by law, at least one-fourth of the Associate Judges shall be appointed from, and reside, outside Chicago. The Supreme Court shall provide by rule for matters to be assigned to Associate Judges.

Section 9. Circuit Courts – Jurisdiction

Circuit Courts shall have original jurisdiction of all justiciable matters except when the Supreme Court has original and exclusive jurisdiction relating to redistricting of the General Assembly and to the ability of the Governor to serve or resume office. Circuit Courts shall have such power to review administrative action as provided by law.

Section 10. Terms Of Office

The terms of office of Supreme and Appellate Court Judges shall be ten years; of Circuit Judges, six years; and of Associate Judges, four years.

Section 11. Eligibility For Office

No person shall be eligible to be a Judge or Associate Judge unless he is a United States citizen, a licensed attorney-at-law of this State, and a resident of the unit which selects him. No change in the boundaries of a unit shall affect the tenure in office of a Judge or Associate Judge incumbent at the time of such change.

Section 12. Election And Retention

(a) Supreme, Appellate and Circuit Judges shall be nominated at primary elections or by petition. Judges shall be elected at general or judicial elections as the General Assembly shall provide by law. A person eligible for the office of Judge may cause his name to appear on the ballot as a candidate for Judge at the primary and at the general or judicial elections by submitting petitions. The General Assembly shall prescribe by law the requirements for petitions.

(b) The office of a Judge shall be vacant upon his death, resignation, retirement, removal, or upon the conclusion of his term without retention in office. Whenever an additional Appellate or Circuit Judge is authorized by law, the office shall be filled in the manner provided for filling a vacancy in that office.

(c) A vacancy occurring in the office of Supreme, Appellate or Circuit Judge shall be filled as the General Assembly may provide by law. In the absence of a law, vacancies may be filled by appointment by the Supreme Court. A person appointed to fill a vacancy 60 or more days prior to the next primary election to nominate Judges shall serve until the vacancy is filled for a term at the next general or judicial election. A person appointed to fill a vacancy less than 60 days prior to the next primary election to nominate Judges shall serve until the vacancy is filled at the second general or judicial election following such appointment.

(d) Not less than six months before the general election preceding the expiration of his term of office, a Supreme, Appellate or Circuit Judge who has been elected to that office may file in the office of the Secretary of State a declaration of candidacy to succeed himself. The Secretary of State, not less than 63 days before the election, shall certify the Judge's candidacy to the proper election officials. The names of Judges seeking retention shall be submitted to the electors, separately and without party designation, on the sole question whether each Judge shall be retained in office for another term. The retention elections shall be conducted at general elections in the appropriate Judicial District, for Supreme and Appellate Judges, and in the circuit for Circuit Judges. The affirmative vote of three-fifths of the electors voting on the question shall elect the Judge to the office for a term commencing on the first Monday in December following his election.

(e) A law reducing the number of Appellate or Circuit Judges shall be without prejudice to the right of the Judges affected to seek retention in office. A reduction shall become effective when a vacancy occurs in the affected unit.

Section 13. Prohibited Activities

(a) The Supreme Court shall adopt rules of conduct for Judges and Associate Judges.

(b) Judges and Associate Judges shall devote full time to judicial duties. They shall not practice law, hold a position of profit, hold office under the United States or this State or unit of local government or school district or in a political party. Service in the State militia or armed forces of the United States for periods of time permitted by rule of the Supreme Court shall not disqualify a person from serving as a Judge or Associate Judge.

Section 14. Judicial Salaries And Expenses – Fee Officers Eliminated

Judges shall receive salaries provided by law which shall not be diminished to take effect during their terms of office. All salaries and such expenses as may be provided by law shall be paid by the State, except that Appellate, Circuit and Associate Judges shall receive such additional compensation from counties within their district or circuit as may be provided by law. There shall be no fee officers in the judicial system.

Section 15. Retirement – Discipline

(a) The General Assembly may provide by law for the retirement of Judges and Associate Judges at a prescribed age. Any retired Judge or Associate Judge, with his consent, may be assigned by the Supreme Court to judicial service for which he shall receive the applicable compensation in lieu of retirement benefits. A retired Associate Judge may be assigned only as an Associate Judge.

(b) A Judicial Inquiry Board is created. The Supreme Court shall select two Circuit Judges as members and the Governor shall appoint four persons who are not lawyers and three lawyers as members of the Board. No more than two of the lawyers and two of the non-lawyers appointed by the Governor shall be members of the same political party. The terms of Board members shall be four years. A vacancy on the Board shall be filled for a full term in the manner the original appointment was made. No member may serve on the Board more than eight years.

(c) The Board shall be convened permanently, with authority to conduct investigations, receive or initiate complaints concerning a Judge or Associate Judge, and file complaints with the Courts Commission. The Board shall not file a complaint unless five members believe that a reasonable basis exists (1) to charge the Judge or Associate Judge with willful misconduct in office, persistent failure to perform his duties, or other conduct that is prejudicial to the administration of justice or that brings the judicial office into disrepute, or (2) to charge that the Judge or Associate Judge is physically or mentally unable to perform his duties. All proceedings of the Board shall be confidential except the filing of a complaint with the Courts Commission. The Board shall prosecute the complaint.

(d) The Board shall adopt rules governing its procedures. It shall have subpoena power and authority to appoint and direct its staff. Members of the Board who are not Judges shall receive per diem compensation and necessary expenses; members who are Judges shall receive necessary expenses only. The General Assembly by law shall appropriate funds for the operation of the Board.

(e) A Courts Commission is created consisting of one Supreme Court Judge selected by that Court, who shall be its chairman, two Appellate Court Judges selected by that Court, and two Circuit Judges selected by the Supreme Court. The Commission shall be convened permanently to hear complaints filed by the Judicial Inquiry Board. The Commission shall have authority after notice and public hearing (1) to remove from office, suspend without pay, censure or reprimand a Judge or Associate Judge for willful misconduct in office, persistent failure to perform his duties, or other conduct that is prejudicial to the administration of justice or that brings the judicial office into disrepute, or (2) to suspend, with or without pay, or retire a Judge or Associate Judge who is physically or mentally unable to perform his duties.

(f) The concurrence of three members of the Commission shall be necessary for a decision. The decision of the Commission shall be final.

(g) The Commission shall adopt rules governing its procedures and shall have power to issue subpoenas. The General Assembly shall provide by law for the expenses of the Commission.

Section 16. Administration

General administrative and supervisory authority over all courts is vested in the Supreme Court and shall be exercised by the Chief Justice in accordance with its rules. The Supreme Court shall appoint an administrative director and staff, who shall serve at its pleasure, to assist the Chief Justice in his duties. The Supreme Court may assign a Judge temporarily to any court and an Associate Judge to serve temporarily as an Associate Judge on any Circuit Court. The Supreme Court shall provide by rule for expeditious and inexpensive appeals.

Section 17. Judicial Conference

The Supreme Court shall provide by rule for an annual judicial conference to consider the work of the courts and to suggest improvements in the administration of justice and shall report thereon annually in writing to the General Assembly not later than January 31.

Section 18. Clerks Of Courts

(a) The Supreme Court and the Appellate Court Judges of each Judicial District, respectively, shall appoint a clerk and other non-judicial officers for their Court or District.

(b) The General Assembly shall provide by law for the election, or for the appointment by Circuit Judges, of clerks and other non-judicial officers of the Circuit Courts and for their terms of office and removal for cause.

(c) The salaries of clerks and other non-judicial officers shall be as provided by law.

Section 19. State's Attorneys-Selection, Salary

A State's Attorney shall be elected in each county in 1972 and every fourth year thereafter for a four year term. One State's Attorney may be elected to serve two or more counties if the governing boards of such counties so provide and a majority of the electors of each county voting on the issue approve. A person shall not be eligible for the office of State's Attorney unless he is a United States citizen and a licensed attorney-at-law of this State. His salary shall be provided by law.

APPENDIX B ADMINISTRATIVE OFFICE OF THE ILLINOIS COURTS

Historical Development

The predecessor of the present Administrative Office of the Illinois courts was a statutory creature into which the General Assembly breathed life in 1959. The entity was known as the Court Administrator's Office, and it so existed until 1964. The office in those past years was chiefly concerned with studying caseloads to determine the needs of particular courts for assistance and to provide a statistical background for further studies.

The 1964 Judicial Article directed that the "Supreme Court shall appoint an administrative director and staff, who shall serve at its pleasure, to assist the Chief Justice in his administative duties." That provision was retained, virtually intact, by Section 16, Article VI of the 1970 Constitution. Thus, the fledgling administrator's office of 1959 was continued and conferred with constitutional dignity in 1964 and 1970. Two Illinois constitutional commentors, Messrs. Braden and Cohn, in analyzing this section have stated that "only five (states) have a constitutional office similar to the administrative director provided by Illinois. . .", and the authors noted that the constitutional grant of administrative power to the Supreme Court as exercised by the Chief Justice through the Administrative Director is an excellent "mechanism for a coordinated and efficient administration of the judicial system." Braden and Cohn, The Illinois Constitution: An Annotated and Comparative Analysis, on page 335.

During the years that it has been in existence, the Administrative Office has matured from infancy to adulthood, and correspondingly it has taken on and has been assigned, by the Supreme Court, greater duties and responsibilities. The growth of the office has been carefully nurtured by a succession of highly qualified and distinguished lawyers: Henry P. Chandler, former administrator of the federal court system; Albert J. Harno, former dean of the University of Illinois College of Law; Hon. John C. Fitzgerald, a retired Circuit Judge and former dean of the School of Law of Loyola University, Chicago; John W. Freels, former general counsel of the Illinois Central Railroad. The present Director is Roy O. Gulley, former Chief Judge of the Second Judicial Circuit.

Today, the Administrative Office has more than 30 employees who serve the Supreme Court and supervise the activities of all the courts in the State and courtrelated personnel. In addition to the Director, the office employs six persons (four of whom are lawyers) on a managerial or supervisory level, with the balance of employees serving in various supporting capacities.
