The Thomas L. Kilbride Judicial Access to Justice Award will be given to a member of the judiciary who has made a significant or meaningful contribution to increasing access to the court system by improving the experience of litigants.

This award honors Justice Kilbride who was elected to the Illinois Supreme Court in 2000 and was elected Chief Justice by his colleagues in 2010. As Chief Justice, he spearheaded efforts to increase access to the court system for all court patrons. Under his leadership, in June of 2012 the Supreme Court established the Illinois Supreme Court Commission on Access to Justice. Justice Kilbride served as the Commission's liaison to the Supreme Court and was its leader in developing improvements, resources, and programs within the judicial system with the goal of fairness and equity.

Since its creation, the Commission has taken groundbreaking steps towards achieving equitable justice for all. Two important cornerstones of the Commission's work include initiatives on language access and the publication of plain language standardized forms. The Commission also drafted the Illinois Supreme Court Policy on Plain Language, the Illinois Supreme Court Policy on Assistance to Court Patrons, and the Illinois Supreme Court Policy on Remote Court Appearances in Civil Proceedings.

In furtherance of Justice Kilbride's goal, the Commission also created the Court Navigator Network, the first ever statewide network of court personnel dedicated to addressing issues affecting self-represented litigants. Under his tenure, the Commission launched other innovative programs including video remote interpreting, early resolution programs, online dispute resolution programs, and the state's first civil appellate help desk. With Justice Kilbride's assistance, the Commission held its first annual Law Student Leaders Access to Justice Summit – a day focused on educating future leaders about equalizing access to our judicial system in their respective career paths. The Commission has additionally lent its support to JusticeCorps, limited scope representation, and remote access endeavors.

None of these accomplishments would have been possible without Justice Kilbride's continued efforts, support, and dedication to the mission of access to justice. Justice Kilbride has undoubtedly paved the way for a more fair, just, and equitable Illinois court system.
